Big 3 End Talks; Tell World of Decisions Tomorrow

GERMANY'S FATE, POLISH BORDER BELIEVED FIXED

Allied Capitals Will Flash Findings at Same Time

BY WILLIAM FULTON
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

POTSDAM, Germany, Aug. 2 [Thursday]—The Big Three conference adjourned at 12:30 a. m. today [6:30 p. m. Wednesday, Chicago time], but the momentous agreements reached will not be announced until tomorrow. The bulletin will be flashed simultaneously from Washington, London, and Moscow.

The nature of the bulletin still is the darkest of secrets. The subjects treated were believed to include the fate of Germany, definition of the Polish boundaries, disposition of the Balkan satellites and of the wrecked Nazi war machine, and methods of setting up new governments for the peoples of Europe.

It is doubtful that Japan will be mentioned since the Russians, tho denouncing the treaty with Tokyo, are technically neutral until the pact expires next April. This does not preclude a Red drive in the far east at the most propitious moment. Precedent for getting the jump on the other fellow without a formal declaration of war, was set by the axis nations.

How Talks Ended

The conference ended formally when President Truman, acting as chairman as he has thruout the historic sessions, glanced around at his two other conferees, Generalissimo Stalin and Prime Minister Attlee, and asked whether there were any further items of business to transact. Receiving no answer, the President announced the meeting was concluded.

A round of congratulatory speeches and hand shaking followed. Then the various delegations filed out of separate doors from the big room at the Cecilianhof, the old palace of ex-Crown Prince Friedrich Wilhelm of Germany, where the deliberations took place.

Stalin Resplendent

Stalin was the most resplendent of the three, garbed in white tunic and blue trousers. The American President wore a light gray suit for the occasion while the British prime minister chose a dark, mixed suit.

Attlee thanked Stalin for the arrangements to protect the conference which was held in the sector of Berlin controled by the soviets. The prime minister also thanked President Truman for his work as chairman. Stalin, replying in a similar vein, added praise for the labors of the foreign secretaries as well as a mention of former Prime Minister Churchill and former Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, deposed in the English elections last week.

Truman also thanked the foreign secretaries.

KING WILL GREET TRUMAN ABOARD CRUISER TODAY

BY JAMES SLOAN
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

LONDON, Aug. 1—King George VI. left London by train tonight to meet President Truman tomorrow at the port of Plymouth, from which the Pilgrim Fathers sailed in 1620 to found a new world across the Atlantic.

Where Mr. Truman and king will meet

The king and the President will meet for the first time about noon on board the British cruiser Renown.

The day's simple ceremonies will begin when Mr. Truman lands at Cornish airdrome near Plymouth on a flight from Potsdam in the big C-54 which President Roosevelt used on his travels. On his arrival in England the President will be hurried by an American military convoy to the Millbay docks at Plymouth. En route he will get a quick glimpse of some of the worst damaged sections of badly blitzed Plymouth.

Lunch Aboard Warship

During the President's flight from Berlin, King George's train will be sidetracked in a quiet part of Devonshire until near the time for the meeting when it will be shunted into the port's bombed docks.

The king will go aboard the 32,000 ton Renown, and while the warship is lying at anchor Mr. Truman, accompanied by Secretary of State Byrnes and Adm. Leahy, chief of staff, will join him for lunch.

There was some question tonight whether Mr. Truman will board the Renown directly from Plymouth via his official launch or will first steam out to a rendezvous at sea aboard the American cruiser Augusta which brought him across the Atlantic last month and which already is in Plymouth harbor awaiting him.

The cruiser Philadelphia will accompany the Augusta.

King to Return Visit

After lunch Mr. Truman will proceed to the Augusta where he later will be visited by the king and his official party, which includes Ambassador Halifax, Alan Lascelles, his private secretary, and Capt. Harold Campbell, his naval aide.

Then the king will take leave of the President and will return to the Renown and thence go back to London by train. Queen Elizabeth will not accompany him.

Security precautions being taken to guard the rulers of America and England probably will hide them from most of the people of Plymouth.

Mr. Truman will be the second American President to visit Britain while in office. President Wilson stopped off here after the first world war.

Jet Airplane Goes 544 Mi. in 62 Minutes

New York, Aug. 1 [Special]—The world's fastest airplane, a jet propelled P-80 Shooting Star, today hurtled the 544 miles between Dayton, O., and New York in 62 minutes.

The trim, gray, streamlined fighter made its first public appearance here as a feature of air force day. Thousands of persons greeted the pilot, Col. William H. Councill, 33, veteran of Guadalcanal and other Pacific air actions, when he landed at New York airport at 1:06 p. m. [12:06 Chicago time].

Astonishing as was the performance, Col. Councill said no attempt was made to establish a record with the propelleriess plane on what was a "routine flight" for the air technical service command at Dayton. The army says the Shooting Star can go in excess of 550 miles an hour and Col. Councill acknowledged he has flown it at a greater speed than on today's flight.

Just "Cruising"

As matter of fact, the pilot said, he was "cruising" and could have landed sooner if weather conditions had been more favorable.

His elapsed time was computed from 11:35 a. m., when he left Wright field in Dayton, until he passed a point at New York airport at 12:37 p. m. However, an overcast sky caused him to fly over the airport here and out to sea about 50 miles. He landed at the airport 33 minutes after he had passed over it.

Col. Councill said he flew at 20,000 feet and saw nothing from the time he passed over Columbus, O., until he was out over the sea. The ceiling altitude of the plane, which has a pressurized cabin, is at least 45,000 feet.

"It's the finest plane I've ever flown", declared Col. Councill, an operational officer of the ATSC's flight test division, a 12 year army veteran who said he had flown every type of fighter plane the army has developed in recent years.

Handles Easily

"It handles easily. There's no vibration and no noise. You don't notice the acceleration. The pilot suffers far less fatigue than in the conventional type plane."

Neither smoke nor flame was visible at the exhaust of the craft. But heat waves, like those arising from a pavement on a hot day, could be seen.

COUNTY POLICE SEIZE GUZIK'S $50,000 SLOT MACHINES IN RAID

County highway police late yesterday seized $50,000 worth of slot machines and new parts in a raid on the Guzik syndicate's warehouse in The Brook, a former gambling casino in Waukegan rd., 1½ miles north of Glenview.

Chief John J. McGinnis and his deputies confiscated 195 machines, including 19 of the new cabinet type valued at $500 each, and 50 barrels and crates containing new parts awaiting assembly.

McGinnis said the machines belonged to Eddie Vogel, a survivor of the old Capone gang, who is reputed head of the Guzik syndicate's slot machine department. Trucks were used to transport the machines and parts to the Morton Grove county highway station.

Until October, 1943, when it was closed, The Brook was the swank Esquire club, which offered a variety of gambling games.

Lt. Arthur Jelnik of the Homewood county highway police last night seized slot machines in taverns at 147th st. and Cicero av. and 159th st. and Cicero av. Marion Realy and Peter Corsi were arrested. Both were released on bond for appearance in Homewood county highway police court Aug. 8.

Erring Wives of Veterans Facing Jail

Criminal prosecution of wives of soldiers and sailors whose husbands return home to find them living with other men was planned yesterday by State's Atty. Tuohy.

Seldom do the wronged husbands seek criminal action against their erring wives, the state's attorney said. Instead the infidelities are made the basis for divorce suits.

Beginning today, Tuohy announced, an assistant state's attorney will be assigned to canvass the divorce courts to obtain evidence for criminal prosecution against wives shown to be guilty of adultery. The men guilty of adultery with soldiers' wives and all others charged with the crime will also be prosecuted, he said.

The state's attorney said his decision was prompted by the marked increase of such charges brought by returning service men. His stand was lauded by Judge Joseph Sabath, a veteran in Superior court divorce litigation and by Judge Charles A. Williams, a comparative newcomer to the divorce bench.

Seen as Deterrent to Wives

"I think it is an excellent idea," Judge Sabath said, "altho it will prove difficult in many instances to prove the charges. I believe the knowledge that they may wind up in Criminal court facing fines and jail sentences should act as a deterrent to many wives who now flippantly assume that all they have to lose is their husbands."

Judge Williams assured Tuohy he will cooperate in every way. He will turn over to Tuohy's office all evidence in his court that will aid in the prosecutions, he said.

"I think the state's attorney is on the right track," Judge Williams said. "More power to him."

Penalties Graduate Upward

The adultery statute, Tuohy said, provides a $500 fine, a year in jail, or both, for the first offense. For the second, the maximum penalty is $1,000 fine and two years in jail, or both; for the third, $3,000 fine and three years in jail, or both.

Tuohy said the unfaithfulness of wives of returning veterans was brought forcibly to his attention Tuesday when three soldiers, back from overseas, filed divorce bills, charging adultery.

Flashing Neon Sign Welcomes Johnny Home

Mayor Speeds Site for New, Bigger Airport

Mayor Kelly declared yesterday that a new and larger airport is an imperative necessity to make Chicago a leader in world air transport. He disclosed that the city council at its meeting Aug. 21 will be asked to authorize and confirm a committee of city officials and civic, business, and aviation leaders to select the site of a new terminal.

The mayor's decision to seek speedy action was inspired by a recent inspection of the present airport, he said. The beehive activity, he confessed, astounded him. He saw planes of all sizes buzzing in from all directions and runways kept constantly busy.

"The present airport is inadequate," he said. "There is no way to enlarge it except at prohibitive cost. If Chicago is to be the center of world aviation, it will need at least one more major airport."

Driving Distance Factor

The mayor emphasized that the present field will not be abandoned. The new one, he said, should be located about the same driving distance—25 or 30 minutes—from the loop. Selection of its site, he indicated, probably will be influenced by super-highway plans of the Chicago Plan commission.

The new airport, the mayor said, should embrace at least 6,000 acres, an area of 9⅜ square miles. It should have runways 10,000 feet long, he said, and "plenty of them." The present airport has only nine runways. Altho the longest is 7,200 feet, obstructions at either end whittle its effective length to 6,500 feet.

Approximately 1,000 acres, the mayor said, should be devoted to facilities, such as hangars, terminal buildings, maintenance shops, and parking lots. The facilities probably will include retail shops, he said, adding that merchants have inquired about establishing branches at the present airport.

New York's Idlewild Cited

He pointed out that New York's new Idlewild airport, touted by Mayor La Guardia as the world's finest, contains only 4,750 acres, of which 550 acres are occupied by buildings. Thirty-six runways are planned for the New York port, he said.

Chicago has the money to get the proposed airport underway, Mayor Kelly said, from the 15 million dollar bond issue recently voted for airport purposes.

He said that he did not believe that any initial steps taken by the city toward establishment of a new airport would affect future applications for federal aid for airport construction.

Location of the new airport need not be within the city limits, he said, pointing out that a new state law authorizes municipal acquisition of property beyond corporate boundaries.

Douglas Site a Favorite

Within the last year engineers for several major air line companies have considered several locations for the establishment of a new airport. Among these sites is an area west of the Douglas Aircraft company plant near Park Ridge. An airport is being maintained there now by the Douglas company.

Two other sites that attracted the attention of the engineers are a filled in area of Lake Calumet and property in the Clearing district bounded by Cicero av., Central av., 75th st., and 95th st. The engineers decided industrial haze in the Calumet region might interfere with flying and that in the Clearing area condemnation costs and the legal aspects of relocating a railroad track were substantial barriers.

820 B-29S FIRE 4 CITIES, MINE WATERS OF JAPAN

CHARGES ARMY RETAINS TREBLE FORCE IT NEEDS

BY WILLIAM MOORE
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 1—Charging that the war department is keeping an army almost three times the size it needs, Sen. Johnson [D., Colo.] called upon congress today to stop the department's waste of men and money.

Sen. Johnson

In a senate speech today, Johnson branded the army's point system for releasing veterans "a mathematical monstrosity." Johnson said:

1. The army's failure to help solve the problem of returning men and women of the military forces to civilian life is "blind, stupid, and criminal."

No Justification for Size

2. The army cannot use more than three million men in the Japanese war next year and there is no justification for maintaining its eight million men in uniform.

3. Two million men classed as unfit for combat should have been discharged when Germany was defeated.

4. The army is forcing steel mills to close by drafting miners it does not need, and it should long ago have stopped drafting essential workers.

"Stupid and Criminal"

5. The army has three times as many generals and other high officers as it needs, but the nation cannot afford a giant army merely to avoid "busting" generals to majors and captains.

Johnson, a leading member of the senate military affairs committee, spoke as chairman of a finance subcommittee on veterans. Warning that returning 15 million men and women from the services to civilian life is a problem large enough to shake the nation's foundations, Johnson said.

"The army's lack of coöperation in helping to solve it is blind and stupid and criminal. When there is a shortage of workers is the time to return every possible man or woman to civilian status.

Mathematical Monstrosity

"The army rejected with disdain my simple 'first in, first out' discharge formula. In its place they adopted a mathematical monstrosity. From the first it was a certainty that the point system would not work. My opinion is that it was not intended to work."

Johnson said the nation's transportation system has been demoralized by hauling men who should have been discharged about the country without purpose.

Rebuking the army for drafting other essential workers, Johnson turned to Draft Director Hershey, saying:

"Gen. Hershey's revealing statement in Indianapolis that after V-J day selective service intends to keep right on drafting 100,000 men a month is the final pay off.

Why 8 Million?

"The maximum number of men we can transport, supply, and use on the Japanese front by the end of 1946 cannot be more than three million. Then why in the name of common sense must we maintain an army of eight million?

Meanwhile the government promised additional army aid to ease the man power situation of the railroads.

War Mobilization Director Snyder announced the war department will furlough 4,000 men temporarily to the railroad industry.

The army said yesterday that 1,362 men with railroad experience will be released from military service in Europe within 10 days for return to this country and discharge, and that an additional 2,063 men with operating and shop experience were slated for early release.

U. S. Craft Rescue 283 Natives on Marshall Isle

Expects Jap Surrender

VATICAN CITY, Aug. 1 (AP)—A Vatican source said today that despite Japan's rejection of the Potsdam ultimatum the Vatican expects "Japan soon will realize the futility of continuing resistance and surrender to the allies." The source declined to indicate whether the statement was based on actual information or mere surmise. The Vatican added that intensified allied action "must make the Japanese government understand Japan's hopeless military situation and that continuation of the war causes useless bloodshed which cannot modify allied victory."

GUAM, Aug. 2 [Thursday]—(AP)—An American battleship and carrier planes shelled and bombed Wake island yesterday, Adm. Nimitz announced today as Gen. Spaatz disclosed the mightiest Super Fortress blow against Japan by 820 B-29s.

The attack on Wake, Nimitz said, met only "slight opposition" from Japanese shore batteries which caused "extremely minor damage" to the American ships. Mention of "ships" indicated destroyers also participated in the shelling. The carrier planes attacked "installations" as the battleship pounded the beaches, Nimitz reported.

At the same time, Nimitz reported the rescue by a destroyer escort and several LCIs [landing craft, infantry] of 283 natives from the southern reef of Jaluit atoll in the Marshall islands, 800 miles south of Wake. There was only minor Japanese opposition, Nimitz said.

Burn and Blast 4 Cities

Today's burning and blasting of four of Japan's war industries cities and an oil center in Tokyo bay probably was the biggest air raid in history.

As the B-29s' record load of more than 6,000 tons of fire and demolition bombs struck the enemy's homeland, official sources also disclosed that planes of Gen. George C. Kenney's far east air force knocked out two more of Japan's harbor-hiding naval remnants and fighter planes of the United States army strategic air force ripped factories, air fields and railroad facilities around Kobe and Nagoya.

The four cities, all on the B-29 "surrender or die" warning list, were:

MITO—66,500 population, 60 miles north of Tokyo, rail repair and freight center serving the Boban railroad, which carried 4,000,000 tons of coal annually into the Tokyo area before the war.

HACHIOJI—75,000, 23 miles west of Tokyo controls much of the rail traffic to the northern part of Honshu Island.

NAGAOKA—70,000, important machine tool and railway town in west central Honshu.

TOYAMA — 127,000 on Honshu's Japan sea coast, has the empire's largest aluminum plant, and large ballbearing and precision instrument works.

Mine Jap Straits

The raiders scored "good to excellent" results and started general conflagrations, Gen. Spaatz' headquarters reported after the B-29s returned to their Marianas bases.

Spaatz' second bulletin of the day—and the second of his new command—said 778 of the B-29s bombed the five target areas while the other 42 mined the Shimonoseki straits and waters off the cities of Seishin and Rashin on northernmost Korea. One B-29 was lost.

Enemy fighter opposition ranged from "none to slight" and anti-aircraft fire was "none to moderate" over the four cities. Over the Kawasaki petroleum targets, a few miles from Tokyo, fighter opposition was

Big Sale! U. S. Cleans War Attic

BY WALTER TROHAN
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 1—Ballyhooing the greatest rummage sale in history, the Reconstruction Finance corporation has issued a booklet soliciting buyers for 3,000 items of surplus property the government acquired during the war.

The items, which range from fully equipped industrial plants to cubeb cigarets, are valued at hundreds of millions of dollars.

Many of the items are identifiable as war materials, but others have apparently no connection with the war.

Surplus items include costly furs and uncut gems. Among the furs listed are cabretta and ermine skins, and chinchilla, fox, mink, skunk, Persian lamb, leopard, and squirrel furs. Also listed in the classification of "animal products, inedible," is the item "worms."

Precious stones include aquamarine, amethyst, cameo, nonindustrial diamonds, emeralds, jade, meerschaum, moonstone, ruby, sapphire, topaz, turquoise, tourmaline, zircon, and pearls.

Under petroleum and petroleum products, the RFC booklet lists crude oil, gasoline, fuel oils, and heating oils.

The booklet catalogs as surplus items types of synthetic rubber including cryptostegia and guayule rubber. Also listed as surplus are crude rubber and reclaimed rubber.

A wide assortment of miscellaneous items include fish livers, beeswax, bone blue, ox hair, oyster shells, tortoise shells, sponges, switches of cattle and horse hair, thermometers, scrap iron, lumber of all kinds, paint and varnishes, paper and paper products, and tin.

CHICAGO OFFICE OPENS

One of the first sales display rooms in the country for the sale of surplus property was opened by the Reconstruction Finance corporation yesterday at 200 S. La Salle st.

"none to moderate" and anti-aircraft fire was moderate.

Nine Cities to Go!

Today's mission left nine Japanese cities still to be erased from the list of 19 named in advance for destruction. They are Fukuyama, Koriyama, Maebashi, Maizuru, Nagano, Nishinomiya, and Otsu, all on the main island of Honshu; Hakodate on Hokkaido, and Kurume on Kyushu.

Gen. MacArthur announced that Gen. Kenney's airmen pared seven more ships from Japan's war and merchant fleets, including two destroyer escorts, in their attacks in and around Kyushu in bad weather. Other vessels sunk or damaged were a 2,000 ton tanker, three medium freighter transports, and a coastal vessel.

One Mustang Lost

A spokesman said Mitchell medium bombers also hit a 5,000 ton freighter previously beached near Nagasaki. One P-51 Mustang was lost in these raids.

One of the day's heaviest blows was against Marushima, where "many very large fires and explosions occurred," MacArthur said. A plant for the fixation of nitrogen was a special target. A Mitchell was downed on this strike.

A double punch was delivered against Kagoshima, main city in southern Kyushu. On Monday night the city's rayon and explosives plants were attacked by P-61 night fighters. Tuesday two groups of Liberators hit the city again.

Jap Planes Absent

Mustangs from Iwo Island, augmented by P-47 Thunderbolts, hit the Nagoya and Kobe area on Honshu. A total of 37 planes, flying thru rain and heavy clouds, carried out strafing and rocket attacks on air fields, transportation facilities, and factories. Four raiders were lost, presumably to anti-aircraft fire, as enemy fighters refused to challenge.

The closest target to Japan mentioned in today's regular fleet bulletin was Korea. Nimitz said fleet Privateers blew up a large railway span near the mouth of the Seisen river in northwest Korea on Tuesday.

More Jap Cities Blasted by B-29s

JAPANESE TELL OF DAMAGE AND TERROR IN LAND

San Francisco, Aug. 1 (AP)—The Tokyo radio admitted today that air raids in recent weeks had caused "considerable damage" to Japan's cities, factories, and shipping.

But enemy military leaders said in their war bulletin that damage to air fields and military installations since June 25 was only "slight." They assured the Nipponese that their army and navy were "steadily preparing" for the expected allied invasion of the home land.

The Toyko newspaper Mainichi was quoted as saying aircraft factories which have been put underground have turned out planes "with better results than anticipated."

Japs Hint of Terror

GUAM, Aug. 1 (AP)—The terror of life in a land writhing and burning beneath the greatest bombardment of all times is reflected in Japanese propaganda broadcasts.

"We are enduring the impossible, with grinding teeth and clenched fist, when we see enemy planes penetrating our homeland and proudly flying over our heads," cry the Nipponese propagandists.

The horror that there must be today in once proud Tokyo is apparent in another broadcast which described matter of factly how the great majority of remaining Tokyo residents, living underground, "desire to be provided with the minimum amount of goods and services necessary for subsistence."

"Hold That Line, Mother"

Japan's battlefront soldiers now are fighting an easier war than the homefolks, another broadcast reveals: "It is soldiers in the front lines that are sending comfort bags to folks at home. 'Hold that line, mother,' is the battle cry of every Japanese soldier."

One propagandist acknowledged that "today destruction is even greater than at the time of the great earthquake; and destruction is not confined to one blow but continues to mount in extent."

The mass flight of homeless is emphasized in another broadcast which said "allocations have been made to cities and towns in Hokkaido for the reception of 50,000 families—200,000 war victim evacuees."

Chinese Capture Supply Base

Drive on Lingling

CHUNGKING, China, Aug. 1 (AP)—Chinese troops have captured the Japanese supply base of Pinglo in south-central China and have hurled a new spearhead at the old Flying Tigers' air field at Lingling, 370 miles southeast of Chungking, the Chinese high command said today.

Pinglo, blasted repeatedly by the United States 14th air force, was one of the most important Japanese supply depots in Kwangsi province. It was reoccupied last Friday by forces which had been pushing for a month toward the highway center from Liuchow. Pinglo is 55 miles southeast of recaptured Kweilin.

One hundred and thirty-three miles north of Pinglo, the Chinese launched a new blow toward Lingling in a developing two-pronged drive against that key Japanese stronghold in Hunan province.

A war bulletin reported that Chinese forces attacked at a point southeast of Sinning, 55 miles northwest of Lingling.

The Chinese drive toward Lingling threatened the western flank of Tokyo's transcontinental corridor from Korea to Hong Kong. On the eastern flank, a fierce struggle was reported continuing in Kiangsi province.

The Chinese fought remnants of an original force of 20,000 Japanese troops making a fighting withdrawal from southern Kiangsi toward the Yangtze river port of Nanchang and Chinese-held areas of the "rice bowl" region.

Chinese soldiers beat off attacks against Kian, 110 miles south of Nanchang and reinforcements were said to be pouring into the town, one of the main Chinese strongholds in Kiangsi.

DIES AFTER HEART ATTACK

Mrs. Josephine Motyka, 40, of 5108 W. 39th pl., was found dead in her home yesterday, apparently the victim of a heart attack.

BAD NEWS KEEPS JAPS' ENVOY AT VATICAN BUSY

VATICAN CITY, Aug. 12 (AP)—The lone remnant of axis diplomacy to the Holy See, Japanese Ambassador Ken Harada, faithful to the Nipponese tradition of taking note of everything visible, has become a rapid newspaper reader and photographer.

Four copies of every Italian newspaper available—there are 19 Roman dailies—as well as the Stars and Stripes, United States army newspaper, and the Union Jack, are purchased daily for Harada. He reads them with the assistance of the embassy's secretary, Masahide Kanayama, and clips out items that he deems of politico-military importance, such as Super Fortress raids on Tokyo. The clippings then are filed for reference.

Keeps His Camera Busy

The ambassador also intensively employs his camera and his pictures of Roman scenery follow the clippings into the embassy's archives.

Harada leads a solitary life. He is the only foreign diplomat living in the Vatican, and he cannot leave Vatican City. If he did, he would be arrested immediately as an enemy subject by the Italian government or allied military policeman.

His wife, who is a Catholic, regularly goes to the church of Santa Marta, near the governor's building in the Vatican. Long walks with his wife along the paths of the Vatican gardens and occasional visits to the Vatican museums constitute Harada's only outdoor diversion.

Food, but No Bird Nests

Food for the Japanese embassy is supplied thru the Vatican. Delicacies such as shark fins, humming bird nests, and Japanese wine have not delighted the palate of the ambassador for a long time.

While GIs go swimming in the Mediterranean and have cool drinks in Rome's cabarets, which have been transformed into service clubs, Harada tunes in the Tokyo radio.

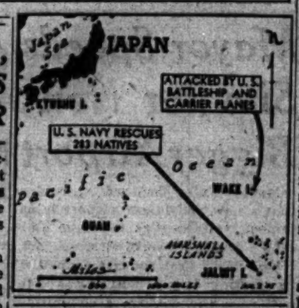
HIT BY SUICIDIST, 'OLD MISS' GOES BACK A TERROR

Washington, D. C., Aug. 1 (AP)—The battleship Mississippi, punctured by a suicide plane on Jan. 9 at Lingayen gulf, in the Philippines, is back on the prowl for Japanese. The navy disclosed today the story of its action.

Twenty-two men were killed on the "Old Miss." Eighteen more were injured, and the 28 year old battlewagon was damaged. But she went right on fighting for three months before going to Pearl Harbor for permanent repairs and general overhaul, which gave the vessel 300 per cent more fire power.

The Mississippi was in Lingayen gulf early in the afternoon when a carrier-based dive bomber bounced around her superstructure, grazing the navigation bridge, damaging several anti-aircraft guns, putting two larger guns out of action temporarily, and ripping out some communications channels. Before the suicidist went over the side its bombs ripped loose and exploded 15 feet from the battleship's side. Fragments blew 75 holes in the skin of the Old Miss and the blasts bashed in four watertight compartments along the port side.



CHICAGO YANK DECORATED FOR KILLING 7 JAPS

WITH THE 96TH DIVISION ON OKINAWA, July 5 [Delayed]—First Sgt. Milton Shepsky, 4811 N. Harding av., Chicago, won the bronze star on Okinawa.

The award was made by Maj. Gen. J. L. Bradley, commanding the 96th division. The citation said Shepsky exposed himself to enemy fire to form a line from which Japanese counter-attacks could be repulsed and was personally responsible for killing seven Japanese in one attempt to storm his positions. He is a member of the 383d infantry regiment. Before the war he operated a Waukegan-Chicago beauty supplies company.

Pvt. Clarence J. Friese, 1501 N. Kostner av., Chicago, has been awarded the bronze star for driving his truck, loaded with mortar and machine gun ammunition, thru a hail of Japanese artillery fire.

Japan Names an Envoy to Somebody Somewhere

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 1 (AP)—With a straight face, Japan today changed its ambassador to the Philippines [which it doesn't have any more], or at least to the islands' puppet government [which has fled somewhere]. The Tokyo radio said Ko Ishii had succeeded Shozo Murata as ambassador to the puppet government, last reported in Japan.

FOUND DEAD ON WEST SIDE

A man tentatively identified by police as Duane Joseph Lynch, 44, of Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., was found dead yesterday in the rear of 587 W. Madison st., apparently of natural causes.

CHICAGO FLYER SPOTS 10 JAP SUBS; ALL HIT

ABOARD VICE ADM. McCAIN'S FLAGSHIP OFF JAPAN, July 30 [Delayed]—(AP)—Today's carrier raid on Honshu paid off again and a new target in quantity was found — submarines huddled in coves in the Tokyo area.

Lt. Howard Fuog

Two midget subs were sunk; seven others and a big submersible were damaged.

Lt. Howard Fuog of 1947 Winnemac av., Chicago, flew over the submarines, which were not there on other trips, he said.

"I could see a number of subs below. They were squatting in the water with the decks just awash. They were mostly midgets with at least one big one there. It looked as if the Japs thought they could be hidden by submerging to deck depth but they were easy to pick out."

SLOT MACHINES BRING FINES

Maurice Enright, 53, owner of a tavern at 5135 Oriole av., Norwood Park, was fined $100 and costs and Thomas Muldowney, 39, owner of the Oakwood stables, Devon and Des Plaines, Maine township, was fined $25 and costs yesterday by Justice of the Peace Harry A. Sullivan on charges of possessing slot machines.

BRITON VOWS R. A. F. WILL HELP TO BOMB JAPS

Washington, D. C., Aug. 1 [Special]—British heavy bombers will join the United States army air forces in the Pacific just as soon as there are air fields from which they can operate, Air Marshal Douglas Colyer, British air representative on the combined Anglo-American chiefs of staff in Washington, announced tonight.

Speaking at an air forces day dinner sponsored by the Aero Club of Washington, Colyer hailed the great success of the R. A. F. and A. A. F. in "getting on well together."

"We did it in Europe, to the consternation of the enemy," Colyer said. "We did it in Burma where British and American flyers were mixed together under a unified command; and we are going to do it in the Pacific."

JAP PLANES RAID BORNEO LIGHTLY; DO NO DAMAGE

MANILA, Aug. 2 [Thursday]—(AP)—Japanese planes lightly raided allied positions at Miri and Brunei bay, northwest Borneo, on Tuesday but caused no military damage, Gen. MacArthur said today. There were some native casualties, a spokesman said. This was the first reported Japanese aerial attack on either area since Australian troops landed there June 10.

Meantime patrols of the Australian 7th and 9th divisions probed Japanese defenses in the Balikpapan and Brunei bay sectors, extending their gains inland.

Bombers of the 13th A. A. F. and Australian fighters attacked Japanese airdromes.

PETAIN SHIELDED FRANCE, SAYS LEAHY LETTER

Marshal Acted for His People, Admiral Writes

PARIS, Aug. 1 (AP)—A letter from Adm. Leahy, President Truman's chief of staff, to Marshal Petain was dramatically introduced by the defense today into the aged Vichy chief's trial for treason.

Adm. Leahy

Leahy, American ambassador to the Vichy government in the crucial days after the fall of France, said Petain "often expressed the fervent hope that the Nazi invaders would be destroyed." But Leahy added that at times the marshal declined to oppose the Nazis during the German occupation. However, the letter stated Leahy's conviction that Petain's "principal concern was the welfare and protection" of the French people.

A statement attributed to former British Prime Minister Churchill also was introduced by the defense to support the argument that the Franco-German armistice benefitted both France and the allies. Churchill was quoted as saying that the armistice did Britain "a good service."

Jurors Fall Asleep

These were the highlights of the ninth day of Petain's trial on charges of intelligence with Germany and plotting against the security of France—a day marked by sharp, bitter recriminations between the military and political leaders of France in 1940 and the jury's lack of interest.

As a parade of French generals refought the battles of 1940 and testified in Petain's defense, the 24 man jury paid little attention. At one time five jurors began reading newspapers, one started a crossword puzzle, two were asleep, and two more leaned back in their chairs, staring blankly at the ceiling.

Every one awaited Pierre Laval, No. 2 man in the Vichy regime, and described as Petain's "bad counsellor" and "evil genius." Defense lawyers indicated they had conferred with Prosecutor Andre Mornet on the question of calling Laval from his new Paris prison cell.

Text of Leahy Letter

Adm. Leahy's letter cut short a verbal clash between former Premier Paul Reynaud, who opposed the Franco-German armistice, and Gen. Maxime Weygand, his commander in chief in June, 1940.

The letter was dated June 22. It read:

"My Dear Marshal Petain: Your letter dated June 10 was delivered to me today by a mutual acquaintance and I learned from it of the sad predicament in which you find yourself as a result of developments of events which, in their good aspects, have brought about the liberation of France and the destruction of the barbarous Nazis.

"You will understand that it is impossible for me as chief of staff to become involved in any degree with the internal controversy in France in which you find yourself enmeshed.

"I have no information whatever as to details of the charges or specifications of the charges with which you will be faced.

"My knowledge of your personal and official attitude toward the allies and toward the axis powers is strictly limited to the period Jan. 1, 1941, to April 19, 1942, in which I had the honor of being the United States ambassador to France.

"During that period I held your personal friendship and your devotion to the French people in very high regard. You often expressed to me the fervent hope that the nazi invaders would be destroyed.

"During that period you did on occasion at my request take action in opposition to the desires of the axis and favorable to the allied cause.

"On every instance when you failed to accept my recommendations to oppose the axis power by refusing their demands, your stated reason was that such positive action by you would result in additional oppression of your people by the invaders.

"I had then, as I have now, the conviction that your principal concern was the welfare and protection of the helpless people of France. It was impossible for me to believe that you had any other concern.

Makes One Reservation

"However, I must in all honesty repeat my opinion as expressed to you at the time that a positive refusal to make any concessions to axis demands, while it might have brought immediately increased hardship to your people, would in the long view have been advantageous to France.

"With my expressions of personal regard and with the wish that your action thruout the period of the occupation by the enemy may be accurately evaluated by the people of France, I am, very sincerely yours, William D. Leahy."

Tells Churchill View

Later, as the day's session drew toward its close, Gen. Alphonse Georges, commander of French forces in the field during 1939-'40, repeated a conversation he said he had with Churchill Jan. 8, 1944, at Marrakech, Morocco.

Gen. Georges quoted Churchill as saying: "The armistice did us a good service. If the enemy had gone thru North Africa and attacked Egypt we could not have stopped them." Georges said Churchill was speaking of the period immediately after Dunkerque when "England had no arms, no tanks, and few guns."

LAVAL LOCKED IN PARIS PRISON TO AWAIT TRIAL

BY DAVID DARRAH

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

PARIS, Aug. 1 — Pierre Laval, broken, nervous, and smoking cigarets unceasing, got out of a special French government airplane at Le Bourget airport tonight at a quarter to 6 and, bidding farewell to his crying wife, was whisked swiftly off under heavy guard to Fresnes prison where he will await trial for his life.

Elaborate precautions had been taken by the police at all airports around Paris to prevent demonstrations. Blue coated republican guards were especially numerous around Le Bourget. It had been feared that resistance men might organize an attempt on Laval's life and assassinate him before the police could get him safely to Fresnes prison, where hundreds of other Vichyites, including former cabinet ministers, high burocratic officials, and the personal following of Petain and Laval are imprisoned while awaiting trial.

Police on Guard

All along the road from Le Bourget to Fresnes careful police control had been organized, but as a matter of fact the car carrying Laval passed almost unnoticed.

Laval is in a simule cell in a corridor not far from Paul Marion, his former minister of information; Joseph Darnand, his minister of the militia, and Dr. Menetrel, Petain's personal physician and secretary during the Vichy days and the period in Germany.

Laval, who gave himself up to the Americans in Austria after a flight from Spain yesterday, was taken from Linz to Innsbruck for the preliminary exchange between American and French military authorities.

Flies in Special Plane

After a cursory examination at Innsbruck, which is in the French area of occupation, Laval was flown in a special plane to Baden-Baden, headquarters of Gen. Joseph Pierre Koenig, commander of the French forces of occupation. After a brief stay there he and his wife were taken to Strasbourg.

The plane conveying Laval left Strasbourg late this afternoon. The same two police commissioners who met Petain at the Swiss border were at Strasbourg to receive Laval and bring him on to Paris.

Newspapermen were shooed away from all access to Laval, both when he arrived in Paris tonight and also at all places en route between Austria and France.

Snakebite Victim

Mrs. Henry De Gooyer consoles daughter, Rula Ann, in Salt Lake City hospital.

Salt Lake City, Aug. 1 (AP)—Rula Ann De Gooyer, 13, remained in critical condition today despite blood transfusions given to counteract the effect of a rattlesnake bite on her foot.

The child was bitten as she hiked with two companions in hills near a suburban park. The companions hailed a passing motorist and the girl was taken to nearby Fort Douglas.

There Lt. Irving Imber, hospital receiving officer, suggested the girl be taken to a civilian hospital and an army car was used to transport her a mile to Holy Cross hospital.

"Imber examined the girl and determined that it had been 15 or 20 minutes since she had suffered the snakebite," said Lt. Col. W. J. Mitchell, hospital commanding officer, in a statement.

"He felt that is was safe to send her on for civilian treatment."

The girl's mother, Mrs. Henry De Gooyer Jr., said her daughter's companions told her authorities at the army hospital refused to accept Rula Ann as a patient.

SEEKS PRIVATE FUNDS TO FINISH NEW DEAL FLOPS

BY WILLIAM STRAND

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 1—Disclosing that the aid of private enterprise will be sought to complete three of the New Deal's famed housing projects, federal officials today told how the government plans to bow out of early experiments in planned economy under the Roosevelt administration. The experiments have cost taxpayers 41 million dollars.

Securing funds from private investors to finish the projects along the extravagant lines proposed originally by Rexford Guy Tugwell is the first step in their liquidation, federal housing administration officials said. Tugwell was agriculture undersecretary and in charge of the New Deal's resettlement program when it was begun.

Eventually the government hopes to dispose of them outright to private ownership, but it is admitted freely that this will be impossible until the three have been put on a self-sustaining basis.

Congress has for several years refused to approprite funds for additional construction on the projects.

Already Cost 11 Million

It was announced yesterday that the first project scheduled for completion and disposition under the plan in Greendale, near Milwaukee, Wis., which already has cost taxpayers nearly 11 million dollars. It is located on a 3,400 acre tract and has 630 dwelling units. The original blueprints called for a total of 3,600 homes, which New Deal planners regarded as a complete community.

Oliver C. Winston, director of field offices for the federal public housing administration, said an offer has been received from private interests for expansion of Greendale to its projected size. Thereafter, he indicated, the entire development would be transferred to private or municipal ownership.

His announcement aroused widespread speculation here as to the future of the other two utopian communities conceived as experiments in low rent housing underwritten by the federal treasury. They are Greenbelt, Md., near the capital, and Greenhills, O., near Cincinnati.

18 Millions More

The cost of Greenbelt has been more than 18 million dollars, records show, including cost of construction of 1,000 units of war time dwellings to meet housing demands in this area. Greenhills, which has 737 units, has cost nearly 12 millions.

When acceptable plans have been worked out for the sale of Greendale, FPHA officials said, they probably will prove the forerunners for similar plans to liquidate the others. But they emphasized that none of the projects is complete and that until they are completed thru the use of private capital none has any resale value. In the meantime, the government must continue to operate the projects.

Model Community

Even if the money is forthcoming, the officials said, actual start of work on additional units would be months in the future and actual disposal of the projects probably a matter of years.

Each was planned as a model community under the old resettlement administration which was one of the favored New Deal agencies. The projects still retain many of the socialized aspects which marked their advent upon the American scene. Rents are adjusted to individual incomes with a ceiling on what a man can earn and still retain his dwelling. Community enterprises such as stores and movie houses are coöperatively owned.

DEVELOPS MOSQUITO REPELLENT EFFECTIVE ON SKIN ELEVEN HOURS

Washington, D. C., Aug. 1 (AP)—Development of a mosquito repellent effective on the skin up to 11 hours was reported tonight by the navy bureau of medicine and surgery.

The bureau announced "encouraging results" against the malaria carrying mosquito in jungle field trials. All results are under study to determine whether to put the discovery into use by the navy.

The formula, a secret, was reached at the Naval Medical Research institute here after nearly two years' effort and more than 2,000 mixtures, the bureau said. It is called N. M. R. I.-201 because it represents its 201st different compound this year.

The repellent is a liquid, a little thicker than water, almost odorless and almost colorless. It is intended to ward off mosquitos. No results have been compiled as to its effect on other insects.

The chemicals composing it are not on the critical list and it could be manufactured easily, it was stated.

TELLS HOW U. S. REFUSED HELP TO INDO-CHINA

MOSCOW, Aug. 1 (AP)—Gen. Georges Catroux, former governor-general of French Indo-China, asserted today that the United States refused him planes and guns to fight the Japanese in 1940 with the explanation that it "did not believe it could enter into a conflict with Japan" and would take no action if Indo-China were attacked. He said a similar appeal to Britain received a "no more encouraging" reply.

Catroux, now French ambassador to Russia, told of his futile appeal to the United States in a long statement he issued after the defense claimed at the trial of Marshal Petain in Paris that Petain had removed Catroux from his Indo-China post because he was favorable to Japanese demands.

Catroux's statement said that his policy as governor-general had been aimed to save Indo-China by negotiation and stalling rather than to lose the colony to superior Japanese forces in a one sided fight.

LONDON CHARGES LAVAL PLOT TO WAR ON BRITAIN

LONDON, Aug. 1 (AP)—A British white paper issued tonight asserted that Pierre Laval plotted in the fall of 1940, with German approval, to involve Britain in war with the Vichy French government.

The document declared that Samuel Hoare, British ambassador to Madrid, cabled British Foreign Secretary Halifax that Laval intended to use the French fleet and military units in recovering French colonies which had declared for Gen. de Gaulle's Free French regime. Hoare said he obtained the information from the French ambassador.

Britain had promised, the paper said, to support de Gaulle and if the French and British fleets had come into conflict, Laval, then Vichy premier, would have claimed it was an act of aggression by the British fleet. The plan was dropped because Vichy feared bombing by the British, it was said.

READJUST U. S. AND RED ZONES ALONG DANUBE

VIENNA, Austria, Aug. 1 (AP)—Russian troops hold all Austrian territory north of the Danube river today with the Americans on the south bank, and both sharing the occupation of Linz, Austria's third largest city, as a result of readjustment of occupation zones. North of the Russian zone the Americans occupy a part of Czechoslovakia. On the west is American held Bavaria.

The readjustment, which was completed yesterday was announced here by the headquarters of Gen. Clark's American forces.

It was indicated these may be the last readjustments in occupation zones for some time. The main bodies of British, French, and American troops have not yet moved in to occupy the Vienna control zones, but they are expected to enter with Gen. Clark in a few days.

France Gets $14,000,000 in U. S. Army Old Clothing

PARIS, Aug. 1 (AP)—Jefferson Caffery, United States ambassador said today the American government would turn over to the French 10,000,000 garments to distribute to prisoners of war and repatriated Frenchmen. The clothing, valued at $14,000,000, is being obtained by the French government on a straight credit lend-lease basis, the ambassador said. All of it is used army issue.

14 Members of German Sub Crew Reach Miami

Miami, Fla., Aug. 1 (AP)—Fourteen members of the crew of the German submarine U-530, which surrendered at Mar del Plata, Argentina, July 10, arrived here by navy plane today. They were turned over to the army and placed in a prisoner of war compound at Belle Haven, Fla.

RUSSIANS MAKE SELVES AT HOME IN RUHR'S HEART

Evacuees Await Return to Homeland

[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune]

VORHALLE, Germany, Aug. 1—Armed Russian sentries eye you as you drive into this town in the Ruhr; the red flags of Moscow flutter in the breeze; and from across the fields come the occasional sigh of a homesick accordion and the tankle of a balalaika. Altho it is in the heart of the British occupation zone in Germany and a thousand miles from the Volga, this town is completely Russian.

All Germans here were evacuated when the United States army came thru in April, and now the community is occupied by close to 10,000 sons and daughters of the Hammer and Sickle — liberated prisoners of war and slave laborers from the surrounding countryside waiting to return to their homeland.

Russian Signs Abound

Signs and banners in Russian script across the highway and on numerous buildings remind them of this, admonishing them to conduct themselves accordingly and to prepare for the day of their repatriation. Against this time, the young men — many in the khaki of the United States with which the quartermaster department outfitted them on their liberation—drill with real or wooden stick guns, while the girls form Russian WAC units and the older people sew, cobble, and do other handcrafts.

The other favorite decorative motif is the familiar huge triple portrait of the late President Roosevelt, former Prime Minister Churchill, and Premier Stalin that adorns the entrance to the community's "city hall" and other places. The Russians apologize that their latest pictorial data are as of the Yalta conference, and they hope soon to bring the Big Three up to date.

No Churches, Three Theaters

The community leader is a short, stocky, shaven headed, moon faced soldier who looks like a composite of every man in the Russian army, especially Marshal Zhukov. He was captured at Kharkov and was brought here, where for three years he ran a pneumatic drill in the coal mines.

There are no churches and no priest, but there are three legitimate theaters, all decorated with Russian slogans and portraits of the original Big Three, where amateur troupes put on several shows a week. They would like to get some American movies.

The people are not doing any regular work. Their food is provided by the British army. A detachment of 30 tommies is stationed in the town. They stand guard in collaboration with the Russian sentry at the bridge at one end of the town. The Russian sentries do not stop British or American army cars, but are plenty authoritative with the Germans.

The "commandant" confers occasionally with the British authorities, but otherwise he is left on his own.

EXPECT SWEDEN TO SLAP HEAVIER TAXES ON RICH

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Aug. 1 [Reuters]—Sweden's new socialist government may impose heavier taxation on the richer classes and will, it is believed, sanction a capital levy if it can be economically justified.

The cabinet is making plans to solve three pressing problems: Coal, housing, and recapture of lost export markets without a drop in wage levels. Sweden has made attempts to obtain British coal and is negotiating with Poland for Silesian coal to keep heavy industry going.

If unemployment develops, Gustav Moeller, the social minister, is expected to resort to government financing of new industries.

ARMY GUARD KILLS 3 NAZI WAR PRISONERS

Colorado Springs, Colo., Aug. 1 (AP)—An American army guard shot and killed three German prisoners of war who apparently threatened to rush him after refusing to work in a field 14 miles from Ovid, Colo., this morning, the Camp Carson public relations office announced.

The guard, Pvt. Harold W. Garland of Columbus, Ind., who had been wounded in combat overseas, told Camp Carson prisoner of war camp officers that the three prisoners had made threatening remarks before the shooting.

He said he fired his carbine at them when it appeared they were going to rush him. The prisoners killed were Corps. Anton Neuner and Helmut Pfifferling and Pvt. Hugo Quaas.

NOT FIT FOR DOG, CRY NAZIS HELD IN OWN PRISON

Yank Visits Scene of His Captivity

[Tom Hoge, 33 year old Stars and Stripes correspondent from Bayville, N. Y., was taken prisoner by the Germans in September, 1944, when his plane was shot down while he was covering the air borne invasion of the Eindhoven-Arnhem sector in Holland. Yesterday he went back to his former prison camp for a visit. Here is his story.]

BY TOM HOGE

LIMBURG, Germany, Aug. 1 (AP)—I visited my old alma mater today and found things somewhat changed.

The Limburg prison camp, where I spent the first of six months of prisoner of war life, is still doing a land office business—but now it is Germans who are behind the bars.

More than 15,000 kraut soldiers are confined here under French guards, many of whom were prisoners in this same camp.

Passing thru the gate into the enclosure of a squat ugly building that I remembered only too well, I was immediately surrounded by a crowd of Germans who pawed at my clothes and tugged at my sleeve.

"Not Fit for a Dog"

"When are the Americans coming back?" a German soldier said, clutching my arm. "They used to give us meat and butter when they ran the camp. Now we only get soup—twice a day. It is not fit for a dog."

When I was there we got soup that was not fit for a pig—once a day.

Walking down the narrow roadway between the barracks I recalled that a group of us marched down that same road one day last September and because we did not salute a German officer leaning against one of the buildings, our soup ration was eliminated for two days. At the end of the road I saw a German squatting over a small fire, heating a can of water.

Always Cooking

"They're always cooking something," the French guard muttered. "I guess it gives them something to do."

A British paratrooper tried that once last fall. And because he ripped out a floor board to kindle his fire our entire water supply was cut off for three days. As a result, two Americans who drank mud out of a puddle to slake their thirst nearly died of dysentery.

The interior of my old barracks had changed little. The same stench of filth and sweat pervaded the place. On the straw covered floor, groups of Germans dozed or just stared into space—just as we had done.

CAPTIVE NAZIS FIND FUN, HEALTH, WORK IN GI CAMP

BY HAL FOUST

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

ROUEN, France, July 30 [Delayed]—Two thousand prisoners of war laughed. This was opening night for a new comedy farce at the outdoor theater within the PW enclosure near here. It was a hit.

An impersonator, a member of the Berlin ballet before he became a German soldier, was applauded for his dancing and for his burlesque of female impersonators. A former Berlin radio announcer burlesqued a boxing exhibition broadcast. The music was good, directed by a former music teacher displaying a PW painted between his shoulders and on the seat of his pants.

The audience forgot for two hours the barbed wire fence and sentinels encircling it. It laughed strong, healthy laughs.

Thrive on Work and Food

The prisoners returned glances of mutual curiosity without staring. They did not look like the thousands of prisoners to be seen a few months ago with their hands clasped behind their heads, exhausted, undernourished, and with their faces seamed by fight and fright. They looked even younger. They are thriving on a diet of 2,000 calories a day with eight to 10 hours of work a day six days a week.

"We are striving for respect as good prisoners of war," said an announcer from the stage, "and we will strive for respect in collaborating with the allies after we are released."

"This," said Maj. Philip G. Bredesen, former Beloit, Wis., advertising man who commands the camp, "is in keeping with my mission to furnish labor from prisoners for the United States army. They must be healthy, mentally and physically, to work efficiently."

Health Record Excellent

The faces in the audience, illuminated by the stage lights, were clean, tanned, and relaxed. The health record of the prisoners is excellent. An inspection of their camp, authorized by Brig. Gen. John N. Robinson, Battle Creek, Mich., deputy commander of the 89th division, showed the tents neat and clean.

The prisoners are graveling roads, erecting buildings, installing water and lighting systems on a former German air field, and enlarging the camp for United States soldiers awaiting embarkation at Le Havre. They fill their shovels when loading a truck, know their tools, and are strong and willing.

Each prisoner gets a monthly ration of shaving material, soap, and five packages of tobacco without charge, and will be paid 80 cents a work day when he is discharged.

WRIGHTS' 1ST PLANE COMING HOME AFTER 17 YEARS IN BRITAIN

LONDON, Aug. 1 [Reuters]—The Wright brothers' canvas and wood airplane in which they made their first power flight in 1903 will be returned to the land of its birth after more than 17 years' exile in Britain, it was announced in London today.

When King George V. opened a new wing of the Science museum, South Kensington, London, in 1928, the Wright plane was suspended in a flying attitude from the high ceiling just inside the entrance, with a lifelike model of an early aviator at the controls. From then until it was removed during the war, about 1,000,000 persons saw the plane every year.

An official at the museum said today the plane was the personal property of Orville Wright, who had intimated that he wanted it back. "No date for its return has been specified—it may be tomorrow or it may be six months," the official added.

ARGENTINA LIFTS BAN ON RALLIES HELD INDOORS

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, Aug. 1 (AP)—Argentina's military government relaxed its grip on opposition forces today by permitting the resumption of political assemblies, but with a proviso that any meetings must be held indoors.

A presidential decree announced the revision of regulations under which political activity had been suspended entirely since the regime of President Edelmiro Farrell came to power in June, 1943.

Restored to limited activity by the decree were Argentina's three big political parties—the Union Civica Radical, which claims the support of 60 per cent of the electorate, the National Democratic [conservative] party and the Socialist party of Argentina.

WEDEMEYER AND SIMPSON SIGHT QUICK WAR END

CHUNGKING, China, Aug. 1 (AP)—Lt. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer said today that he feels "more optimistic about a speedy end of this war against Japan," after a 10 day, 5,000 mile tour of six Chinese provinces by jeep and plane.

"And so do I," said Lt. Gen. Simpson, who led the 9th army in Europe, who accompanied the commander of United States forces in the Chinese war theater. Simpson, in China on a "visit," arrived in Chungking three days before Wedemeyer started out.

Wedemeyer told a Chinese audience at one stop that he found "almost half the Chinese soldiers starving" when he arrived eight months ago. Since then, he said, local Chinese officials had helped Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's efforts against Japan—which he described as "now being defeated"—by conscription only of able bodied men without regard to wealth or position and the furnishing of the troops with adequate and wholesome food.

BERLIN COMMAND AGREES ON LINES OF ALLIED ZONES

BERLIN, Aug. 1 (AP)—The allied command for Berlin announced today agreement on the exact international boundaries between the United States, British, and Russian zones of the capital, but did not define them. The French were not mentioned.

The allied control council already has approved plans for the French to hold part of Berlin and said early this week the sector would be carved from the British and American zones. The Russians occupy 12 boroughs and the Americans and British six each.

At today's session, the Kommandatur, as the allied command is called, gave considerable attention to Berlin's increasingly critical food situation and appointed a committee of senior allied officials to increase the supply of coal, which is second to the food problem.

FRENCH LABOR WANTS TO HELP MANAGE FIRMS

Washington, D. C., Aug. 1 [Special]—The goal of organized labor in France is to share in management of the country's corporate enterprises and representation on the directorates of these concerns as well as to share in profits, Jean Brodier, secretary general of the Christian Trade Union federation, and Jean Emile Camus, a member of the central committee of the Paris trade unions, said today.

The French trade unionists, who are making an extended visit to the United States, explained the viewpoint and aspirations of their own employes at a news conference here.

Brodier said the French unions had two formulas for solving industrial problems. For large industries or those which exploit natural resources such as mines and utilities they propose nationalization. For undertakings of a less national character they favor labor-management committees.

Permit Kin to Meet Returning Hospital Plane

New York, Aug. 1 (AP)—Relatives and friends today met 20 wounded veterans of the war in Europe when they reached New York airport in a transport plane. It was the first time wounded men's families had been permitted to meet a hospital plane from across the Atlantic.

WOOD DEMANDS: END LEND-LEASE, SAVE RESOURCES

Europe Must Go to Work, Air Forces Event Told

Gen. Robert E. Wood last night warned an audience, assembled in the grand ballroom of the Palmer House to observe the 38th birthday of the army air forces, that "America cannot continue to waste its resources."

"There's a limit to the resources of the United States," Gen. Wood declared after telling of industrial chaos in Europe. "We cannot indefinitely pour them out thru lend-lease, UNRRA, and the other agencies.

"Now that the war is over in Europe, the quicker we abandon lend-lease the better. If we must waste our money, let's waste it on our own veterans."

Comeback Delay Predicted

Gen. Wood, speaking with Lt. Gen. Ira C. Eaker, deputy commander of the army air forces, on a program sponsored by the Chicago Association of Commerce, told of his 11 months during the last two and one-half years on a mission for Gen. Arnold in surveying the air corps service of supply in Europe and the Pacific.

"I can't see much hope for western Europe," he said. "It takes a long time to create an economic machine. At the end of every war the great mass of people have to settle down to earning a living and that is what Europe will have to do."

Gen. Wood observed that "England cannot live without exploiting some part of the globe and the trouble is that nobody wants to be exploited." He charged that American soldiers had been "gypped by that portion of their pay they had to spend in Europe." He pointed out the French franc was pegged at 2 cents while its purchasing power was ¼ cent and the Italian lira at 2 cents when it was actually worth 1/10th of a cent.

Boat Chuted in "Rescue"

Gen. Eaker traced the growth of the army air forces from two enlisted men and one officer in 1907 to 2,300,000 men and 70,000 planes today and added that "no other country could have produced that many planes and had that number of its people capable of flying them."

Earlier three soldiers were "saved" from a rubber raft in Lake Michigan by a 3,500 pound sea rescue boat parachuted to them from a B-17 Flying Fortress. An estimated 10,000 persons saw the boat dropped to the three soldiers, adrift outside the harbor breakwater.

Two bands led 1,000 civil air patrol members down State st. in the parade. On the reviewing stand were Gen. Eaker, Mayor Kelly, Maj. Gen. David McCoach Jr., head of the 6th service command, and other officers, including Brig. Gen. Frank P. Lahm, retired, of Cleveland, O., who flew the army's first plane.

EX-CHICAGOAN IS INDICTED IN CAFE SLAYING

Minneapolis, Minn., Aug. 1 [Special]—The Hennepin county grand jury today indicted Rubin Shetsky, alias Wayne Saunders, 45, former Chicagoan well known in night life here, on a charge of second degree murder in the fatal shooting of Albert Schneider, 38, organizer for the AFL General Drivers' union, local 544.

County Atty. Michael J. Dillon said Saunders will be arraigned in District court tomorrow morning and that the grand jury's recommendation for an early trial will be followed, probably with a trial opening Aug. 13. Dillon said he would resist any attempt to have the defendant released on bail.

Saunders, manager of the Casabianca night club where Schneider was shot early Friday during a quarrel, was reported named as the killer by three persons who signed police statements. Saunders fled after the shooting but surrendered at police headquarters Monday night. The grand jury was asked by Mayor Hubert H. Humphrey, in office only a month, to investigate "so-called underworld conditions."

A FATHER GETS 15 YEAR TERM AS WOMAN'S KILLER

Raymond Pease, 20, of 2150 N. Claremont av., a truck driver, was found guilty yesterday by Judge John Prystalski in Criminal court of the murder by strangulation of Miss Sylvia Fuhrer, 30, a federal egg inspector who was found dead in bed May 10 in her room at 3500 Ogden av. Pease was sentenced to 15 years in the penitentiary.

Assistant State's Atty. C. Vernon Thompson called Pease, married and the father of three children, "a low grade gigolo," and charged that the murder culminated a lovers' quarrel. Pease was in a drunken slumber in Miss Fuhrer's room when her body was discovered.

80% OF FLYERS IN EUROPE DUE TO STAY IN U. S.

Air Corps Says Needs Are 2,130,000 Men

Washington, D. C., Aug. 1 (AP)—The army air forces disclosed tonight that 80 per cent of its combat veterans from Europe and the Mediterranean will be assigned to duty in the United States.

Maj. Gen. Frederick L. Anderson, assistant chief of air staff for personnel, said in a talk over the Mutual Broadcasting system that the other 20 per cent will go to the Pacific to provide "a nucleus of experience" for airmen and ground crews without combat experience.

Denies "Small Job"

Anderson said the A. A. F. will need 2,130,000 men for the hammering of the Japanese, whereas its strength on V-E day for the two front war was 2,300,000. Thus he scuttled the idea that the air arm will have a "smaller job to do, will be cutting down in size, and discharging large numbers of men into civilian clothing."

The general formerly commanded the 8th bomber command, which spearheaded the strategic aerial offensive against Germany.

The veterans from Europe who will be given assignments in this country, Anderson said, represent "turnover" classes who have "completed their combat jobs." Men without overseas combat will supply the principal source of personnel for expanded air operations in the Pacific.

More Ground Men Needed

He asserted a larger proportion of airmen will be needed in the Pacific for ground work and noncombat duty. It will take 60 per cent of the A. A. F. in support and service duties to keep 40 per cent fighting, he said. In Europe 47 per cent were needed for ground work and noncombat activities and 53 for battle jobs.

Anderson said that altho there will be fewer men in combat, each man in a B-29 represents 4½ times the bombing power that a man in a B-17 represented over Germany.

Air Giants Make Long Hops

From Honolulu

Dayton, O., Aug. 1 (AP)—Lt. Col. Orville E. Mohler, former University of Southern California football star, flew a B-29 here today from Salina, Kas., where he had completed a nonstop flight from Honolulu in 17 hours 39 minutes.

The flight originally was scheduled nonstop to Wright field, Dayton, but fuel gauge trouble necessitated landing at Salina for refueling. The plane then continued to Patterson field near here completing an over-all flight of 4,076 miles, air technical service command officials said.

The hop was the second longest on record, the first being a recent nonstop flight of Maj. Gen. Curtis E. Le May from Hawaii to Washington, D. C.

Record Time

PARIS, Aug. 1 (AP)—The army air force transport command's C-69 Constellation landed at Orly field today after a 3,600 mile non-stop flight from New York airport, in the record time of 14 hours and 12 minutes.

Lt. Col. Norman F. Timper, who piloted the plane, predicted regular 12-hour flights from New York to Paris. "We did not have favorable winds or we would have come over in better time," he said.

The Constellation has four engines, a pressured cabin, a wing span of 123 feet and a length of 95. It flew most of the way at 15,000 feet altitude. The plane carried no passengers, but has a regular capacity of 60 litter seats. It has a crew of 12. The previous fastest time from New York to Paris by an ATC plane was 18 hours.

O'DWYER QUITS AS PROSECUTOR TO CAMPAIGN

New York, Aug. 1 [Special]—New York's mayoralty campaign, which will come to a head with an election next Nov. 10, got under way officially today as political leaders studied the outcome of yesterday's primary and Kings County District Atty. William O'Dwyer resigned his prosecuting office to give all his time to the race.

O'Dwyer was formally confirmed by the voters as the Democratic and American Labor parties' candidate for mayor. He will be opposed on the Republican ticket by Jonah J. Goldstein, a general sessions judge. O'Dwyer's resignation will enable Gov. Dewey to fill the prosecutor's post with an interim appointee who will hold office until next Jan. 1.

Nearly complete primary figures showed lopsided victories for the regular organization candidates on the four nominations for public offices decided by the Democrats. Nine insurgent Democratic assembly district leaders were defeated by candidates favorable to the Tammany leadership.

Overseas War Hospital Gives N. U. Medic Fund

A $1,000 scholarship fund has been established at the medical school of Northwestern university by officers and nurses of the 22d General hospital, serving overseas, to help finance the medical education of World War II. veterans, the school disclosed yesterday. The money was sent by Col. D. J. Fourrier, commanding officer of the hospital, and the scholarship will be awarded by the dean of the medical school.

WILEY PROPOSES DIES COMMITTEE IN THE SENATE

Washington, D. C., Aug. 1—A senate counterpart of the house committee on un-American activities, formerly known as the Dies committee, was proposed today by Sen. Wiley [R., Wis.].

He introduced a resolution to create a "senate committee to promote American activities" and explained to the senate the committee's main function would be "to ferret out the unAmerican moles who have been boring from within the structure of American life."

Wiley's proposal was made during a debate over Harry Bridges in which Sen. Stewart [D., Tenn.] told the senate that failure to deport the west coast labor leader is a shameful indictment of the American processes of government. Stewart attacked Bridges as a Communist. Sen. Downey [D., Cal.] retorted that Bridges' loyalty to his union has never slackened.

"But his loyalty to this government has!" Stewart shot back. The United States Supreme court recently invalidated an order that Bridges be deported.

Two Yanks from Chicago and Joliet Receive Stars

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

ROUEN, France, Aug. 1—Lt. Frederick M. Hoffman, 7218 N. Damen av., Chicago, Ill., has been awarded the bronze star medal for heroic conduct with the 340th field artillery in Germany on March 15. Sgt. John H. Nussle, 20 Fairbanks av., Joliet, Ill., also has been awarded the bronze star medal. While leading a six man patrol in Germany April 14, he captured a German officer and an enlisted man. He persuaded the officer to order the surrender of four other officers and 65 enlisted men.

KEEP AIR FORCE READY IN PEACE, ARNOLD ASKS

New York, Aug. 1 (AP)—Gen. Arnold, commander in chief of the army air forces, said tonight the future of America may depend on maintaining an air force capable of "inflicting instant deadly blows at the heart of an aggressor anywhere in the world."

"Surely we must face the fact that a true love of peace is not enough for decent peoples of the world to count on," Arnold said. "We must maintain the strength to enforce that peace."

Offers Five Point Program

In remarks prepared for a dinner celebrating the 38th anniversary of the air force, Arnold urged this five point national air policy:

"1. We must have in being preeminent air forces able to handle any eventuality that arises.

"2. We must have within the air forces trained personnel adequate for rapid expansion.

"3. We must have adequate research and development so that our equipment will be the best in the world.

"4. We must have a strong industry also capable of rapid expansion to produce enough of the best possible equipment in the shortest time.

"5. We must have bases—strategic springboards from which we can operate effectively."

Arnold warned against public apathy which he said "is bound to come" when Japan finally is defeated.

Warns of Mainland Attack

A 55,000 mile tour he has just completed, Arnold said, gave him a picture of the "charred and ruined cities of Europe, people who have almost lost civilization, children whose gaunt faces and rickety bodies portend a poor and sorry race.

"What appals me is that with the shrinking of the world brought by air power the future possibility exists that this may come to our own America.

"The next sneak attack may not come 2,000 miles from our shores. It may be centralized on Michigan boulevard, Biscayne blvd., Sunset blvd., or on main st. in your home town."

Refrigerator Explosion Routs Hotel Residents

Explosion of a refrigerator in an apartment on the seventh floor of the Park Dearborn hotel, 1260 N. Dearborn pkwy., last night drove residents of the building in confusion to the street but caused no injuries. The manager of the building said no one was in the apartment at the time of the explosion.

BIG THREE FINISH PARLEY; REPORT DUE TOMORROW

World Capitals to Flash Their Decisions

sion. The three chiefs of state sat directly in front of the flags of their respective nations. Not more than 40 persons were present in the conference room for the finale.

The interpreters were kept busy translating from English to Russian and vice versa during the final two-hour session.

Correspondents Barred

More than 100 newspaper correspondents here were not permitted to attend the final talks, or any other session for that matter, and had to rely on the report of an eyewitness.

Various reasons were given for the delay in giving out the final bulletin on the conference which may affect the welfare of many millions in the war torn world. One was to permit Stalin to reach Moscow ahead of the news. Another was to permit polishing up of the statement in epic language for history.

President Truman who will fly to England tomorrow for a brief visit with King George VI, may be on the high seas aboard the cruiser Augusta when the statement is released to the world. Attlee, in all probability, will be back in London.

Continuation of Yalta

POTSDAM, Germany, Aug. 2 [Thursday]—(AP)—The full score of what the Big Three accomplished during their 12 protracted business sessions may not be disclosed for a considerable time—perhaps not before a decisive turn is reached in the Japanese war.

In that respect the Potsdam talks may be akin in tone to those at Tehran two years ago, where the coordinated blows from east and west against Germany were agreed upon.

For affairs of the European continent and the Mediterranean, the Potsdam conference represented a direct continuation of the discussions at Yalta last February, altho President Roosevelt's death and Prime Minister Churchill's political defeat had left Stalin the only survivor of the original Big Three.

Stalin, by lending the prestige of his physical presence to the Truman-Churchill-Chiang Kai-shek ultimatum from Potsdam to Japan and by consenting to the disclosure that he had talked in the palace here to Adm. Mountbatten, Britain's highest commander in the far eastern struggle, gave strength to the widespread belief he was actually coordinating soviet military forces with those of the United States.

That development would not surprise the Japanese, who desperately fear Russia's next move.

The best clues available seemed to show that the conference overturned nothing which Stalin gained last February at Yalta.

There was no authoritative denial yet that Germany's reparations in kind had been fixed as long ago as Yalta at $20,000,000,000—split 10 billions to Russia, four each to the United States and Britain, and two for the smaller nations despoiled by the Nazis.

Mediterranian Problems

The Mediterranean, a sea of argumentative questions which the Big Three avoided in war time by drawing a demarcation line for soviet forces north of its shores, was perhaps the second most important section oft he agenda.

Few observers expected that the Mediterranean problems could be neatly wrapped up at one Big Three meeting. But with France the three major powers will discuss soon what to do with Tangier. As for the Dardanelles, the Turkish-held key to soviet dominated Black sea, a conference solution may possibly be communicated to Ankara within a few days.

GILLETTE TAKES LEADERSHIP OF HEBREW DRIVE

Ex-Senator to Seek Free Palestine

Washington, D. C., Aug. 1 (AP)—Guy M. Gillette, newly appointed president of the American League for a Free Palestine, today called on allied nations to recognize the Hebrews of Europe and Palestine as a member nation of the new world security organization.

Appointment of Gillette as president of the league and as chief political adviser to the Hebrew committee of national liberation was announced earlier today. The former senator and former surplus property board chairman will receive a $10,000 annual salary.

Refused New U. S. Post

At a news conference this afternoon, Gillette, a Democrat, said he had declined President Truman's offers of another government position and had decided instead to aid in seeking a solution of the Hebrew problem in Europe and Palestine. He said he considers it "an urgent problem of the united nations and of a decent portion of mankind."

Gillette drew a distinction between the Jewish religion and the Hebrew nation, defining Hebrews as those people who wish to be nationals of the Hebrew state, "whose national territory is Palestine," and who have no other citizenship.

Sen. Capper [R., Kansas] and Peter Berson, head of the Hebrew committee, joined Gillette in the news conference. Gillette said he hoped Capper would associate himself with the organization.

Asks Prisoners Be Freed

Gillette urged the freeing of all Hebrews from axis concentration camps where "hundreds of thousands of them are still retained," and said occupation authorities should recognize a commission of those Hebrews and charge them with handling all Hebrew affairs.

DRIVER HANGS ON TREE TO SAVE SELF IN FLOOD

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 1 (AP)—A 75 year old motorist, caught in a flash flood in near-by Delaware county, saved himself today by clinging four hours to tree limbs a few feet above raging waters which covered his automobile.

Jacob Carter of Fort Washington, Pa., a grocery salesman, watched several rescue attempts by volunteers fail before firemen reached him in a rowboat.

The Chester creek, normally 50 feet wide, spread to 500 feet and flooded cottages and farmhouses along its route. The water started receding late today.

Ideal Weather

Chicagoans would have had difficulty this year in finding a better climate for their vacations than right here at home, O. T. Lay, meteorologist in charge of the weather bureau office, said yesterday.

Reviewing the first seven months of the year, he said that altho January arrived with a cold spell, most of February, all of March, and part of April were unusually mild, while other sections of the country experienced rigorous weather. The latter part of April, most of May, much of June and most of July had temperatures below normal, which Lay described as typical north woods weather, ideal for vacationers.

LUCAS PROPOSES CHICAGO AS SEAT OF NEW LEAGUE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 1—Sen. Lucas [D., Ill.] proposed today that Chicago be chosen as permanent headquarters of the new league of nations.

Emphasizing the convenient location of Chicago, Lucas said Chicago is today the world's great railroad and highway center and that tomorrow it will be the world's greatest air transportation center. He also told the senate that Chicago's great universities, libraries, and institutions of science offer unparalleled facilities for cultural studies in the promotion of world peace.

Lucas' proposal was in the form of a resolution that it be announced as the wish of congress that Chicago be designated as the league headquarters. It was referred to the foreign relations committee for consideration when congress returns to work in October.

ZIONIST ASKS BIG 3 FAVOR FOR JEWISH STATE

LONDON, Aug. 1 (AP)—Dr. Chaim Weizmann, president of the World Zionist organization, today called upon the Big Three at Potsdam to endorse the establishment of Palestine as a Jewish state and declared, "The need is imperative—we cannot wait."

In an address prepared for the opening of the World Zionist conference in London today, the 70 year old Zionist leader asserted that the establishment of a Jewish homeland and the immediate admission of hundreds of thousands of displaced European Jews to Palestine was "one of the fruits of victory" which the Jews had earned by their contribution to the allied victory in the European war.

Yet it may be necessary if the shortage of Old Poindexter continues.

Don't blame the barman or the proprietor for not having Old Poindexter on hand at all times. They are putting in their orders. We are doing our best to fill them. But this huge and embarrassing demand shouldn't happen to a little distillery.

The difficulty can be traced to the 40% small grains—jug yeast—low temperature fermentation—and the sour mash process. These ingredients and methods give Old Poindexter a different flavor—which too many people like.

There never was enough Old Poindexter to go 'round. But the shortage is now worse than ever before—so we appreciate your patience.

MP'S APPLAUD CHURCHILL AND SING 'RED FLAG'

War Premier Becomes Opposition Leader

BY JAMES SLOAN
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

LONDON, Aug. 1—Britain's first parliament to be elected in 10 years and the first to have an absolute Labor party majority convened today to the accompaniment of singing from the government benches of "The Red Flag," British Labor's version of the Russian Internationale.

Ancient formalities and traditions were forgotten by new Labor members and Conservatives alike in the noisy opening session.

As Winston Churchill, no longer prime minister, entered the house and took his seat for the first time on the opposition bench he was greeted by cheers from fellow Conservatives who number only 195 against 358 before the election last month. The Tories began to sing "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow" in Churchill's honor.

Laborites Sound Forth

A few minutes of this was too much for the Laborites, and soon all 388 of them, who have moved to the government side of the house from the opposition benches where only 163 sat until June 15, launched into "The Red Flag."

The hallowed rafters of the house of lords, in which commons has been meeting since it was bombed out in May, 1940, rang and echoed to the strains of the popular revolutionary song frequently sung at international labor gatherings. The Conservatives looked on aghast as the fledgling Laborites demanded musically that "Britons arise, cast off the shackles of capitalism," which is part of the marching song of socialism adopted by the British Labor party after it had been popularized by the Communists.

It was not the first time "The Red Flag" had been sung in commons, but it was the first time it had come from the government benches. The only previous occasion on which it has been sung in commons was in 1936 after some much criticized regulations had been dropped.

Speaker Reelected

After the house quieted down it proceeded with the only business of the day—the election of a speaker—since it was the absence of any one in authority which had allowed the MP's to get away with the impromptu songfest.

Both Laborites and Conservatives joined ranks in reelecting Col. Clifton Brown, a Conservative. Brown said he was not quite sure whether he was becoming chairman of the house of commons or director of a musical show.

The house is expected to spend three days in administering oaths and completing organizational details and then adjourn until Aug. 15 when King George VI. will outline the Labor program in his speech to parliament.

Bad Weather Cancels 8th Air Force Show in Europe

LONDON, Aug. 1 (AP)—Bad weather forced cancelation today of the plans of the United States 8th air force to stage maneuvers over London and over the continent in celebration of United States Army Air Forces day, 38th anniversary of their founding.

[TRIBUNE Photo]

Mrs. Genevieve Digmin (left) and Mrs. Frances Digmin in court.

Arthur E. Digmin

Arthur E. Digmin, 40, of 500 W. 37th st., a truck driver, conceded yesterday that the first rule a man with two wives should observe is never let them get 'together—especially in a court room.

Digmin's observation was made in his cell at the county jail where he was charged with bigamy. He was arrested by deputy sheriffs in the Circuit court of Judge Denis Normoyle where wife No. 2, Frances, 38, of the 37th st. address, had a divorce bill pending.

But wife No. 1, Genevieve of Milwaukee, had heard about the hearing and had come down from Milwaukee to see what happened. Digmin was unaware of her presence until Frances' attorney, Benjamin H. Vandervelt, told the court:

"We have a divorce suit pending against this man, charging adultery. We know now that he is a bigamist, and his first wife is right here in the courtroom." Genevieve, when asked by Judge Normoyle what was Digmin's great attraction, said:

"I think it's because he's such a big liar."

12 DIE IN CRASH OF AIRLINER IN CENTRAL MEXICO

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 1 (AP)—Twelve persons were killed today when an airliner en route from Mexico City to Nogales, on the Arizona border, crashed in the state of San Luis Potosi, central Mexico.

The dead were listed as Theodore Simons, Jesus Vargas, Constantino Celorio, Ralph Hopey, Ramiro Valles, Francisco Wolf, Fritz Burch, Carlos Valencia, and Carlos Rojas, passengers; C. Hinojosa, pilot; R. Paniagua, co-pilot, and Miss S. Rangel, stewardess.

The operating company, Lamsa [Lineas Aereas de Mexico, S. A.] reported Simons was a U. S. mining engineer who had lived in Mexico many years. There was no information about the other victims.

PRISONER FREED ON WRIT; CALL TRIAL TRAVESTY

Albert Velasco, 35, a Mexican, who was convicted June 23, 1931, of the murder of Juvencio Orta in South Chicago, and sentenced to 45 years in Stateville penitentiary, was released yesterday on a writ of habeas corpus by Federal Judge Elwyn R. Shaw, who described the conviction as a travesty on justice. Velasco said he did not speak English in 1931, and when he was taken to Criminal court he thought it was just an arraignment, not a trial. United States deputy marshals arrested Velasco yesterday on a deportation warrant charging him with illegal entry into the country.

LABORITES SET TO NATIONALIZE ENGLAND BANK

LONDON, Aug. 1 (AP)—In a frank discussion of social and economic reform planned by the new British labor government, Prof. Harold J. Laski, one of the party's chief intellectuals, asserted today that the people had come into power and intended to benefit by it.

Labor's sweeping victory in the general election, Laski said in an interview, held as much economic and social significance as emergence of the middle class in England in the 1830s.

He said public ownership of the ancient Bank of England was the "key" to the Labor party's nationalization program and that legislation would be proposed at once to take it over. He said the party then would proceed with the nationalization of coal mines, all forms of inland transport, and the iron and steel industry.

Executive Committee Chief

Laski spoke with authority, for he is chairman of the party's national executive committee, an influential body which shapes the policy of the Laborites and will have a persuasive voice in development of its legislative program.

He said the Labor party abhorred any system of government "in which a small class, living by privilege, tries to exploit, as in Spain it has exploited for centuries, the mass of the community.

"We believe the masses in any community are entitled to an equal share in the gain as well as in the toil of living."

"If I may be irreverent for a moment," he added with a smile, "England was conquered twice in its history—once by William the Norman in 1066 and again by Montagu the Norman in 1931." The latter reference was to the crisis which caused the downfall of the last British Labor government when Montagu Collet Norman was governor of the Bank of England.

Monument to F. D. R.

"In the fullest sense," he asserted, "we are trying to fulfill the four freedoms—and in fulfilling them we hope Americans will regard it as our monument to Franklin Delano Roosevelt."

"This is the arrival of the people in power," said Laski, a professor of political science in the University of London since 1926 and a former lecturer at Yale and Harvard universities in America. "We are now prepared to give the little man—within the framework of the British constitution—all the progressive chance that he requires."

Regarding Britain's foreign policy he said:

"Our first great task is the utter defeat of the Japanese. Before the most pressing of our domestic problems we intend to fulfill our maximum obligations in the far east."

Stock Prices Break

Referring to Europe, particularly Spain, he added:

"We don't believe democracy and fascism can live side by side in our interdependent world and we don't think democracy is compatible with absolute monarchies."

[London stock prices break after Laski states intention to nationalize Bank of England. Story on page 25.]

SWISS MACHINES AMAZE GIs MORE THAN SCENERY

Spotless Towns Also Impress Yanks

BY P. E. BRIQUET
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

CHIASSO, Switzerland, Aug. 1—American soldiers, now seen everywhere in Switzerland as they tour the country on furloughs, are well behaved, and do not have much to say.

Surprised at Swiss technical achievements, the Americans seem more interested in the country's railways and electrical plants than in its natural beauties.

"The mountains, lakes, and waterfalls were always here," said one soldier. "What you have done with your natural resources is far more interesting than the dead ice of your glaciers or the huge, vertical, rocky slopes, which always give me an uneasy feeling when I look at them."

The Jungfrau railway impresses them more than the imposing mountain peak, and there is general surprise at the sight of mountain climbers with picks, ropes, and rucksacks when railways are available.

Everything Spic and Span

The Americans are amazed at the cleanliness of Swiss homes, villages, and streets. One soldier confessed, "I don't dare throw away a burnt cigaret stub in the street," and another said, "I looked around first to see that no one was looking before I threw an empty cigaret package in a clean, bright street." Admiration is shown for the rows of geraniums in the windows of chalets in the Bernese Oberland.

Comparisons with America are natural and frequent. They want to know whether the Chain Store Buyers association is on a cantonal or a national scale, and they compare Swiss and American railway rates. They seem generally to miss the yodeling quartets about which they had heard so much and show some surprise not to find them on every street corner. The Swiss people are glad to learn that the Americans all know about William Tell. Many of them have read Johanna Spyri's children's novel, "Heidi," and they want to know where the story was laid.

Drinks Not Cold Enough

The Americans seem to miss fresh milk, which is so abundant in America and which is now strictly rationed in this country, and they find that lemonade, beer, and other light drinks are not cold enough.

There are complaints that the daily allowance of Swiss money is not sufficient, and some of the more clever of them acquire a little extra change by selling various articles. They must be reminded constantly to be careful with expenses on the first day of their trip.

SENATE QUITS AFTER BARKLEY PATS IT ON BACK

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 1 — A weary senate adjourned for a summer vacation until Oct. 8 at 9:09 o'clock tonight after nine hours and nine minutes of last day oratory. The house adjourned on July 21, to return when the senate does.

Majority Leader Barkley [D., Ky.] pointed with some pride to the senate's accomplishments, including ratification of the new league of nations charter and passage of legislation to pour out global billions thru the world bank and international monetary fund.

But he confessed that the Democratic leadership had left much undone in planning for reconversion of the nation to a peace time economy.

Outlines Program

The majority leader outlined a comprehensive program of legislation to be undertaken when the senate returns in what some said was a reply to the revolt threatened yesterday by arch New Deal senators who are proposing a government economic program more sweeping even than that envisioned by the late President Roosevelt.

Barkley heard from Sen. Stewart [D., Tenn.], nevertheless, a warning that the administration faces a scandal dwarfing even the Teapot Dome disclosures unless it acts at once to control the sale of the nation's 100 billion dollars' worth of surplus war property.

And from the Republican side, Sen. Taft [O.] administered a stern rebuke for the administration's failure to provide for Philippine relief before adjourning, in view of its enthusiasm for taking care of the rest of the world.

Japs Placed First

Barkley said the first task is to defeat Japan. The legislative program he outlined included provision for full employment, government aid to business to provide more jobs, a housing program, and broadening of the social security law. He promised the earliest possible reduction of income taxes and action toward reorganizing the executive branch of the government.

Observers said Barkley's enthusiasm for social and economic changes came in part from the leftist trend of the British government. But they doubted his program went far enough to please Sen. Pepper [D., Fla.] and others who are planning to use pending legislation to out-New Deal the original New Deal.

Insiders say Pepper and his associates are dreaming of using the rather vague proposals of the full employment bill and related legislation to create an "economic council" of hitherto undreamed power. The council would be composed of labor, agricultural, and industrial "advisers," who would work for higher wages and various social welfare projects based upon government lending and grants.

Parole Violators Escape Illinois Training School

Search was made yesterday for William Harp, 17, of Decatur, and Harry Pappas, 17, of Moline, who escaped during Tuesday night's storm from the Illinois State Training School for Boys near St. Charles. Both were parole violators and were inmates of the Cleveland cottage. Harp, committed in June, 1940, for burglary, was paroled last February and returned a week ago. Pappas, committed in January, 1941, also for burglary, was brought back to the school last spring for violation of parole in 1942.

6,000,000 TONS OF COAL; WHO IN EUROPE GETS IT?

AMG in Berlin Hints U. S. May Supply Soviets

BY HENRY WALES
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

BERLIN, Aug. 1—The United States army military government officers in this area are baffled over reports that Secretary Ickes estimates Europe will need 6,000,000 tons of American coal this winter. Officials cognizant of the requirements of the European nations cannot reconcile Ickes' stupendous figures with the needs of the war ravaged countries and can only speculate that he intends to send a large part of the fuel to Russia and, maybe, to England.

Norway and Denmark probably will require a share of the overseas coal shipments, it is believed, but their requirements are estimated to be perhaps 100,000 tons monthly, while the remainder of Europe will pretty nearly take care of itself by a judicious allocation of the visible supplies on the continent unless the soviets ship coal to Russia from their sphere of occupation and the British send Ruhr coal to the United Kingdom because of strikes at home.

Allied Action Held Key

Germany, which is considered by the experts as the real problem this winter, can be supplied without any foreign supplements if the Russian, British, French, and United States occupation authorities coöperate and pool production and supplies in their areas for common distribution, officers assert.

Altho the amount of coal and other fuel this winter will be far below normal over all Europe, the demand will be greatly curtailed because war time requirements have been eliminated, with normal manufacturing reduced to the barest minimum. Moreover, the enormous consumption required for luxuries, amusement establishments, and other unnecessary items, such as street lighting, will be suppressed.

The Netherlands and Belgium are considered able to provide their own fuel and power but France will need to import coal, as she did during peace time. Italy is expected to need outside fuel again and there will be small demands from the Balkans.

Berlin Biggest Problem

Berlin, with 3,500,000 population and the most bomb and shell shattered city, presents the most serious problem.

Col. Walker Cisler, Detroit, Mich., handling the problem for United States group control commission headquarters, said:

"We estimate that Berlin requires a minimum of 3,600 tons of coal daily at present, and this will increase as the days shorten and cold weather adds to heating and illuminating requirements.

"Fuel and electricity will be necessary to operate transport—subways, street cars, suburban railways and buses, a sewage disposal, the water supply, and to furnish lighting and cooking gas. No allocation has been made yet to resume telephone service. Certain small industries and businesses must function, such as oakeries, eating houses, tailors, and shoe makers and repairers. Since mainline railway transportation is crippled, we seek to fetch the most possible electricity to Berlin over the power lines. Already the German network is being repaired rapidly and current is reaching the city from Austria, Bavaria, and even the Rhine and Switzerland by way of Basel, Switzerland.

"The British are sending power developed from Ruhr coal in the Knapsack plant southwest of Cologne, the largest power plant in Germany. The nation's second largest plant, the Zchornewitz, north of Leipzig, in the Russian zone, consumed lignite brown coal and is ready to function.
ready to function."

THIS DAY IN HISTORY

Aug. 2—A New Era on the Mississippi

St. Louis, Mo., saw its first steamboat, the Zebulon M. Pike, on Aug. 2, 1817. The date is a convenient one by which to fix the beginning of the great steamboating era on the Mississippi river and its tributaries.

This era was to provide American literature and folklore with some of its richest content and was to see the middle west make giant strides toward its present position as a populous and wealthy empire.

The St. Louisans who gathered to welcome the little 37 ton Pike on that summer day 128 years ago today were to be succeeded as the decades passed by other and larger crowds who flocked to the river banks by the thousands to witness the arrival of the sumptuous 500 ton river boats of the 1840s and 1850s.

Both the rich river cities and the luxury starved little towns came to know the lure of the steamboat and the excitement of hearing a whistle around the bend. People would come down to gape at a dazzling white vessel as ornate as a wedding cake, as it passed majestically down the stream or eased in to a landing. This was the era of which the minstrels sang and of which Mark Twain wrote.

On the practical side, too, the influence of the weird, fire breathing new monsters was tremendous. As water communications became easy and quick, people poured into the almost roadless west and trade thrived. In 1810, a year before steam made its first appearance on the Mississippi and seven years before the Pike ventured north of the Ohio's mouth, a trip by flatboat from New Orleans to St. Louis took four months. By 1860 steamboats were making the run in four days.

During a one year period just before the Civil war New Orleans reported 3,245 steamboat arrivals from river ports. Value of goods received and dispatched was $289,565,000. The war and the later competition of railroads ended the great steamboat era.

MINERS, WOMAN DOCTOR 'STRIKE' OVER TOWN FILTH

Force, Pa., Aug. 1 (AP)—Slim, blonde Dr. Elizabeth Hayes, who caused a furore by resigning as company physician for the Shawmut Mining company because of "intolerable" sanitary conditions, said today she wants to leave "as soon as I can."

Dr. Elizabeth Hayes.

Her rugs' already rolled up, the best dishes crated, and the walls denuded of pictures and hangings, the 33 year old physician declared:

"There is not one factor here that constitutes a community. There is no good water supply, no sewage, no passable streets, street lights, presentable homes, or local government. I want to live under decent conditions or get out."

Three Hundred Miners Strike

Meanwhile 350 miners who walked out three weeks ago because they refused to work without a company doctor prepared to hold out as long as necessary. Dr. Hayes resigned last April, effective July 15, when the miners quit.

William Agustine, father of four sons and member of a special miners' committee, asserted:

"We'll hold out as long as we have to—until the company either fixes sanitary conditions so we can get a doctor or gives us a release so we can leave."

Miner Threatens to Move

Husky Norman Winkler added, "We'll wait the 60 days and then move out if they don't fix things."

In Harrisburg, state health authorities announced the company had agreed to clean up outdoor toilets, contaminated ground, and leaking wells.

MILLIONS IN SILVER FOUND SPREAD OVER MANILA BAY'S BOTTOM

MANILA, P. I., Aug. 1 (AP)—Army and navy divers are retrieving $8,500,000 in Philippines government silver sunk in Manila bay in 1942 to keep it from the Japanese. They are finding it in scattered piles rather than neatly packed in boxes as they expected. The crates deteriorated in their three years in the bay and broke open, the salvage officer disclosed today. Fifteen divers are on the job, which will require five or six months more.

PREMIER SAYS BULGARIA SEEKS TIES WITH U. S.

MOSCOW, Aug. 1 (AP)—Premier Kimon Georgiev of Bulgaria declared in an election campaign speech that "Bulgaria is trying to hasten the establishment of normal diplomatic relations with the great American power," a Tass dispatch from Sofia said today.

"We are animated by a similar desire toward Great Britain," the premier was quoted as saying. The agency report said Georgiev outlined his country's aims as "unbreakable sacred friendship" with Russia, and "close rapprochement with our big brother Yugoslavia."

"Regretfully, we have no kind of contacts with Greece," the premier said. He added: "Our relations with Turkey are good-neighborly, altho some Turkish newspapers continue to attack us."

WARSAW CALLS ON ALL POLES TO COME HOME

LONDON, Aug. 1 (AP)—The new Polish government, in a broadcast from Warsaw, asked all Polish citizens now abroad to come home at once and said Poles who fought in the war would be "accepted and admired as heroes."

"Now that a government has been formed that is recognized as the legal representative of the Polish republic by all major powers, every Pole, for whom the most important thing is the future of his country, must submit himself to the only legal government," the broadcast said.

8 to Die, 7 Get Prison in Turkish Spy Trial

ISTANBUL, Turkey, Aug. 1 (AP)—A court martial today condemned to death 15 persons accused of acting as German spies in Turkish Thrace. Seven of the death sentences were commuted to prison terms because of the ages of the defendants.

WOMAN ROBBED OF $2,350 CASH, GEMS IN STREET

Mrs. Bertha Beck, 1380 Hyde Park blvd., told Pekin police last night that she threw her purse, containing jewelry, cash, and checks totaling $2,350, to a Negro who threatened her with a knife in front of 2926 Lake Park av.

Mrs. Beck was on her way home from Michael Reese hospital, where she had visited her son, Dr. Charles A. Beck, a physician there. After the holdup she returned to the hospital where she was given a sedative.

She told police the purse contained $475 cash, a diamond and ruby dinner ring, two watches, a pen and pencil set, two plain gold rings, and two checks totaling $72.

Factory Town Blasted; Czech Troops Called

PRAGUE, July 31 [Delayed]—(AP)—Troops of the Prague garrison were ordered to the Aussig region today after mysterious explosions and fires that police said may have been a Nazi werewolf sabotage exploit. Part of a factory town was wrecked. Many persons were reported to have perished in the fires, which from late afternoon to midnight burned uncontrolled in the Aussig suburb of Krasneo Brezno, about 50 miles north of Prague.

Hard of Hearing— I can predict your future!

If you are beginning to lose your hearing, I can predict your future. I know, because I've seen it actually happen to thousands of hard-of hearing persons. Here is my prediction:

If you are beginning to lose your hearing, you will start by not admitting it, by refusing to face the fact that you are actually getting hard-of-hearing.

Next, your family and friends will notice your trouble, and finally someone brave enough will mention it to you.

Next, you will worry about your condition, but hope that it will clear up and your good hearing return.

Next, you will begin avoiding social contacts, because deafness makes a person act (and realize that he acts) stupid or mentally deficient.

Then, other folks will catch on that you are trying to avoid them and they will avoid you, too.

Finally, you will make mistakes in your work which will cause you to lose confidence in yourself and your ability.

This is the future I can predict if you are losing your hearing and refusing to admit there is anything you can do about it.

I can show you how it may be possible for you to avoid this kind of a future by a few simple steps. I will be happy to write you and tell you what thousands of hard-of-hearing folks have done to assure themselves a happier, brighter future, to live free from strain, and to gain success and happiness in life. Address Mr. Louis Ballin, 6 No. Michigan Avenue, Suite 1602, Chicago, Ill., or Phone CEN. 0740.

NO RATION POINTS . . . BUT SOME OTHER POINTS ON EGGS

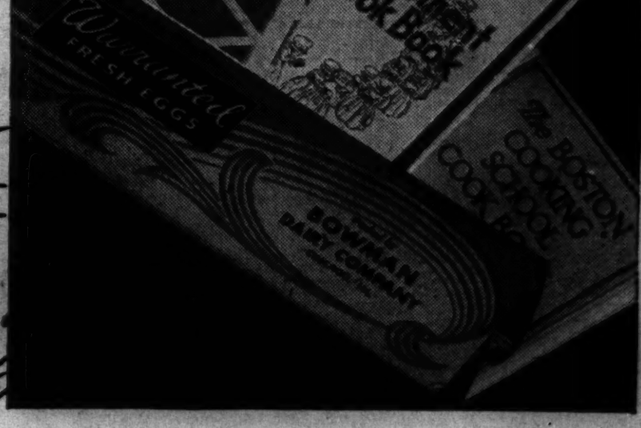
YOURS SINCERELY,
Bud Bowman

WHEN YOU GOTTA stretch ration points, you gotta. But we suspect there are thousands of Chicagoland families who do it—and don't mind too much. Seems that the word's gone 'round that bee-yoo-tiful white Bowman Eggs make wonderful eating come breakfast, lunch, or dinner.

FRANKLY, it's a good idea—feeding the family lots of eggs. Eggs are a splendid, healthful protein food, rich in minerals and vitamins. (Especially ours! 'Cause hens who lay eggs for Bowman get special rich rations.) But anybody'd get tired of eggs—even delicious Bowman Eggs—if they're served the same old way all the time!

SO I'M TAKIN' THE STUMP to get homemakers to dig around in recipe books for more exciting ways to fix eggs for dinner! How about a Souffle—it's light and fluffy and tempting for a change. And Baked Eggs—golden yolks nestling in a froth of stiffly beaten whites. Serve with cheese-flavored white sauce!

MAKES MY MOUTH WATER—when I think what a bright gal can do with eggs, eggs, and more eggs! Bowman Eggs, in particular. For the fine-tasting flavor of Bowman Eggs is just as important as the right pinch o'salt in a prize recipe. They're mild, delicious, and country-fresh tasting! You'll like 'em, I know.



FRESH! THEY'RE EVEN KEPT IN ICED COMPARTMENTS WHILE BEIN' DELIVERED TO YOUR DOOR.

GHOSTS GONE AS CONGRESS HOTEL OPENS

Flavor of Great Past Has Vanished

BY RITA FITZPATRICK

The Congress hotel, once a famous gathering place of statesmen and opera stars, opened again yesterday after three years. The army occupied it from July 30, 1942, to June 30, 1943. A thoro job of modernization has converted it into an up to date hotel and the old flavor of another age is gone. Even the ghosts of its noted Peacock alley are gone.

Only the lobby with its fine Carrara marble imported from Italy in 1893 and the stately ballroom with its muraled ceiling bring back memories of the gracious years. Otherwise the hotel has been completely modernized at an expense of $1,400,000.

Fine Furnishings Gone

Five hundred rooms in the modern manner are ready for occupancy. Severe, striped drapes frame the big, old windows, and bright slip covered chairs take the place of the fine, tapestried 18th century pieces. It is hard to envision that here in these rooms some of the great political schemes of the nation were hatched in the blue smoke of expensive cigars.

The names of the old rooms have been retained, but the Pompeian room now boasts a smoked glass wall and startling modern murals. To complete the 1945 touch, no stringed instruments will furnish mellow music for the diners. A radio will suffice.

Aristocrat of Hotels

The Congress, built in the fabulous years of the Columbian exposition, was originally an annex to the then famous Auditorium hotel across the street. A marble tunnel connecting the two hotels was the original Peacock alley. When the Congress became a hotel in its own right, another Peacock alley, which became even more famous, was constructed. Here walked famous persons from all over the world.

The Congress became the aristocrat of hotels. Statesmen and opera stars gave its elegancy authenticity. Grover Cleveland was the first President to occupy the Presidential suite on the 14th floor. Thereafter, it became the Chicago home of Theodore Roosevelt, William Howard Taft, Warren G. Harding, Woodrow Wilson, Herbert Hoover, and Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Home of Opera Stars

Great opera stars made it their headquarters. Familiar faces were those of Enrico Caruso, Mary Garden, Johanna Gadski, Ernestine Schumann-Heink, Lucien Muratore, and his wife, Lina Cavalieri. One of the last guests to leave the hotel before the army took it over was Rosa Raisa.

The government took over the hotel as an army air force radio school.

5 DAY WOOING BY B-29 GUNNER WINS FIANCEE

Miss Jeanne Schoenbeck, 19, of 6255 Sheridan rd. and Sgt. Truman Vines, 21, of Comanche, Tex., at a dinner given in the Edgewater Beach hotel for a B-29 bomber crew, yesterday announced their engagement after a five day courtship.

Sgt. Vines is a veteran of 30 missions over Japan and a gunner in the Super Fortress Thumper. He wears the distinguished flying cross, the air medal with three clusters, the Purple Heart, the Asiatic-Pacific theater ribbon with three battle stars, the Presidential citation ribbon. Miss Schoenbeck is a daughter of Mrs. Amanda Schoenbeck.

"It must have been love at first sight," the sergeant said. "I think she's the sweetest girl in the world."

INDIANA HERO HONORED WHILE THOUGHT DEAD

Miami Beach, Fla., Aug. 1 (AP)—The war department said today that the congressional medal of honor was awarded Staff Sgt. Thomas E. McCall, 29, of Attica, Ind., while he was a prisoner of war in Germany.

Army public relations, in a release yesterday, said that "thinking McCall dead instead of captured," the medal had been "posthumously" awarded him.

The medal was received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard E. McCall, while he was in custody of the Germans.

William G. Burns Heads Legion County Council

William G. Burns, retiring vice commander of the Cook county council of the American Legion, was elected county commander at the 19th annual meeting in the city hall council chambers last night, succeeding John S. Cusack. William H. Kroll was elected vice commander and Harry R. McNamara was reelected council finance officer. William Murray of the 7th district was named to a five year term on the ways and means committee. The council membership passed 57,000 for the first time last month.

U. S. TROOPS FED AND PACKED LIKE CATTLE ON SHIP

BY SEYMOUR KORMAN

[Tribune correspondent who has just returned to the United States with troops of the 7th army.]

One GI called her the U. S. S. Black Hole of Calcutta.

"Her" is the Mount Vernon, formerly the liner Washington and now one of our largest troopships. The name with unhappy historical significance was tied to her on her 10 day voyage from Naples, Italy, to Newport News, Virginia. The Mount Vernon anchored at Newport News late in July with more than 6,000 veterans of the Italian campaign, including 700 wounded.

During the voyage across the Mediterranean, thru the straits of Gibraltar and then across the Atlantic, the army men and most of the junior officers being brought home lived in sordid steerage conditions. They slept, or tried to sleep, in overcrowded, hot, insufficiently ventilated compartments on four tiered rows of bunks. Some didn't even have bunks and had to line up each evening to get mattresses to spread on an enclosed deck.

Little Water, Poor Food

Tap water was on for only a few hours a day until the day before landing. The food was of inferior quality, not well cooked, and was literally thrown on to the men's mess kits by the navy kitchen staff.

The junior officers in steerage—as a correspondent with the simulated rank of captain I was classified in that group—had one advantage over the enlisted men. We were allowed the freedom of the decks; the men had to stay in their compartments or on one specific expanse of deck. The smell from tired, insufficiently washed bodies was frequently overpowering.

The senior army troop control officer aboard was Lt. Col. John Hess Jr., who has spent much of the war at the port of Boston. He and other senior army officers and some fortunate junior officers had stateroom accommodations. The navy officers, of course, had their usual commodious quarters. These groups had only one discomfort in common with the steerage passengers—when the tap water was off in steerage, it was off thruout the ship, except in the sick bay.

Quarters Sealed Off

"We realize, of course," one soldier told me, "that there aren't enough stateroom accommodations to go around and it's expected that the higher ranking officers will get them. But they didn't have to overcrowd this ship the way they did. And they didn't have to seal off our quarters against the night air, allowing only a few portholes open for hundreds of men.

"And why couldn't they give us more space on deck? And the food! We had fought the war and we were on our way home and we had been told we would have the best of food."

A few times during the voyage the steerage passengers had eggs for breakfast. Most of the time it was beans. In the wardroom mess and in the troop control mess for higher ranking army officers there were fresh eggs each morning. The latter messes had fruit juices and good coffee at breakfast; the steerage mess had no fruit juice and the coffee was weak and unpalatable.

Chops to Stew

For other meals the wardroom and troop control diners had such courses as chops, chicken, and turkey, and sundaes for dessert. The usual fare in steerage was stringy stew. When there was turkey once, the portions were minute. Dessert was usually a splashing of fruit salad.

The wardroom and the troop control messes were clean and well ventilated and smoking was allowed. The steerage mess was a sweatbox; no smoking was permitted.

"I've been in combat a' long time," a junior officer said, "and I've never had to eat food like this. Even with a forward company, under fire, our mess was a hundred times better than this. And we officers took pride in our men eating just as well as we did.

"Coming Home Sick"

"I was feeling fine when I came aboard this ship. But, now, after having had to bolt down my food so that I could get out of the hothouse and on to deck in a hurry, I'm coming home sick."

Salt water showers were functioning all the time, but ordinary soap couldn't stir up a lather in that type of water, and the landlubbers waited for the few precious hours of fresh water.

Several Red Cross girls aboard requested permission of Capt. Emory P. Eldredge, the ship's skipper, to go below deck to talk with the GI's and try to cheer them up. The captain refused. Movies for GI's were shown in their enclosure for several nights until one night when the captain said the performance was annoying him and it was canceled from then on.

When the Mount Vernon was nearing anchorage at Newport News, the GI's could hear the sound of a welcoming band and they were yearning for a good view of their home shore. But the navy ordered them all below deck. It took many hours to disembark the troops and by then the band had gone and there was no one to greet the men returning from war.

All Complaints Useless

"If we made any squawks aboard ship," a veteran of Anzio and the Gothic line told me, "some senior officer or some navy bloke would say: 'What are you complaining about? You're on the way home, aren't you?'

"After all, we didn't have to be treated like cattle. Those guys living in staterooms and having fresh eggs and good cuts of meat every day and smoking with their meals and moving around the deck were on their way home, too."

THE Eternal Promise

Wherever you turn in America, you read or hear promises.

The promise of better health or greater beauty, of new comfort and convenience, the promise of new luxury and pleasure.

Another name for this eternal promise is—advertising.

When you buy an advertised product and find the promise to be true, you remember the brand. That way you know how to obtain it again, or how to recommend it to others.

Today, because demand outruns supply, there is a temptation for manufacturers to sell a sub-standard product to help fill that demand. It is a temptation that every reputable manufacturer resists.

Calvert's policy, in common with that of every forward-looking American business, is that the loss of a good name is never justified . . . not by profit, not by expediency, not even by war.

And we know that such a policy is in our own, as well as the public's interest. For when a manufacturer lowers the quality of his product, you provide the penalty. You refuse to buy that brand again.

The brand . . . the mark, symbol, or name that sets one manufacturer's product apart from all others . . . is a means for keeping vast power in your hands. For with the power to buy or refuse to buy, you control the destinies of that product.

With that power, you see to it that the promise is kept!

DENIES U. S. OATH TO 2 WHO THINK GERMANY BETTER

American citizenship was bestowed yesterday by Federal Judge Elwyn R. Shaw on more than 200 men and women of alien birth, but he denied the application of five others—a woman and a man accused of thinking Germany is a better country than the United States; two ex-convicts, and a man who concealed a police record from naturalization authorities.

Those refused citizenship because of their alleged feelings about Germany were Mrs. Helene Mueller, 2907 N. Mobile av., and Ludwig Friedrich, 37, of 1219 Wellington av. Pietro Zanga, 45, of 1337 Madison st., an Italian laborer, was said to have concealed two arrests for disorderly conduct.

The ex-convicts refused citizenship were Frank Pierty, alias Pierce, 44, of 5818 S. Talman av., a German, who served 10 years for highway robbery, and Michele Bombino, 50, of 3632 Grenshaw st., an Italian, who served five years in prison for assault to murder.

DAY by DAY on the FARM by BEN MARKLAND

August 1, 1945

GOOD old summer time, with its heating sun, colorful roadside wildflowers, and exacting farm tasks, came with a rush this week.

Labor saving machinery has eased the farmers' midsummer work schedule, but the men on the Wheaton farm were saying this week that the hardest jobs always seem to come in the hottest weather. The thermometer was in the 90s while we chatted with several of the workers in an oat field. One man, his bare back bronzed by the blazing sun, was driving the combine. Another stopped his tractor and baling machine in the corner of the field while he went to the barn for a drink of cold water. The other men were taking turns driving a huge truck and distributing 70 pound bales of oat straw on the truck bed as the straw came from the automatic bale pick-up.

Toil of Yore No More

The oat harvest involves hard work, but the farmers are the first to recognize that their harvest schedule is easy, compared with the back breaking harvest tasks of a generation ago—no shocking by hand, no pitching of grain into a steam powered threshing machine, and no hauling of water and coal for the engine. Now, it's one trip around the field to cut and thresh the grain, another circuit with a one man baler to package the straw, automatic picking up of the bales, and delivery to the mow and granary.

Royal Flower Abundant

The only hard manual labor in the entire process is the distribution of bales on the truck beds as they come from the pick-up machine, and similar distribution on the mow floor.

As the men go about their harvest work, and especially in driving on the farm roads to and from the barns, they have a chance to enjoy one of the year's most attractive wildflower displays. A natural arrangement of Queen Ann'e lace, wild bergamot, and coneflowers provides a roadside bouquet of white, light purple, and yellow. Every farm resident with an eye for color harmony appreciates this combination, altho the farmers would applaud the scene more enthusiastically if there were more purple bergamots and yellow coneflowers and fewer Queen Anne's lace flowers.

Queen Anne's lace, also called wild carrot and bird's nest, seems to be getting out of bounds in many middle western areas. Thru parts of Illinois, Michigan, and Indiana it is our most persistent midsummer growth, especially in open areas along highways.

★The GARDEN★

THE farm gardener is enthusiastic about the new Fordhook hybrid tomato, a variety introduced this season. Fifteen of the 85 tomato plants in the farm garden are of this type. Three of the hybrids bear yellow fruits; the 12 others, red fruits.

The hybrid plants have a vigorous growth, with large central stems and abundant foliage. They also are taller than any of the other varieties, and bear heavier sets of fruit. Several of the 12 reds hold 23 to 26 large tomatoes ranging from one to four inches in diameter.

None of the red hybrids has ripened, but several ripe yellow hybrids have been picked. Texture of the yellow fruits is similar to that of the common beefsteak variety: Firm and with comparatively few seeds.

START MAKING ROCKET POWDER AT INDIANA FIRM

Charlestown, Ind., Aug. 1 (AP)—After eight months of construction production has started at the army's huge rocket powder plant near this city, across the Ohio river from Louisville, Ky.

The arsenal, Indiana ordnance plant No. 2, covers 13,000 acres, and when completed will have 500 separate buildings. The installation will cost $63,250,000, the army said.

Only one-eighth of the planned capacity has been put into operation, but other units will go into production as they are completed. Full scale operations are expected to be attained by December with between 5,000 and 6,000 production workers on the job.

Rocket powder has been used effectively for pre-invasion bombardments by the navy in recent Pacific campaigns.

Chicago Area Men Arrive at Miami by Plane

Miami, Fla., Aug. 1 (AP)—The air transport command has flown the following Chicago and Chicago area men here for preliminary clearing before they are sent to reception centers near their homes:

FINDS MIDWEST VETS LOLLING IN DEAUVILLE SUN

BY HAL FOUST

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

DEAUVILLE, France, July 26—[Delayed]—In the luxurious hotels on the water front of this summer resort, GIs are packing their duffle bags to sail for America this weekend. On two miles of beach, cleared of mines and barbed wire, others are sunbathing or playing softball or volleyball. Still others are grouped around pairs of shapely mademoiselles.

This beach, out of bounds to soldiers from camps within jeeping distance, is a luxury staging area for the headquarters staff, headquarters company, and special troops of the United States 9th army. Six hundred enlisted men and 250 officers have been enjoying a rest on the continent here since July 10.

Play and Paper Work

Under command of Brig. Gen. Roy Rickard since Lt. Gen. Simpson left for the United States, they have only to absorb sunshine and handle paper work involved in their departure from Le Havre July 28 or 29. In America they will enjoy 30 day furloughs to be followed by training before reshipment to the Pacific.

Chicagolanders will be sent to Fort Sheridan or Camp Grant before receiving their furloughs.

2D INVESTIGATION IN MICHIGAN PRISON AFFAIRS ORDERED

Lansing, Mich., Aug. 1 [Special]—Plans for a broad legislative investigation of Michigan's penal system were progressing speedily today under guidance of Gov. Harry F. Kelly. The new investigation will not overlap the one recently completed by the attorney general which resulted in the discharge of seven top officials at the southern Michigan state prison in Jackson.

The new inquiry, to be conducted by a three member senate committee which Lt. Gov. Vernon J. Brown will appoint later this week, was ordered by the senate in a resolution adopted in April. Appointment of the committee was delayed because John Dethmers, attorney general, already was looking into conditions at the Jackson institution following the escape of Joseph Medley, confidence man, since convicted of the murder of a Washington, D. C., woman and now awaiting execution.

"Sorry, but we're short on Coke today"

You and your own neighborhood store aren't the only ones hit by the Coca-Cola shortage. From coast to coast it's the same story.

The world-wide disorder and confusion caused by war have made the sugar shortage. Coke is short because sugar is short. But there's one thing you can always be sure of—the Coke you get is the real thing. The same quality you have always known.

So the next time you find yourself missing your Coca-Cola, don't blame your dealer. He is doing his best in a mighty tough situation. If he can't let you have Coke today, will you remember to try again tomorrow?

PLEAD FOR YANK DOOMED IN REICH ON RAPE CHARGE

Downstaters in Fight to Save Brinley

East St. Louis, Ill., Aug. 1 [Special]—An appeal to Senators Brooks [R., Ill.] and Lucas [D., Ill.] to use their influence to obtain clemency for Alfred Brinley, 23, local soldier under death sentence in Europe on a charge of raping a German girl, was sent today by employes of the Key company, a foundry where Brinley worked before entering the army.

The workers put their names on a petition asking the Illinois senators to do everything in their power to bring about a complete re-examination of the facts leading to Brinley's conviction by an army court martial. They stated Brinley had an excellent reputation when he worked for the company and said they are convinced he is telling the truth in his assertions of innocence.

Rep. Price [D., Ill.], who was appealed to in Brinley's behalf last week by the soldier's brother, Charles, said he has been advised by the judge advocate general's office in Washington that Gen. Eisenhower has acknowledged receipt of orders to withhold approval of the sentence pending a review of the case.

Writes to Brother

Charles learned of his brother's plight last week when he received a poignant letter from the doomed soldier begging him to "drop everything you are doing" to work for a reversal of the sentence so "I'll get a chance to go on to the Pacific."

The letter, Charles revealed, contains a flat denial of guilt and blames the conviction on mistaken identity. The soldier has a wife, Agnes, and a 16 month old daughter living here.

"I didn't even think the army would believe these Germans against me," Alfred wrote from his prison in Germany. "I had three soldiers as witnesses trying to help me, but it didn't do any good. I never raped any one in my life, Charles, and I never will.

Has Four Battle Stars

"All I know about the case, Charles is that these people [the mother, father, and girl] said I was the one. Two more Germans that were there couldn't recognize me. Even the ones that did said I was medium built, and you know I'm tall.

"After I've fought over here as long as I have and never done anything against the army and have done my part always, and now they want to kill me over a German, our enemies. I have four well earned battle stars, Charles, and have been thru hell to get them.

MILLION ASKED BY LAWYERS IN SEEANDBEE CASE

Acting under a Civil war statute enacted March 2, 1863, two Chicago attorneys yesterday filed suit in United States District court seeking 1 million dollars in damages from the Cleveland and Buffalo Steamship company and Thomas Joseph McGuire, the company's president.

The statute permits any individual to file suit against any corporation or individual believed to have defrauded the government and also provides that such individuals "may receive an amount equal to the amount of which the government was defrauded."

The petition was filed by Henry W. Lescher and Gerald J. Koptik, attorneys with offices at 1 N. La Salle st. It reviewed the charges in the indictment returned against the company and McGuire in Washigton, D. C., for alleged misrepresentation and fraud in the sale of the lake steamship, Seeandbee.

The suit alleged fraud in excess of $500,000. The attorneys claimed at least $500,000 actual damages and $500,000 liquidated damages, and also asked a complete accounting.

U. S. ACCUSES 4 OF $1,591,985 IN TAX EVASIONS

Milwaukee, Wis., Aug. 1 [Special]—Walter W. Lange, racing enthusiast; his two brothers, Fred A. Jr. and Albert C., and George Randall, Walter's brother-in-law, were charged in a federal grand jury indictment today with the attempted evasion of $1,591,985 in corporate taxes.

Walter W. Lange [top]. F. A. Lange Jr.

The indictment, returned in Federal Judge F. Ryan Duffy's court, charges them with failure to report and pay this amount in income and excess profits taxes of the Crucible Steel Casting company, 2850 S. 20th st., and the Gulf Securities Holding company, a large family corporation.

Walter Lange is the former secretary of the Crucible Steel Casting company, which since July, 1944, has been under new management. Fred A. Lange Jr. is the former treasurer, and Albert, the former president. Randall was accountant and chief bookkeeper. The indictment covers the period 1941 to 1943 when the Langes controled the company, of which Gulf Securities holds substantially all the common stock. Since July the holding company has also been under new management.

Walter W. Lange, Fred A. Lange Jr., and George Randall surrendered to Marshal A. J. Lukaszwicz and posted bail of $20,000 each. Albert C. Lange did not appear with the others.

GETS 3 TO 8 YEAR TERM ON GUILTY PLEA IN VAULT LOOTING

Llewellyn Morgan, 44, of 12035 Stewart av., who pleaded guilty to burglary in the 2 million dollar looting of the E. H. Rumbold real estate office vaults Jan. 19 at 624 W. 119th st., was sentenced by Judge Frank M. Padden in Criminal court yesterday to three to eight years in the penitentiary.

Judge Padden told Morgan he was convinced that Morgan had conceived and planned the burglary, but Morgan insisted he had been an unwilling accomplice. He said the other men had threatened his life if he talked.

The state's attorney will ask the grand jury Monday to return new indictments against Morgan, Patrick [Patsy] Flaherty, and Willie Niemoth, ex-convicts who were found not guilty of burglary by a jury July 27; Thomas Leahy, 49, of 7850 Crenier av., who is awaiting trial, and John [Jiggs] Sullivan, who is being sought.

HISTORIC SALEM SQUARE SWEPT BY $200,000 BLAZE

Salem, Ind., Aug. 1 (AP) — Fire raged for five hours thru the east side of Salem's historic public square today destroying three two-story buildings, making 14 families homeless, and causing damage estimated at $200,000. The blaze, believed caused by defective wiring in the Salem dry goods store, swept thru that building and those occupied by the Fair store and McClintock's drug store.

THE FIRST APPEARANCE OF THE WORLD POLICE

The provisions of the San Francisco Charter for an international police force to take malefactors in charge has been acclaimed by supporters of the charter as "putting teeth" in the new peace league. At the hearings on the charter before the senate foreign relations committee Sen. Hiram Johnson of California expressed curiosity concerning the contribution expected of the United States to the police force.

The senator cross-examined a representative of the American Association for the United Nations on this subject. The witness, Livingston Hartley, who evidently shares with the rest of the nation a lack of knowledge of the tangible commitments assumed by our state department under the charter, estimated that the number of soldiers America will be called upon to supply would be "very small—only a few thousand."

The only definite word the public has had so far on this very important question came from a radio broadcast during the San Francisco conference by Adm. Arthur J. Hepburn, who appeared under the sponsorship of Archibald Mac Leish, minister of propaganda and national enlightenment. The admiral said that one-third of the post-war American navy would probably be "earmarked" for the world league, and then asked Lt. Gen. Stanley D. Embick, army adviser to the American delegation, whether a somewhat larger proportion of the army might not be so assigned. The general agreed that "a considerable part" of the army would be under the flag of the world state.

Statements of this sort can only prove extremely disturbing to the American public. The inference to be drawn from the remarks of Adm. Hepburn and Gen. Embick is that a large part of the army and navy upon which the nation must depend for its defense will owe its primary allegiance to the super-government, that it will be stationed outside of this country, and that it may more or less constantly be occupied in brawls which will make the casualty list a permanent American institution.

When congress comes to decide America's contribution to the world police, a precedent on this question of allotting national forces will be available. Most people have probably overlooked or long since forgotten that a world police force did exist, if only briefly, under the old league of nations; so what is supposed to be the great innovation at San Francisco is by no means new.

In December, 1934, when preparations were being made for a plebiscite by which the people of the Saar might indicate whether they wished to join Germany, join France, or remain under the government of a league of nations commission imposed upon the area after the first World war, the question of maintaining order during the election was brought before the league council.

There had been many allegations that Hitler planned a coup de main which would obviate the election, or that, at least, he was creating a climate of compulsory opinion among the Saarlanders which would insure a nazi triumph at the polls. Among other things, he was said to have transported 10,000 young men from the disputed area into Germany, where they were being trained in the propaganda and skull cracking techniques which had proved so useful in nazi elections. The few thousand native police of the Saar were acknowledged to have been disaffected by the Nazis and could not be expected to take a neutral attitude.

To abate the possibility of a Franco-German conflict, Pierre Laval, then the French foreign minister, and Anthony Eden, lord privy seal of Britain, proposed that an international police force from which French and German troops should both be excluded be sent into the Saar to preserve order. This gendarmerie, perhaps the first world police force in history, consisted, as finally constituted, of 1,500 British troops, 1,300 Italians, 250 Dutch, and 250 Swedish troops, or a total force of 3,300, under the supreme command of Maj. Gen. John E. S. Brind of the British army.

The success of the police force was highly dubious. It could not prevent the Saarlanders who were not already converted Nazis from fearing that votes for France or for the status quo would be discovered and punished by the all-seeing eyes of Hitler's agents. The election was legally stolen by the Nazis, who rolled up a majority of 97.9 per cent of the vote, while the world army stood benignly by.

As usual, this country got the short end of the deal. Neither the league nor the army took any measures to protect millions of dollars of American investments in the Saar region. Means of payment for French governmental and commercial holdings were provided in the event the Saarlanders chose reunion with Germany, but American investors were left at the mercy of Hitler's transfer restrictions, preventing shipments of cash abroad.

From this experience it appears that the world police idea is none too effective in restraining aggression, either of the psychological or physical sort; that the police may look after European interests but have little care for American, and that the precedent favors establishment of a very small international army. Our contribution to the new force might properly be scaled to that of Sweden, which provided 250 men. It should be possible to recruit almost this many on a volunteer basis.

THE B-29 ENGINE STRIKE

The strike of 20,000 members of the CIO United Automobile Workers at the Dodge Chicago plant was the 204th work stoppage at the great factory. Simultaneously in New Jersey 30,000 members of the same union were on strike at five plants of the Wright Aeronautical corporation. The common characteristics of both stoppages were that they were conducted by the same union and that they brought to a standstill the production of engines for B-29 bombers—which, at this stage of the war against Japan, are probably the most critical item in war production.

The strike was called at a time when Stalin, at the Potsdam conference, was bargaining with President Truman and British spokesmen for permanent control of a large area of Europe, and, in all likelihood, was fixing his price for participation in the war against Japan. It is not unthinkable that the union radicals, unable to forecast whether the Red dictator will plunge into the war with Japan or stand aloof, have made a demonstration at a crucial moment in the negotiations of the ability to damage the American cause. They have also rehearsed the techniques which will prove useful to communist Russia should the soviet objective, for any one of a number of reasons, prove to be that of impeding America's successful prosecution of the war.

MR. TRUMAN'S RETURN

The announcement that the Potsdam conference has adjourned carried with it the information that the President would spend only a few hours in England before boarding the Augusta for the return journey.

This is welcome news. While the President has been occupied with foreign affairs, a great many domestic matters have been piling up which require his attention. Things have not been going well during his absence.

Nearly three months have passed since the end of the war in Germany, but the news seems to have traveled slowly in official circles. We have almost as large an army today as existed when we had Germany as well as Japan to conquer. The preparations for moving troops to the new fronts have been proved inadequate. The costs of the war are not being reduced as rapidly as they could be and should be. More especially, the whole problem of reconverting a large section of industry to civilian uses has lagged.

Left to its own devices, the burocracy can be counted upon to delay demobilization and reconversion because both of these processes necessarily involve the decline of the burocracy itself. By this time, the chair-borne generals and, with them, the men who have been trying to run the civilian economy have persuaded themselves, if they ever had any doubt about it, that they are indispensable. They think the country will go to pieces without their guidance and control.

The result is confusion and waste which are growing more serious from day to day. The situation is not likely to be remedied until the President himself takes hold and obliges the various agencies of the government to get out of the way.

The government must release labor from the army and from redundant war plants. It must release materials which it is hoarding. It must, above all, put an end to the price restrictions which make the manufacture of goods for civilians unprofitable.

There is a huge pent-up demand for consumers' goods and no lack of the means with which to buy them. The physical problems of reconversion are not nearly as great as has often been pretended. There are a few industries which will require a period of months in which to clear out the machinery used in making munitions and install other tools, but by and large these industries are the exceptions. No great changes will be required in the coal mines, the farms, the steel mills, the transportation lines, the packing plants, the needle trades, and a host of other industries. They can start serving civilians as soon as the military orders are cut down, labor and materials are made available, and a free price system is restored.

It is to be hoped that, without delay, Mr. Truman will turn his attention to these matters. Here is his opportunity to show the country that it has an able executive who is not the creature but the master of the burocracy. If he fails to relax the controls and thus release the energies of the people, the confusion will grow worse and hardship may be as widespread as it will be needless.

CALLING THE SHOT

In the history of warfare there has never been anything quite like the cool audacity of the army air force in telling the Japs the names of the next 11 cities to be bombed by the B-29s.

Some, however, will remember an October day in 1932 at Wrigley field, when Babe Ruth came to bat in the third game of the world series. Charley Root put over two strikes on the Babe and the crowd began to hoot. The count was two and two when Ruth pointed to the flagpole, indicating the spot at which Root's next pitch would leave the park.

When Root wound up and pitched, the Babe slugged the ball out of the field right over the flagpole for his second home run of the day. The B-29 crews will probably agree that there was another American who could call his shots.

Looks now as tho time and energy would be saved if the former creditors of Elliott Roosevelt hired a large hall and held a mass meeting.—Memphis Commercial Appeal.

British business men who want empire preferences in international trade are falling into the old error of putting the cartel before the horse.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

DOG STAR'S REIGN

Any one who wants to mention the dog days at present may speak up freely, because we are in the thick of them. The official dates for this stretch of midsummer are July 19 to Aug. 19 according to the "Old Farmer's Almanac," an authoritative publication which has been giving advice on such matters to the American people for 153 years.

* * *

Dogs may pant, and drool, and arouse suspicions of their sanity during this period, but humans may also manifest symptoms of discomfort more violently when the spell of sultriness broods over the cities and fields. [World War I. started on a dog day.] In fact, mankind's best friend is not closely concerned with the lore of the dog days, which originated in some extremely ancient notions about Sirius, called the Dog Star because it is the chief luminary in the constellation of Canis Major, or the Great Dog.

* * *

At this time Sirius, brightest star of all [the brighter things you see are planets] returns to the northern hemisphere from the other side of the world. It is peeking up over the horizon at dawn these days, and the ancient Egyptians, Greeks, and Romans thought that its rays augmented the sun, thus turning on the heat full blast. The Romans, it seems, invented the dog days, because they called the most oppressive part of summer dies caniculares.

* * *

The dog days were supposed by the ancients to be unhealthy, no doubt because of sunstroke and the increase of diseases now known to be caused by insect bites. Homer spoke of Sirius as "the evil star." Such ideas survive among the old wives in rural districts, but the dog days have been maligned by cantankerous characters who can't stand the humidity. They are always a blessing for the corn crop, and this year they are auspicious for the Cubs.

THESE ARE YOUR HILLS

These are your hills, yours for the taking. Come!
Defeat the distance with your easy stride;
Break from your ancient chains of tedium
And challenge the horizon's other side.
And, when you gain the crest, behold the sky
Dusted with silver; lift your face and let
The moonlight curve along your throat and lie
Upon your palms—and if your cheeks grow wet
With sudden tears, you must not seek the source
Nor wonder at such miracles as these:
The bright precision of a meteor's course,
The seven secrets of the Pleiades.
These are your hills, and from their highest crest

Play and Double Play

A greeting card from Shandy Gaff welcomed the Linemaster back to his desk after his vacation. Its hand-lettered inscription read:

"You are back from days of play and double play. You have been in a strange land, where strikes and errors lurk, and much that's foul. A Grimm business. Now you return to your daily task with new ideas for line drives, content with nothing but big league stuff. You will admonish us, if we deliver, to be Wyse and pitch accordingly. So I'm winding up with a fling called 'After the ball was over.' The worst you can do is to send me to the showers."

Inside is a water color drawing of a scene in an art gallery, at the unveiling of a large portrait of the Linemaster in baseball uniform, swatting contributions for home runs.

TO AN M. P.

Somewhere in Belgium you last wrote. Your word
Was all of grand cathedrals you had seen,
Old cobble-streeted towns: your talk serene
As any tourist's who had never heard
Of war. You chatted, too, of books, and blurred
Each lightheart line with meanings left between Unwritten, as if life, carefree and clean,
Were still but spring, or the singing of a bird.

I loved your letter, lad—but never once
Did your young camouflage of scribbled zest
Deceive the eye and heart of middle age.
I am, from much experience, no dunce,
And sadness only deepened in my breast

Jealousy on Halsted St.

Mention [July 10] of the old Bijou theater, on Halsted st. at the corner of Jackson blvd., brings memories of a Sunday afternoon in 1909. The play was "The Fatal Wedding," produced by Sullivan [Big Tim], Harris [Sam H.], and Woods [Al H.], and a little girl by the name of Zena Keefe was playing "the little mother."

Into my office, where I was chatting with Al Woods, avalanched a Mrs. Smith and her little daughter, Gladys, breathing fire and accusing Al of partiality in permitting Zena Keefe to play on Halsted st. while Gladys had to play the same part in the "one-nighters." In fact it had been Gladys' undying ambition to be able to say that she played the Bijou, which was the Chicago flagship of melodrama.

The only reason I mention it is that Gladys later changed her name to Mary Pickford.

Friend of the Yanks

[The Friend of the Yanks will answer questions of service men, veterans, and their dependents by mail if stamped envelope is sent to 435 N. Michigan av. The Tribune's veterans' bureau, 1 S. Dearborn st., Superior 0300, gives personal interviews.]

T. G. asks: "If a service man is married after induction and desires to apply for family allowance for his wife, does he have to submit a copy of his marriage certificate? If he becomes a father, does he have to submit a certified copy of the birth certificate to obtain an increase in the allowance?"

If application for family allowance is made by the man in service his application alone is sufficient evidence of marriage and no further proof is required. This also is true in the case of application for increased allowance by reason of the birth of a child. If applications for the benefits are filed by the man's wife, she must supply certified copies of both marriage and birth certificates.

P. H. writes: "I was released from service a short time ago without an honorable discharge. This bars me from reemployment rights and at the same time is a barrier to finding employment elsewhere because a great many employers want to see a man's discharge. When they see mine, my chances for employment disappear. Can I apply for a corrected discharge? I do not feel that I got a proper deal."

You may apply for review of discharge to the proper branch of service on a form supplied by this department, if letter of request is sent with addressed, stamped envelope.

INFANTILE PARALYSIS—A VIRUS INFECTION

INFANTILE paralysis is more prevalent in the United States from July to October. As a rule we encounter only isolated cases but occasionally the malady reaches epidemic proportions. A record was established in 1916 when New York reported 4,000 victims in a single month.

It is a disorder mainly of youngsters under 15 years of age. The infant carries maternal immunity and is less susceptible but the greatest incidence is in the second to the fourth year of life. Adults are generally attacked only during epidemics. It is considered contagious but less so than the commoner childhood diseases.

A virus is the offending germ, which probably gains access to the body thru the pharynx. Once inside, it travels directly to the spinal cord or brain. We do not know why the nervous system is selected and not other organs such as the liver or heart. Equally mysterious is the fact that it favors the gray matter in the front [anterior] part of the cord. Where it finally settles determines the amount of damage that will occur, for in some instances paralysis does not ensue.

Within five to 15 days after contact, the illness begins with the typical manifestations of an infection—fever, headache, drowsiness, and prostration. The throat may be inflamed and the glands in the neck swollen. Only after a day or two do the characteristic signs of polio arise so that the doctor is given a clew to what is happening. Pains due to muscle spasms appear in the legs and back. Any attempt to bend the spine is repulsed and the physician may use this symptom as a test, for the patient is unwilling to put his head between his knees.

At this time, paralysis may be noted but we now realize that many cases fail to reach this stage. Actually, the nonparalytic [abortive] type outnumbers the others. This is why the term "poliomyelitis" is preferred to "infantile paralysis." But when loss of motion occurs, the muscles become limp and cannot be moved. Those in the legs are afflicted more often, but structures elsewhere—in the arms, face, or abdomen—are not immune.

In general, spontaneous repair is noted so that the condition is not as hopeless as it seems during the early stages. About one in four recovers completely. In the next five to 12 months, others are greatly improved. After this time, the handicap is more likely to be permanent but sometimes two or three additional years will pass before all evidence of progress ceases.

Strict isolation is necessary and a two to three week quarantine period is usually required. Convalescent serum is of little value in the affected patient but, as a measure against those who are exposed, it may have some merit. Various nasal sprays have also been advocated for this purpose, including a solution of zinc sulfate.

Treatment during the active infection varies with the symptoms but this may be followed by therapy directed toward the paralysis—heat, massage, and muscle education. It was Sister Kenny who advocated the continuous application of hot packs to relieve muscle spasm. Neostigmine has also proved of value along this line. Modern orthopedic appliances can restore power to the permanently damaged extremities, and, in this way, the handicapped individual can rejoin his associates and lead a normal life.

O. K. IN MODERATION

Mr. J. E. B. writes: I have hardening of the arteries and am contemplating on going to the beach for sunbathing. What do you think, will this be good or bad for me?

REPLY

No harm, so long as exposure to Old Sol is not prolonged. Send stamped addressed envelope for leaflet on sunbathing.

LEG PAIN

F. R. writes: Can pain in the calf muscles be due to worry? It grows worse when I am mentally distressed.

REPLY

Apprehension causes a multiplicity of symptoms but, before this diagnosis is accepted in your case, a thoro examination is indicated to rule out other possibilities.

NOT LIKELY

Mrs. E. writes: If a baby is allowed to cry it out, will he develop a hernia?

REPLY

Front Views & Profiles

By MARCIA WINN

Decade Coming Up

With Japan nearing what is hoped is the capitulation point, why not deaden the day by meditation on what particular forms of goofiness will characterize our peace this time? For that there will be goofiness is foreordained. It always follows war. Sometimes it follows it right up to the front door of the next war.

The sociologists won't venture predictions on what forms this will take, nor will they tell you how to recognize it when you see it. Most people will not. They will be part of it. Having no great goal to struggle for, and not being able to see the goals at home, they will attempt to overcome what they will call monotony. Monotony is being alive, at peace, and contented. Monotony is enriching one's life.

The sociologists have a paradoxical name for what happens then: spectatorism. Spectatorism is attracting attention. Shipwreck Kelly, who perched on that flagpole 23 days and 7 hours, was the champion exponent of spectatorism of Post-war Decade I. The millions who gawked at him were merely his willing victims.

During a war [the sociologists say] energy is disciplined and controled. In peace this is dissipated. People then lose being part of organized effort and the sense of belonging. People need the sense of belonging. So they show themselves off to attract attention. Simple. Simple as the Bunion derby.

What happened after the last war probably is nothing in comparison with what will happen this time, for the new ventures will have at their command all the technological advances of the war, but we can count on attempts at dangerous living. Gertrude Ederle swam the English channel last time. Some one must now swim the Atlantic. Byrd flew over the two poles. Some one must now [1] fly under them or [2] prove that there are four. Aimee Semple McPherson disappeared from a bathing beach and turned up, a healthy specimen, on the desert. Some one must now make an omelet while sliding down the white beam of the Lindbergh beacon and end up in Red square serving it to Stalin. Many flew across the ocean. They must now walk across it.

After the last war mass production and the great American attribute of suggestibility brought a craze for uniformity. [There is a long name for this: social monomania, or a single idea filling the public mind.] Dress alike. Eat alike. See the same shows. Read the same books. Tell the same jokes over and over. Speak the same slangy patter. A reversal of this would settle that 60 million job problem, but it won't come. Peace and social monomania are one, as opposed to war and social paranola, so you can count on, for example, food fads, as in the Eskimo Pie rat race after World War I. that in three months caused the price of cocoa beans to rise 50 per cent on the New York market. No mass craze—midget golf, mahjongg, crossword puzzles, yo-yo—sticks long, but they invariably have ready successors.

O, yes, and there will be cults. These always break out in a period of rapid social change. Witness Los Angeles, within the between wars memory of man. Or, skipping back to the middle of the 19th century, the Indians, who, when being rapidly dispossessed, went in for cultist movements. The Indians, for instance, developed ghost dances alongside rituals dealing with the return of the buffalo.

If we follow the pattern of our last mass hysterias, we will make an obsession of, in turn, strikes, racial and religious intolerance, sports, and a song called "Yes, We Have No Bananas." But as actually we are not starting back at the same old milepost, it is highly improbable if we do any of these. The sociologists have a wild idea that the returning flyers will do stunts and that men who have been in prison camps may possibly go on—of all things—hunger strikes.

The public, the victim of spectatorism, could perhaps avoid all future rashes of flagpole sitting, etc., by refusing to look at them for without the audience the show never goes on. Still, flagpole sitting is certainly preferable to war.

FAKED INDORSEMENTS OF THE CHARTER

Downers Grove, Ill., July 28—In this day of misrepresentation and general deception of our people in the matter of foreign policy nothing has exceeded the effrontery exhibited at the hearing before the senate committee on foreign relations. I refer to the testimony of various heads of women's organizations of the country to the effect that they represented the membership of their groups in favoring the united nations charter, when as a matter of fact, they did no such thing.

One case in point is that of Mrs. Brice Glagett, daughter of former Sen. McAdoo, who read a message from Mrs. La Fell Dickinson, president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, as follows: "I regret that I cannot be present to tell you that 2½ million women, homemakers, in the General Federation of Women's Clubs, wives and mothers of service men, are on record for an international organization as provided for in the united nations charter."

Now, as a matter of fact, this charter was finally drawn and presented to the senate on July 2. Prior to that time it was not available for study as the conference had not perfected its various provisions. The clubs of the Federation close their year along in April, and a few in May. I challenge Mrs. Dickinson to prove that the membership of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, 2½ million strong, were asking for speedy ratification of this charter, without having had time to study and debate its various controversial features.

The chairman of legislation of the Parent and Teachers' association, Mrs. Malcolm McClellan of Jacksonville, Fla., goes further. She told the committee she represented 3½ million mothers, fathers, and teachers of the country and they are also asking for a speedy and unanimous ratification of the charter. It may be argued that the members of the committee know these claims are not founded on fact and will evaluate them accordingly, but the fact remains that for those senators who are trying to bolster their position to force thru this charter before people have a chance to know what is in it, this alibi is helpful.

Further evidence that will puzzle people who happen to get a copy of the minutes of the hearing before the foreign relations committee is that it contains many telegrams indorsing the charter from individuals representing themselves and purporting to represent others, which telegrams are dated as far back as June 22 at which time the charter was still in the stage of formation by the conference at San Francisco.

The more this whole picture is scrutinized the more shocking it becomes in its brazen attempt to deceive our people into doing something, either passively or thru falsification, that later they will regret.

SEE, "THE ENGLISH: ARE THEY HUMAN?"

LATTON-CUM-EYSEY, Wilts, England, July 10—Humanitarians and hygienists have too long been content with the elimination of pain in slaughterhouses while tolerating the continuance of fear, which to an animal means even more than pain, and moreover renders its flesh unwholesome and therefore unfit for human consumption.

This fear can only be entirely eliminated by the substitution of hope induced by something appetizing in manger or trough in which the animal's head when about to feed offers an ideal target to the operator of the captive bolt pistol, the only certainly immediate and permanent destroyer of consciousness.

A leaflet giving ground plan and description of a model public slaughterhouse for horses, cattle, sheep, goats, and pigs with its two compartments as against the single compartment of the present slaughterhouse full of terrifying sights and smells can be had free on application to Mr. Alfred Brisco, Blackwell, Carlisle, and should be applied for by local councilors and electors, not only in the animals' interest but also in their own.

COMING EVENTS

St. Anne, Ill., July 28—I venture to prophesy that time will show that the vote against Winston Churchill was also a vote against the United States. It won't be long now until we shall learn what a no good fellow is the guy with the long whiskers, the tall hat, and the striped pants. And that will be just as 80 per cent of Americans asserted back in 1940 and 1941, when Roosevelt and his administration leaders were so determined to get us into the European war.

ADVERSE POSSESSION

Chicago, Aug. 14—Four years ago my neighbor asked permission to lay a sidewalk, one section of which would be on my property. I granted the request but the agreement was verbal only. 1. Friends tell me that if the walk remains on my property five years, I never can have it removed and the strip of ground on which it is built will become a part of my neighbor's lot. 2. Please tell me whether it is true that he could obtain a deed to that strip. I have no objection to the sidewalk being where it is but I do not want to lose any ground because of it.

P. M.

1. They are mistaken. The limitation period on adverse possession is 20 years, and even this would not operate where the adverse use is permissive, as in your case. We would consider it desirable, however, for you to obtain a letter from him, stating that the use is permissive and that he will terminate it any time upon notice from you. 2. No.

EAST CHICAGO REHIRES FIRED SCHOOL HEAD

Action Also Expected in Teacher's Case

The school board of East Chicago, Ind., meeting yesterday for the first time after expiration of the term of President John Dreesen, rescinded the contract given to Clarence Barrett of Palos Park as superintendent and rehired A. C. Senour, deposed school head, for a three year term.

A. C. Senour

Senour had been dismissed as superintendent last month when George Grimmer, school board member, voted with Dreesen to cancel Senour's contract and hire Barrett, Michael Havran, third board member, refused to join in this action.

Salary Is Increased

Yesterday Stanley Kwiat replaced Dreesen on the board and promptly voted with Havran to rescind Barrett's contract and rehire Senour. Under his new contract Senour will receive $7,750 the first year, a $250 increase over his former salary, and $8,000 the next two years. The contract is retroactive to last May.

The board is expected to take action soon in the case of Miss Nellie I. Mills, veteran teacher, who was dismissed after she was accused of refusing to conduct memorial services for the late President Roosevelt. Senour's dismissal was attributed to his protest against the board's action in Miss Mills' case.

Calls Protests Late

When Michael Migas, president of Local 1010, United Steel Workers of America [CIO], protested yesterday's special meeting, Kwiat, a member of Migas' union, said the time to protest special metings was when Dreesen was calling them.

Havran was elected president of the new board, Kwiat secretary, and Grimmer, treasurer. Terms of the school board members are for three years, with a new one appointed each year by the East Chicago city council.

N. Y. NEWSPAPER STRIKE ISSUES UP TO WLB HERE

The New York Newspaper and Mail Deliverers' union, which waged a 17 day strike that tied up circulation of major New York newspapers last month, contended in a brief filed yesterday before the war labor board's daily newspaper commission in Chicago that an employes' welfare fund is the responsibility of the publishing industry.

The Publishers' Association of New York City stated in another brief that welfare problems "are predominantly the responsibility of the nation." Establishment of the employes' welfare fund thru publishers' contribution of 3 per cent of the deliverers' pay rolls was a principal demand by the union, an independent organization.

The commission will hear oral arguments today.

ARMY SEIZES WARD'S FASHION DEPT. 2D TIME

The army yesterday took control of the Montgomery Ward & Co. fashion department, with approximately 1,200 employes, for the second time, reportedly because of the company's refusal to place in effect directives of the national war labor board.

The department was seized with others last December under Presidential order, but subsequently was returned to the company, the army maintaining only token control.

Two weeks ago the army reseized the Schwinn warehouse, the central printing department, the photographic unit, the display factory, and the administration maintenance department, all of which had been returned to the company after their original seizure.

REPORT LIVING COST AT HIGHEST POINT SINCE 1921

Washington, D. C., Aug. 1 (AP)—Living costs in June reached the highest level since the spring of 1921, the labor department reported today. As of June 15 the bureau of labor statistics cost of living index stood at 129 per cent of the 1935-'39 average.

The index is based on retail prices paid by wage earners in large cities. It does not take into consideration such factors as lowered quality of goods and increased taxes.

Retail prices advanced 7/10 of 1 per cent between mid-May and mid-June. This was attributed to higher prices for fresh fruits, vegetables, eggs, clothing, and house furnishings.

STEEL PLANT'S AUDITOR KILLED IN AUTO CRASH

Raymond J. O'Connell, 49, of 7651 Cregier av., an auditor employed by the Wisconsin Steel company for 34 years, was killed yesterday when his automobile struck the rear of a trailer truck at 147th st. and Cicero av., in Midlothian. Harry Matthewson, 26, of 409 Madison av., East Chicago, Ind., employed by the Keeshin Motor Express, Inc., was driving the truck.

Thirty-five fatal automobile accidents occurred in Chicago last month, and eight in Cook county outside the city, compared with 36 in the city and eight in the county in July, 1944.

EDITOR DEFENDS HIS WRITINGS IN CONTEMPT TRIAL

Believes Judge Should Be an Attorney

Corpus Christi, Tex., Aug. 1 (AP)—Bob McCracken, managing editor of the Corpus Christi Caller Times and one of three defendants in a contempt hearing, testified today he still believes a county judge should be an attorney.

McCracken said he still stood on opinions expressed in his "Crow's Nest" column of last May 30 in which he commented that "a layman occupying its bench is bound to end up in hot water sooner or later when he is sitting on a case where fine points of law are argued."

It was this column as well as a number of news stories concerning a leasehold ouster suit in the court of County Judge Joe D. Browning that caused Browning to issue a citation holding McCracken, Conway Craig, publisher of the Caller Times, and Tom Mulvany, a reporter, guilty of contempt of court.

Lease Action Involved

The three were witnesses in a hearing before Judge Browning to answer allegations contained in the citation.

Jerry D'Unger, special prosecuting attorney, read from McCracken's column dealing with reports of a suit of forcible entry and detainer tried before Browning on May 25, 26, and 27 styled Bush M. Jackson et al vs. Joe L. Mayes et al.

Court records show a jury twice refused to sign an instructed verdict for Jackson saying they could not find "against their conscience." The jury later signed the verdict.

Argued for Justice

On cross-examination McCracken testified he had no expert knowledge of the law but was arguing in the column for "justice." He said he believed the things he wrote in his column at the time he wrote it and still believed them.

Mulvany testified he was present during the trial of the leasehold ouster suit and stated he felt he gave a fair, accurate and impartial presentation in his stories.

McKIBBIN POST GIVEN BY GREEN TO DOWNSTATER

Gov. Green yesterday appointed his executive assistant, Mark Saunders, as state finance director to replace George B. McKibbin, who resigned to return to his Chicago law practice. This change was reported imminent in THE TRIBUNE three weeks ago.

Former mayor of Kewanee, Saunders joined the Green administration at the outset as a special conciliator in the state labor department.

Other members of the new board are: Dr. Martin L. Reymert, director of child research at the Moosheart children's home; A. W. Shipton of Springfield, president of Copley Press, Inc., publishers of both of the capital's daily newspapers; Frank D. Loomis of Glencoe, executive director of the Chicago Community Trust, and Mrs. Harry M. Mulberry, president of the Women's City Club of Chicago and chairman of the state commission for handicapped children.

DOCTORS FORM UNION TO DEAL WITH HOSPITAL

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 1 (AP)—Forty physicians and surgeons on the staff of the Southern Pacific Railroad company hospital have formed a union "to provide a collective bargaining agency under the provisions of the Wagner act," it was disclosed today.

"The purpose is to represent the doctors in matters of wages and hours, if, as, and when necessary," a spokesman of the organization said.

The union will not be affiliated with any other labor group, he added. It is the result of three years' consideration by the hospital medical staff.

I SEE, MR. LEE, BUT NOW YOU'RE SURE THAT PYZON IS A HOODLUM YOU RAN AFOUL OF IN CHINA YEARS AGO...

YES, SIR... HE WAS ALMOST TOO NICE TO US WHEN WE WERE WRECKED HERE... HE SAID THE JAPS HAD PULLED OUT...
BUT YOU SAW LIGHT SIGNALS FROM THE SEA, WHICH YOU WERE TOO WELL GUARDED TO INVESTIGATE?

I APPRECIATE YOUR CONCLUSIONS, MR. LEE—BUT MR. PYZON WENT OVER HIS BOOKS WITH OUR CIVIL AFFAIRS OFFICER AND POINTED OUT THAT EVEN AFTER THE JAPS LEFT OFFICIALLY, THEY SENT BOATS BACK AT NIGHT TO PICK UP THE CROPS AS THEY BECAME READY! THE SKIPPERS ALWAYS SENT SIGNALS ASKING IF THE AMERICANS HAD LANDED... THAT'S WHAT YOU SAW...

Ben Gets Hold of Stuff with Lightning Reaction

Benjamin Murray, 25, of 632 S. State st., was arrested during the thunderstorm early yesterday when a flash of lightning revealed him standing on a 14th floor fire escape of the Blackstone hotel. Murray told police he had been drinking and didn't know what he was doing. He was held for further questioning.

MOTORMAN MICHAEL J. COLLINS
Lincoln Station, 33 years with CSL, has 3 boys away in service.

Here's a group of Surface Lines' trainmen who are doing their bit for a free world.

Each has five offspring away in uniform. And right here in Chicago these men are helping to keep transportation moving so war-plant workers can get to and from their jobs on time.

CSL employees are like that. They often work extra hours . . . give up days of rest . . . so street cars and buses will be on hand to serve you. Although it isn't always possible to have a street car or bus where you want it, when you want it during these days of shortages, you can depend upon your neighbors in CSL uniforms to do everything within their power to keep service at the highest standard possible.

HELP SPEED WAR WORK . . . BE A TROLLEY PILOT

The big problem right now is to obtain enough conductors and motormen to operate the amount of equipment necessary in moving Chicago's workers back and forth during rush hours. Hundreds of additional men are needed right now. Steady work, good pay.

Sun-baked HAIR NEEDS THOMAS CARE

Oddly enough, summer is both the best and worst season for your hair. Best, because hair grows faster in the summer than at any other time. Worst, because the hot rays of the mid-day sun, plus excessive perspiration, may leave your hair dry, straw-like, brittle, and faded. Therefore, you should start now to give your hair proper care and attention. By starting now you learn how to make the sun help (not harm) your hair and you take advantage of the fact that hair grows faster in the summer.

Consult a skilled Thomas hair expert today—in private, without charge. Let him show you exactly how the reliable, 20-year proved Thomas method provides proper hygienic care for your hair, removes itchy dandruff scales, and leaves your scalp with a clean, fresh, healthy feeling.

friends of the 29 singers who have won in sectional auditions held in the last few days thruout Chicago. Admission is 50 cents.

A trio of opera stars will judge the county finals and choose a winner from each of the 10 voice classifications. They are Margery Maxwell Hodgkinson, Dimitri Onofrei, and Anna Fitzu. John Wiederhirn will be the piano accompanist. Mrs. Edmund J. Tyler, chairman of the festival vocal contest, will be in charge of the competition.

The winners tonight will compete on Saturday morning, Aug. 18, in the semi-finals to be held in the Drake hotel. Four singers, two men and two women adjudged best, will compete in the finals at the Festival concert in Soldiers' field before an audience of 90,000.

Three internationally famous opera stars will be the judges in the final competition.

In the windup of the sectional contests, three more singers to represent the north side in the county finals were selected last night in competitions in the Edgewater Beach hotel.

Mrs. Emily F. Aull, 29, of 1907 Montrose av., departmental music teacher at the Stockton elementary school, won first place among coloratura sopranos. In the audience was her husband, Petty Officer 1st Class Henry Aull of the merchant marine, who had just returned home on leave. Second place went to Miss Marguerite A. Whitehill, 17, of 4150 N. Ashland av., and third was won by Mrs. Doris Prince, 26, of 2433 Byron st.

For the second time, Roy J. Urhausen, 23, of 5626 Kenmore av., won first place in north side competition for the bass group. Second and third places went to Herbert W. Piepho, 37, of 4228 N. Winchester av., and Joseph Appleby Jr., 22, of 5417 Kenmore av., respectively.

Jean Breyfogle, 17, of 1114 Garden st., Park Ridge, a June graduate of the Maine Township High school, won first place in the contest among lyric sopranos. Jacqueline Rein, 19, of 5802 Kenmore av., was second, and Mafalda M. Ambrosini, 29, of 830 N. Dearborn st., was third.

Silver Wings of America to Have Meeting Tonight

The Silver Wings of America will hold its monthly meeting at 8 o'clock tonight in room 500 of the Fine Arts building, 410 S. Michigan av. Open invitation has been extended to mothers, wives, and sisters of men who have won their silver wings in the army air forces.

Household Forum

Mrs. Lester P., Chicago—I save old paint brushes which have lost much of their elasticity and form and use these for wrought-iron work or any job where paint must be worked into crannies and corners. In this way I don't risk damaging a good brush by pushing it into hard-to-reach spots.

Ellen H., Battle Creek, Mich.—My husband removed several oil stains from our basement cement floor by sprinkling two inches of dry Portland cement over the spots. This absorbed the oil, and stains disappeared in about three days.

Mabel W., Chicago—If a rubber sheathed electric cord gets into any grease, disconnect it from the circuit and wipe it with a soapy cloth. Then rinse off the soap and dry thoroly before reconnecting. I've learned that grease can cause rubber to deteriorate quickly.

$5 PRIZE RECIPE

Iced Cucumber Tomato Soup
[Serves six]

6 medium tomatoes
2 medium cucumbers
1 tablespoon vinegar
1 small onion, chopped
1 clove garlic, minced
1 quart bouillon or water
2 teaspoons salt
1 teaspoon sugar

Wash tomatoes, remove stem ends, and cut in quarters. Pare cucumbers and dice. Add vinegar to ¼ cup cucumber. Combine remaining cucumber, tomatoes, and other ingredients, and cook 15 minutes. Strain, pressing thru sieve as much pulp as possible. Chill thoroly and add cucumber with vinegar just before serving.

Smart Attire

Blouse and skirt combinations add variety to any wardrobe, especially when they are made from good looking patterns, smartly styled and easy to follow. Style No. 2880 is cut in one size with the front and back in one piece but allowing a choice of necklines. The model at top with sweetheart necklines requires 1¼ yards of 39 inch material. The bow type blouse requires 1⅞ yards of 39 inch material. Style No. 2807, a slim wrap skirt, is cut in waist sizes from 24 to 32 inches. Each size requires only 1 yard of 54 inch material and 2¼ yards of binding.

Enough Butter to Fill Point Demands This Month, Officials Say

Butter supplies will be adequate to meet all ration point demands in August and possibly build up some reserve supplies, agricultural department officials in Chicago reported yesterday, after an announcement from Washington, D. C., that civilians would receive 100 million pounds this month instead of the 90 million pounds originally set aside.

Officials listed several factors as responsible for the butter increase, which is in line with the recent reduction from 24 to 16 ration points a pound. These include a cut from 30 to 20 per cent in the amount of butter set aside for military purposes and higher milk production in July than had been anticipated.

Army purchases of Danish butter and cheese for European troops are responsible for reduced military demands. The war department estimated Danish purchases would release 26 million pounds of butter in the United States in the next nine months and 17 million pounds of cheddar cheese in 11 months.

WILSON'S WEEKLY Bulletin

By George Rector

Food and Nutrition Consultant to Wilson & Co.

Entertain This Easy Way

For the Sunday night supper or evening refreshment, a sandwich loaf is a perfect choice for the main dish. It's easy on ration points and it's one of the simplest of all party foods to serve. Prepare it in the cool of the morning and avoid last minute preparation at serving time.

A Tasty Sandwich Loaf . . . easy on the points

Cut crusts from a 1½ lb. loaf of unsliced bread
Cut loaf lengthwise into 4 slices approximately ½ inch thick.
Spread each slice with WILSON'S MAYONNAISE

Filling #1
¼ cup WILSON'S MAYONNAISE mixed with ½ lb. WILSON'S BRAUNSCHWEIGER

Filling #2
3 hard cooked CLEAR BROOK EGGS, chopped
2 tbsp. chopped green pepper
2 tsp. minced onion

Filling #3
2 cans CERTIFIED DEVILED HAM
¼ cup chopped sweet pickle
¼ cup chopped celery

Soften 1 tsp. granulated gelatine in 2 tbsp. evaporated milk, 5 min. and dissolve over hot water.
Beat 2 (3 oz.) pkgs. cream cheese with ½ cup evaporated milk and add dissolved gelatine.
Allow to stand 5 to 10 minutes.
Frost the loaf on all sides.
Garnish and chill in refrigerator.

Plan Simple Menu

When a sandwich loaf is the main dish serve simple accompaniments . . . chilled tomato slices on crisp lettuce . . . fresh fruit compote for dessert.

Fillings Are Delicious

The fillings in the recipe above are delicious; you may plan others to give variety. An especially tasty filling is Wilson's Certified Ham Salad you'll find it in 8 oz. glass jars. Keep it on your Quickie Shelf at all times and quick lunches will never be a problem.

All Wilson products on the market today are of the same high quality they were in pre-war days . . . All must live up to this ideal written by Thos. E. Wilson over 25 years ago:

OUR IDEAL

"To make well and to trade fairly . . . To profit not alone in dollars but in the good will of those with whom we deal . . . To correct our errors . . . To improve our opportunities and to rear from the daily work a structure which shall be known for all that is best in business." Thos. E. Wilson

Yours for maintaining quality.

North Avenue Nursery Benefit Set for Aug. 24

BY JUDITH CASS

THE summer benefit which the board of the North Avenue Day nursery has given for the last two years to enliven the August "dog days" and to raise money for the nursery will be repeated again this year. Following the pattern of the previous two successful benefits, the event will be a showing of fall millinery and a cocktail party at 5:30 p. m. Aug. 24 in the Wedgwood room of Marshall Field & Co. The admission price will cover everything, and nothing will be sold at the party.

Board members have been hard at work and with so little fanfare that virtually all the arrangements were complete when a board meeting was held Monday in Mrs. Theron Chapman's Winnetka home. Three new members will assist with this year's benefit—Mrs. James A. Drain Jr., Miss Lee Cudahy, and Miss Priscilla Blackett. Altho Miss Blackett is following a career in advertising, she gives one day a week of volunteer work at the nursery, which formerly was located in North av. but has been moved to 2200 west in Pierce av., one block south of North av.

The board will discuss plans for the benefit when it meets for luncheon Monday in the nursery. The board's president, Mrs. John Q. Adams Jr., and Mrs. Samuel A. Culbertson II, are co-chairmen of the party.

Service News

Close Chicago friends of Mr. and Mrs. Walter F. Dillingham are saddened by telegrams received from the Dillinghams in Honolulu. "Sad to share our grief with you. Gay's plane failed to return from bombing mission," the messages read. They concern the Dillinghams' youngest son, Capt. Gaylord Dillingham, who has been serving in the Pacific area.

There is hope, of course, that the young army air force pilot may be rescued or found safe. Mrs. Walter Dillingham is the former Louise Gaylord of Chicago, and she and Mr. Dillingham and their sons and daughter were frequent visitors here before the war. Capt. Dillingham and Constance Shepard, daughter of the Roger B. Shepards of St. Paul, Minn., and niece of Mrs. Potter Palmer, were married in New York in January, 1942.

Wedding News

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick P. Boynton of Highland Park left Tuesday for Summit, N. J., to attend the marriage Saturday of their son, Mallery Miller Boynton, and Miss Elizabeth Belle Black, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Everett Black of Summit. The ceremony will take place at 4 p. m. in the Community church, with a small reception following in the Black home.

Young Mr. Boynton recently was discharged from the army air forces under the point system after serving for 30 months in the European and China-Burma-India theaters. He and Miss Black became engaged three years ago before he went overseas. Mr. Boynton's brother-in-law, George H. Thornton of Rosemont, Pa., will be best man. Lt. [j. g.] Frederick Boynton Jr. and his wife, who live in Highland Park, are unable to go east for the ceremony, but another sister and her husband, the Mortimer Adlers, who are summering on Nantucket Island, will be present.

Miss Black attended Lasell Junior college in Auburndale, Mass. Mr. Boynton, who attended the Woodberry Forest school and Kenyon college, will bring his bride to Highland Park to live.

After the wedding Mrs. Boynton Sr. will go to Wawinet, on Nantucket Island, for a visit with the Adlers, who are in her house there, and her son and daughter-in-law, the Woodward Boyntons of New York, who with their three children are occupying a cottage near-by.

Other Wedding News

When Dr. Kellogg Speed gave his daughter, Ensign Helen Marjorie Speed of the WAVES, in marriage to Ensign James H. Hensinger July 14 he and Mrs. Speed did not expect that there would be a second wedding in their home within 16 days. However, Monday night, in a quiet ceremony which was arranged on brief notice, another daughter of the Speeds, Miss Ann Speed, became the bride of Capt. Edwin Oliver Booth Jr. of the army air forces, son of Mr. and Mrs. Booth of Rantoul, Ill.

Miss Speed wore the same pretty wedding gown and veil in which her sister was married, and was attended by Miss Shirley Dean. The

Inquiring Camera Girl

By Maryon Zylstra

[The Tribune will pay $5 for each interesting question submitted by a reader and used by The Tribune. Today's question was submitted by Adeline Meyer, 709 S. Prospect av., Park Ridge.]

THE QUESTION

What do you do that you don't like to see other people do?

WHERE ASKED

THE ANSWERS

Ruth Shanahan, typist, 809 S. Wood st.—Sometimes when I'm watching a movie a clever remark strikes me as being funny and I laugh so loudly no one around me can hear the dialog. Yet when any one else laughs that loud around me I'm annoyed. It's so much easier to tolerate one's own shortcomings.

H. R. Willard, engineer, 2040 Touhy av.—I don't like to see people smoking. It's such a useless habit and people are such slaves to it. But it's a lot of fun. I usually smoke cigars 'myself. Probably the reason I don't mind my own smoking is the fact that I can see others puffing away but I can't see myself.

Evelyn Soukup, pay roll clerk, 2155 Pierce av.—To hear people cracking gum is annoying to me—but I do it. And I hate to see men and women scratching their heads, but it's a bad habit of mine. Probably the most disgusting one of all is having some one read over your shoulder, but I do it, too.

John Clake, blueprinter, 825 Gunnison st.—Every time I see an older man kidding or teasing the girls I think it just shouldn't be done. According to principle it's not right. But I'm certainly not the logical person to feel that way, because I do the same thing. They probably think I'm an old wolf.

Marian Brennan, typist, 1046 Belden av.—I do the same thing that virtually every one else in Chicago does. I jaywalk and cross against red lights when I think I can get away with it. It makes every corner in the loop look like a jumbled up mess and is annoying when driving a car. It should not be done.

William Bringe, service engineer, 3346 Narragansett av.—A favorite fancy of mine is embarrassing my wife in public or at parties. It's a mean trick, and I wouldn't stand for it if some one else treated her the way I do. And I don't think I could take it if she embarrassed me in public. But I do enjoy doing it.

New Silhouette Is Forecast by Fall Toppers

BY REA SEEGER

New first fall hats, altogether different from the skypieces of former seasons, forecast a new silhouette. These exciting new creations have height and, being flattering, have definite feminine appeal. They boast almost forgotten trimmings of velvet ribbon, picot-edged taffeta, ruched ribbons, and chiffons that are deftly shirred, plaited, and then puffed around crowns and brims. Very new and eye-catching sculptured effects come in cleverly manipulated felts. These are brilliant examples of what an expert milliner can do with fingers that know the art of sculpture.

These hats may appear to be problems in mathematics, but they fit as snugly as tho they were zippered on the skull, and all without extra pins, inside ironwork, or elastic. Newest of all are clever hats designed expressly to wear over complicated high buns or braided coiffures. Notice the bulging crowns, which are made that way to fit over the coronet braid or bun hair-dos. Some even tie around the bun or coronet braid and tie again under at the back. Milliners prove with these hats that a mere matter of a revolutionary hair-do does not dull their wits or dampen their inspiration.

Rich jewel tones predominate, at least beyond the many shades of gray.

If the very dramatic sculptured models do not click, try the beautiful felts and first rich colored velvet bonnets trimmed with winter velvet flowers. These are the most flattering of creations, the many colors massed and arranged with skill and limitless imagination. Next come the faintly reminiscent shepherdess hats, small and fitted, that are trimmed with many loops and bows of taffeta or satin ribbon, some a dozen tints or shades to a hat.

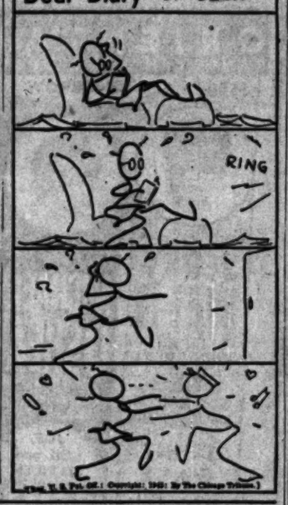
Launch Rest Haven Drive for $250,000 to Build New Home

A campaign to raise $250,000 for a new Rest Haven convalescent home, to be erected at California and Foster avs., was opened last night at a meeting of directors and administrative officers of 12 service auxiliaries in the present home at 1919 Prairie av. According to completed plans, the company will seek pledges and room endowments, Samuel A. Hoffman, former assistant state's attorney and chairman of the drive, said.

The home, which has been in existence for 33 years, now is crowded to capacity with 47 patients, Mrs. Malvina Cannon, superintendent, explained. Plans for the new building call for 100 bed capacity and quarters for medical staff, attendants, and other employes. The new institution, like the old one, will be nonsectarian and will accept patients from charitable hospitals.

Assisting Mr. Hoffman in the drive as co-chairmen will be Mme. Rosa Raisa, Mrs. Nathan Goldblatt, and Mrs. Goldie Stone.

Dear Diary BY BECKY



Inspired by Artist's Palette

This sculpturesque palette brim hat, an original of Lilly Dache's fall and winter collection, is of a lovely dark mauve velour. The swooping curved brim is shaped like an artist's palette and is massed in front with red and flesh colored winter roses. It will be available in the fall showings in Chicago stores.

White Collar GIRL

BY RUTH MAC KAY

Refresher

Maybe it happens every day, but anyway, Pat and Dotty, from a near north side office, went swimming at Oak st. beach on their noon hour the other day. They took their lunch along from home, figured the time necessary for dressing right to the minute, and had a half hour left for swimming. It's a fine refresher for the middle of the day, they say, and their hair wasn't even wet when they reappeared at their desks.

Dog House

The dog house is the spot for men
Who place long distance calls
And then go wand'ring aimlessly
To one of many halls;
"The call is most important!"
That's what they say and think,
The operator puts it thru
As quickly as a wink,
And while she beams successfully
Because she can complete it
The secretary answers back,
"Not here—the boss has beat it!"

MISS INFORMATION

The Other Fellow's Job

Why are employes and department managers not better informed regarding the functions of various other divisions in the offices where they work? This particular lack of knowledge is in direct ratio to the size of the organization these days. Perhaps there should be a liaison officer, or department, so that callers, telephone queries, or mail could be directed promptly to the right office. Certainly it would save time, expense, and annoyance to the caller.

WILLOW

Maybe

Perhaps the solution of the woman boss puzzle is for all of us to weed out, in ourselves, the undesirable traits and cultivate the commendable qualities of all good bosses, male or female. Then when we become bosses, we'll be perfect—maybe!

ALTHEA MCCULLEN

The Grab Bag

The mail is as full of surprises as a grab bag: A reader comments that perhaps the office manager who objects to a WCG wearing a feather in her hair has no hair of his own in which to put a feather—and incloses a study of the cause and treatment of baldness from a medical book printed in 1829. The remedy prescribed is "boxwood, bark of the root, expressed juice, juice of the roots of burdock, honey, and proof spirits in equal quantities mixed together." Also the "head should be rubbed with an onion"—and we pass along the information without charge to any shiny domed executive.

A contributor from Wisconsin sends explicit directions on how to make a dress form for a WCG [mentioned a short time ago] who needs one. . . . Another reader offers one. . . . Grace G. incloses an excellent piece on "Self Pity" which she says she "fetched all the way from the west coast." Too long for printing in the column, we'll keep it on hand for any inquirers. . . . Nominations for the handsomest boss continue to arrive, but—maybe it's the heat [or the humidity]—this editor can't decide what to do with them!

Boy's Smooth Talk May Be Just Chatter

BY SHEILA DALY

[Copyright: 1945: By The Chicago Tribune]

on the SOLID side

"About a week ago I met a boy who soon will be 18. He asked me for a date and my mother let me go with him. We went to a movie, had a sandwich, and walked home. On the way home he told me that he liked me, that he liked the way I dressed, and that I had a good personality. After that he asked me to write to him when he leaves for service in a few weeks. I said I would love to write to him. The next day I saw him on the street, and he acted as if he hardly knew me. I see no reason why he should change like that in 24 hours, do you? If he should call me for a date, should I go? Or if he writes to me later, should I answer his letter. There might be some explanation to his conduct in the fact that I am 15 and he is almost 18."

Usually there is no black and white explanation for such conduct. Many boys have a sort of hobby, like collecting stamps or writing to movie stars, of telling smooth young characters that they like them, then treat them like putty just to see what reaction they get. It makes pleasant conversation on both sides and there's no harm done—unless the gal takes the chatter too seriously. He probably meant what he said to you that evening, and when he saw you the next day——well, some boys can't express themselves as well in the daylight. Go out with the boy when he asks you again and do write to him when he's in service but be careful not too take the friendship too seriously—until he does.

"What can a girl say to a boy who wants to kiss her when she doesn't want him to and thinks it cheap? What can she do to keep him from getting angry?"

That "getting angry" routine is sometimes known as step two in a boy's approach. If a girl refuses to kiss you, sulk a while, and maybe she'll give in just to keep your friendship. But suppose she doesn't give in—now there's a girl worth getting to know! If the situation does come up, don't laugh at the boy; don't pretend to be indignant, but do what you can to change the subject. If he persists in going off into a silent he-man sulk, just tell him bluntly that you're not having fun and that you'd like him to take you home. And if he's that kind of corny character—you probably weren't having fun anyway.

Izler Solomon Has Grant Park Success with Suzanne Sten as Soloist

One of the more agreeable events of the music summer was the return of Izler Solomon, who conducted the first of three concerts with the Grant Park Symphony orchestra last night, with Suzanne Sten as a pretty Viennese soloist who somehow, between the curly bangs of her pompadour, the insouciant puffs of her big sleeves, and the touch of soubrette fire in her style, looked like early pictures of Fritzi Scheff—which ought to give ideas not so much to opera impressarios as to casting directors of some of the season's more demanding music shows.

But despite Miss Sten, whose mezzo-soprano makes pleasant listening, my interest last night was centered in Mr. Solomon. As you all know, Mr. Solomon and Albert Goldberg made our Illinois Symphony orchestra the prize of federal music, and on the basis of its increasingly interesting concerts Mr. Solomon built himself a reputation and a public. He was a lot of things, among them dynamic, inquisitive, and intelligent, but most of all, he made music interesting. He still does.

Like all guest conductors at summer concerts—and no doubt at winter concerts, too—Mr. Solomon could have used more rehearsal, but the point is that he got along so well on what he had. The performance never sagged. It had clarity, beauty, and momentum without driving, and there were times when the orchestra truly sang, which is what every audience in the world really goes to hear.

The overture to "The Marriage of Figaro" ran like silk from a Mozart spool, a supple, fiery Mozart straight from the Italian opera house. Brahms' Second Symphony is a tricky work outdoors of a noisy summer night because so much of the true loveliness is lost, but the first and last movements had a decisive brilliance that made me want to hear the whole in a concert hall some night after plenty of rehearsal. And as a true Solomon trademark, there was something different, Benjamin Britten's deft Soirées Musicales, a set of five tongue in cheek pieces after the inimitable Rossini.

There was a time when a hole in the Solomon technique was his conducting for singers. Consider it plugged. His way with Masenet's "Pleurez, pleurez, mes yeux" from "Le Cid" was the finest possible support for Miss Sten's dramatic performance, and the two of them also came off well with Carmen's Habanera. Miss Sten later returned for a group of songs with Robert Macdonald as her second good accompanist of an entertaining concert.

Music Notes

For the first time in eight years the Salzburg festival will be presented without censorship by the late Herr Goebbels. The famous Austrian music festival may be only a ghost of its old self when it reopens for three weeks starting Aug. 13, but at least it will be a free ghost. About 67 members of the festival orchestra already have been assembled and conductors will include Eugen Jochum, Franz Lehar, and Felix Prohaska. Mozart's "The Abduction from the Harem" will be performed and possibly Hugo von Hofmannstahl's version of "Everyman," banned by Goebbels. Transportation for participating artists is being arranged by the American army, and civilians and American troops will share seats on a 50-50 basis.

Eddie Dowling has taken an option on Benjamin Britten's opera, "Peter Grimes," which is a sensation in London. The text consists of three acts and a prolog by Montague Stater from a poem by George Crabb.

"What do you want me to do—have you tried for assault with attempt to kill?" Humphreys snapped.

"I thought maybe you would want to send posses out to arrest Bill Cairns and Ben Randall, too," Bruce suggested blandly. "Three men were wounded that night. Ben shot Pete Engle and Bill Cairns sent me a pill. I don't suppose you share old Jeff's idea that it is all right to rub out us small fry but lese-majesty to hurt a Randall."

"You know doggoned well I can't do that without starting a war," the sheriff said irritably. "Why couldn't you let sleeping dogs lie? If I put you in my jail they're liable to come roaring in here to get you."

Bruce laughed. "I didn't think you would kill any fatted calf when you saw me."

The officer relaxed. "Well, come in and have a bite of breakfast. You can tie your horse to that young cottonwood."

"I don't think I had better," Bruce differed. "It's not my horse but one I stole." He tied the reins to the saddle horn and gave the cowpony a cut with a quirt. The animal started down the street at a gallop. "Hope he knows enough to go home."

"Where is home for the horse?" Humphreys asked.

The face Bruce turned to him was as blank as a wall. "Where he ranges," the young man said.

"I notice you kept the pony so the brand was on the other side from me."

"That might be because I thought you had better not know who owns it," Sherrill answered.

"Suits me," grunted the sheriff.

Mrs. Humphreys came downstairs to start the day and was surprised to see Bruce on the sofa rolling a cigaret. She had known him as a small boy before either of them had come west.

She was fat and 40, a wholesome good looking, motherly woman. "My goodness," she said, "I thought ——"

Her glance whipped to her husband for instructions. She did not know whether this cheerful young man was a guest or a prisoner.

"You thought I had forgotten your biscuits—and the fried chicken—and the raspberry jam. No, ma'am. When I am your husband's regular boarder do I get you for a cook?"

Mrs. Humphreys laughed. She liked Bruce, as most people did. It was a relief to know his dead body was not lying crumpled in some fold of the hills.

"I can't give you fried chicken for breakfast, but you're welcome to the beaten biscuits and the raspberry jam."

After the edge of their appetite had been dulled Humphreys raised the question in his mind. "What in heck am I to do with you?"

Sherrill helped himself to more raspberry jam. "Is that a rhetorical question, sheriff? Or do you want advice?"

"I ought to put you in the calaboose," Humphreys said, answering himself. "But nobody wants you there. I sure don't. Your friends don't. I don't suppose you want to be shut up. The cattlemen would rather have you at your ranch or in the hills where there is no closed season on you."

"Your reasoning points to one conclusion, doesn't it? Regardless of who it pleases." Bruce nodded approval. "But what is your duty? Let us look at the facts. The big ranches put themselves against the law by fencing government land. We cut the fences. Are we breaking any law? If so, point it out to me."

"You know blamed well you are waving a red rag at the big outfits."

"You're ducking the point. Of course it annoyed them. It annoys a burglar to be bitten by a bulldog while he is robbing a house. Any remarks?"

"Go on," Mrs. Humphreys said. "Tim is listening."

"While we are peaceably cutting bob wire—"

"With guns in your hands," Humphreys barked.

"That country is filled with rattlesnakes and they are all out at night," Bruce mentioned. "Well, while we are at work along come a bunch of warriors and start shooting. Pete Engle is wounded, and young Ben Randall races after him to cut Pete down before he can reach a horse. I fire once. Far as I know that was the only shot from any one of our party. Isn't that a pretty good self-defense case? Pete and I are both hit. We are not really asking you to arrest young Ben Randall and Bill Cairns. Nobody is asking you to put me in jail."

"What are you here for then?"

"To put myself right with the law. Arrest me, then release me on bond. Everybody satisfied, including your conscience."

"A lot you care about my conscience," the sheriff grunted.

His wife said: "Still, it's a good way out, Tim. Bruce has a right to claim self-defense, so without deciding on the merits of the case you release him on bond for the courts to settle the right of it later."

"Hmp! Maybe Jessie is right at that. I'll see Judge Lanigan. You stay right here till I've talked with him."

After the sheriff had gone Bruce suggested that he would like to work for his breakfast.

"How about me hoeing that corn in the garden?"

"Tim said you were to stay indoors," Mrs. Humphreys told him. "You look fagged out. What about your wound? Hadn't I better have Doctor Bradley see it?"

"No need. A good fairy doctored me."

She looked at him with shrewd, inquiring eyes. "You're keeping something quiet. All right. That's your business. But I'll bet a doughnut there's a woman in this."

Bruce was quite willing to follow her advice about resting. When he awoke the sun was just sinking.

Mrs. Humphreys heard his stirring and called from the foot of the stairs that supper was just ready.

"Everything arranged," the sheriff said. "Light out when you like. If you are starting on your travels again, what do you expect to do for a horse?" the sheriff inquired. "By your way of it, you have stolen two in a week. If you keep on helping yourself maybe some owner after a while will get narrow-minded and not like it."

"I'll mosey down to the corral and hire one for myself. I'm going to hate leaving you, Mrs. Humphreys. If you ever think of taking a second husband I'd like to file an application."

"I like the husband I have pretty well," she said. "But I'm some worried about you, Bruce. Where are you going from here? Are you sure you'll be safe?"

He did not tell her where he was going. The less the sheriff knew of his whereabouts, the better.

The wedding was decided upon when Capt. Booth arrived on a 45 day leave after 21 months overseas. He and his bride will go to Rantoul today to visit his parents, and later will go to Indian Head, Md., to visit Ensign and Mrs. Hensinger. Capt. Booth is a graduate of the University of Illinois. When he returns overseas, young Mrs. Booth will go back to her studies at the University of Michigan. She previously attended Vassar.

Friends of James J. Forstall and Mrs. Frances H. Dresk have received announcements of their marriage June 8 in Chicago. Mr. Forstall and his bride are at home temporarily in an apartment near the Chicago Town and Tennis club, of which he was one of the founders, and may move to the Union League club later unless they can find an apartment.

Engagement News

With the announcement which Mr. and Mrs. Walter B. Vanlandingham of Winnetka are making today of the engagement of their niece, Miss Suzanné Jackson, comes word that she and Lt. [j. g.] Robert Guy Thompson of the merchant marine will be married at 4 p. m. Monday in St. Mark's Episcopal church, Evanston. Miss Jackson is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Max Jackson of Kansas City, Mo. Altho her home is in Kansas City, she has spent all her recent summer vacations and holidays with her Winnetka uncle and aunt and with Mr. and Mrs. J. Herbert Vanlandingham, who will give their niece's wedding reception in their Evanston home.

Miss Jackson met her fiance while she was a student at Mills college. Lt. Thompson, son of Maj. Samuel G. Thompson of the marines and Mrs. Thompson of Carlsbad, Cal., attended the University of California. He has been in service for five years and will take his bride to San Francisco, where she will have an apartment to await his return from sea duty.

Mr. and Mrs. Morrill W. King of Kinglee, Prairie View, announce the engagement of their daughter, Virginia Ware, to Ensign Ross Albert Fife Jr. of Merried Acres, Newtown, Conn. Miss King was graduated from Frances Shimer Junior college and is attending Iowa State college. Ensign Fife, who attended Penn State college, is stationed at Coronado, Cal., for further naval training.

Protect Baby from Insects in Summer

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

[Copyright: 1945: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

That matchless petal-soft skin that babies have is beautiful, but also very delicate.

"Our" baby was loping about the lawn like a little chimpanzee one day in June, then squatting quietly to look at a flower or tiny pebble, when I noticed little flurries of gnats around his head.

Well, you know that gnats do nothing more than annoy an adult a little. But shortly after, I was surprised to see a trickle of bright red blood, one in front and one behind the baby's ear. As this happened several days during the "gnat period," we realized that their tiny bites had really drawn blood from the baby.

Both for the baby's comfort and his actual health, it is important to keep his carriage covered with mosquito netting. Mosquito bites can make him really miserable, bees and wasps can get at him [tho these rarely do], and for the city baby even more than the country baby, flies are a disease menace as well as an annoyance.

The same protection should be afforded the baby indoors. Naturally, most houses and apartments are well screened—but not all. You will soon find out whether you need a netting over the baby indoors, too. The baby's night rest can be ruined by one or two rapacious mosquitoes, and it doesn't take many flies to carry disease.

In connection with the latter insects, it is important not only to keep them out by screening, but to see that no foods or garbage [indoors or out] is accessible to them. A valuable aid to the destruction or discouragement of flies, besides cleanliness, is the use of one of the excellent nonpoisonous liquids for spraying which are available today.

P. S. for new mothers: Babies, when old enough, have a knack of pulling their netting off their carriage and down around them. Keep an eye out for this.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 spade	Pass	3 diamonds	Pass
3 spades	Pass	4 spades	Pass
5 hearts	Pass	6 spades	Pass
Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Ten of clubs.

Today's hand is a striking example. The bidding was somewhat peculiar but, I think, entirely logical. After the two diamond response South was on the verge of jumping to three spades but decided against it and was therefore obliged to make the slight underbid of two spades. When North had sufficient strength to jump the bid, South regretted not having previousl, shown his full strength and tried to atone for it by showing the ace of hearts. Had South's second bid been three spades, North would have gone to slam without any further coaxing.

The 10 of clubs was opened and South pulled two rounds of trumps hoping that the diamond suit could subsequently be established for discards. When the suit broke 4-1 he found himself one entry short for his purpose and had to surrender. The error lay in drawing trumps too soon. Until the diamonds are built up there is no use getting the trumps out. If the diamonds break reasonably nobody will be able to trump for a minute or two and if they don't break decently, what good will it do to extract the trumps and find yourself with a handful of losers?

After winning the club lead the proper play is a diamond to the king. When the queen falls, South should continue with his remaining diamond. If West trumps a low one will be played from dummy and that is the only trick that the opposition can take, because one more small diamond is ruffed by South, with an honor and the rest of them become good. The high trump is now an entry for declarer to enter the dummy and cash the diamonds. The advantage of delaying the trump-pulling process becomes apparent. It is argued that East might have been the one that was short of diamonds and would then have trumped the ace, the answer is that against that distribution even angels could not make the hand.

Movie, 'Valley of Decision,' Is Skilfully Acted

By Mae Tinée

Marcia Davenport's popular tale of the Irish girl who entered a family as a servant and remained to become its spine has necessarily been altered and shortened considerably in order to fit movie requirements. The 800 page novel of four generations of Scotts has been cut down to two sets of the family, and the story of the steelmakers is not brought up to the present.

The plot contains much of interest, and a cast of expert workmen has been selected to portray it, all of which helps to make its two hour length less noticeable. Greer Garson's Mary Rafferty is a winsome Irish lass whose brogue gets thicker on occasions and whose governing instincts some people might label sheer superstition, altho more Celtic types might call her "fey."

At any rate, she is piquant and pretty and almost superhumanly selfless and noble and won't marry the Scott son whom she loves deeply, altho his kindly father and gentle, appreciative mother beg her to do so. The curses of her bitter old father, a cantankerous invalid who becomes a rabble rouser and later a murderer, and her own sense of class consciousness and inability to see herself as a "grand lady" of the house in which she serves, despite the fact the Elder Scott assures her that most millionaires were poor immigrants a generation or so back, keep her firmly bound.

The story tells something of steel and the sweat and struggle necessary to produce the metal which is such an essential part of the economic greatness of our country. It also deals with the strife and bloodshed and stubbornness on both sides of the fence along which labor unionism was developed. The wealthy old steelman, Donald Crisp, is not an ogre, and the laborers involved are not grasping and greedy but worthy of their hire, altho a heavy price is paid before employer and employe understand each other.

Gladys Cooper does her usual fine work as Mrs. Scott, and Lionel Barrymore is a fearsome and acrid Pat Rafferty. The backstairs gossip among the servants and the strike scenes are deftly handled, and, while she indulges in some overacting, Miss Garson and gaunt looking Gregory Peck are well matched as a pair of ill-starred lovers.

Some of the dialog seemed pretty heavily quaint and unnatural, but tragedy and romance and comedy are all present in the proper amounts, and I'm sure that "The Valley of Decision" will be popular with most movie fans.

Light Movie Comedy

"PENTHOUSE RHYTHM"

This is a lighthearted and lightheaded comedy with the same old plot about the act, a girl, and three men who are terrific but can't get a radio audition. Led by the vigorous Judy Clark—that girl must take too many vitamins—they go to great lengths to make the grade, as they eventually do, after almost every one in the cast has an opportunity to sing or dance or both. If you have a taste for amateur nights and second rate comedy you may not be bored by this offering.

Looking at Hollywood

By Hedda Hopper

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Aug. 1—Think of Marlene Dietrich getting Darryl Zanuck's ear, uninterrupted by telephone calls or front office sessions, all the way from Europe to America. The production plans made on that journey are plenty exciting. Marlene's had a burning ambition for some time to produce pictures. So what do you want to bet at least one of those future Dietrich productions will be made for Twentieth Century-Fox in Paris? . . . It won't be long now until Dick Powell and June Allyson stand before the preacher. When they do, Jane Willkie will be on hand as maid of honor. . . . And it could be bells—wedding, of course—for Gloria Saphier and Bert Smith.

V-Day for Monda Freeman

When Paramount lifted Monda Freeman's option yesterday for one year, it was a triumph for a fightin' little gal who's never had a chance to make a picture on her own home lot. She's been lent to four different studios and clicked every time. After her hit in "Junior Miss" she should get the best at her home studio. . . . Back to town comes Barry Fitzgerald, his heart broken because he couldn't get that trip to Ireland that's been on his mind far more than Oscars. Barry's next will be "Third Avenue." . . . Dan Duryea, one of the meanest of all the meanies—remember "The Woman in the Window"?—goes slightly romantic in "Scarlet Street," the new Joan Bennett picture. Dan has versatility, a million dollar smile, and plenty of charm. He's wise to cash in on these before he's hopelessly typed.

Paints 'Em Bad and Good

Martin Kosleck played Nazi bad men to the exclusion of other roles. He felt he was washed up when that type picture began to lose vogue. So he turned back to painting and made his third portrait of Bette Davis, which Warners has bought for $1,000 and will use in "A Stolen Life." The first portrait was for "The Letter." Kosleck kept this one himself. The one for "Of Human Bondage" is hanging in Bette's home. She'll get this new one when Warners is thru with it. Kosleck also shifted over suddenly to pleasant roles, playing a sympathetic guy in "The Spider." . . . Cornel Wilde, who's been in big demand since his hit as Chopin, hopes he gets a breather before his next. Cornel had only two hours off between his last two pictures. He finished "Bandit of Sherwood Forest" at 6 p. m., then dashed over to Twentieth Century at 8, where he had a haircut and was shoved onto a train for the "Leave Her to Heaven" location at 9. . . . Clarence Brown flew back from location in Florida, where he'd been on a four months' go for "The Yearling." The rest of the cast will come in by train.

Strains of Auld Lang Syne

When they speak of "Taurog type loyalty" in Hollywood, they mean the kind that never forgets old friends. Norman Taurog has a raft of the actors and actresses who've worked with him thru the years cast in "Hoodlum Saint." Among them are Slim Summerville, Matt Moore, Chester Conklin, and George Bunny, brother of the late John Bunny. They'll make a splendid background for his leads—Bill Powell and Esther Williams. . . . After Universal officials previewed "Uncle Harry," they changed a red hot sequence into a little dream number, and Joan Harrison hit the ceiling. I thought it pretty nifty sleight of hand myself. . . . George Burns and Gracie Allen play in their usual luck. They've managed to snag Meredith Willson to make music and merry on their radio show come autumn. . . . Louis Lurie, who spent last week-end here, tells me San Francisco business men are talking about building an opera house down here. That may surprise some of our Los Angeles bigwigs, but we sure could do with one.

Something for the Boys

What a service Bob Christenberry of the Hotel Astor has been doing for our boys. He's making a tour of army, navy, and marine hospitals telling our kids that the loss of his right hand, when he was a marine in France 25 years ago, hasn't been any handicap to him in his career. And seein' is believin'. . . . Imitators can't get to be too fond of people—it denatures the product. Mitzi Greene's best imitations carry a bit of sting to them—you know, marmalade on a sword. But she's a likable kid and people warm up to her quickly. Hildegarde has been so nice to her, Mitzi tells me, that she has to take all the teeth out of that imitation. Now she's out to write some new ones about people she doesn't like.

Thru the Looking Glass

Like ever so many other working girls, one we know was all set, financially and otherwise, for her vacation a few weeks ago and discovered that she had no place to go because she could get no transportation.

Know what she did?

Took every dime of that vacation money and lathered it on beauty treatments!

She's having two solid weeks of face treatments, reducing and posture correction sessions, manicures, hair brushings, body massages. And she reports that this is the best vacation she's ever had because for once in her life she's feeling luxurious, wallowing in the pampering, and feeling extra smug about it all because she knows that the beautifying effects of these two weeks of treatment will make her a handsomer and happier woman for years to come.

She likes the professional manicure once a week, with hand massage, and the new hair-do she has adopted and is able to groom to perfection, but the things she really adores are the body treatments, long leisurely massages that soothe her nerves and smooth her skin from head to toe. An exercise session, followed by body massage, is a better bolsterer of the sense of exquisite well being than a good night's sleep. The face treatment, too, followed by a deft make-up, is not only the kind of ritual that makes a woman want to purr—but it's instructive as well. The working girl is learning how to massage her own face and neck and how to make the wisest use of her basic beauty preparations—knowledge that will help preserve her youth immeasurably.

She's having one wonderful time, she reports. And this is one vacation from which she won't return to work exhausted. She'll feel like a new woman; best of all she'll look like one!

Legion Gives Dog War Vet an Honorary Membership

Jack von Lustig Bennett, honorably discharged K-9 corps boxer dog, will have to be content with an honorary membership in the Charles Roth post of the American Legion. George E. Curran, commander of the post, applied for regular membership for the dog but National Judge Advocate Ralph Gregg gave a verdict of no—because "a dog is not a person."

OVERSEAS GIFTS HELD SUBJECT TO RATION RULE

Officials of the regional office of price administration said yesterday that instructions have been received from Washington, D. C., confirming the order prohibiting gifts of rationed food and shoes for shipment to other countries without ration stamps. The only exceptions are rationed food for soldiers and sailors and shoes for representatives of this government abroad. Under the previous arrangements, purchasers might order rationed items for shipment by the seller, who subsequently was paid the required points. Several Chicago stores have been handling the gift packages.

HAYES TO TELL HIGH SPEED ROAD PLANS ON W-G-N

Details of a plan for building a high speed but safe super-highway between Chicago and Detroit will be announced by Charles M. Hayes, president of the Chicago Motor club, in an exclusive broadcast over W-G-N from 1:15 to 1:30 p. m. today. The broadcast will come from the Chicago-Detroit Express highway meeting in the Palmer House. The proposal is sponsored by the Chicago Motor club and the Automobile Club of Michigan. Proponents of the highway estimate that it will halve motoring time between the two cities and save many lives.

STATES GRANT GIs EXEMPTIONS ON TAX BILLS

Tax exemptions of various kinds have been granted to soldiers and sailors by several legislatures this year, the Federation of Tax Administrators reported yesterday.

Income tax exemptions granted in 10 states vary from exemption of the first $1,500 of service pay in Colorado to all salary for 1945 and any subsequent year of the war in Alabama.

No property taxes are imposed in South Dakota. New Jersey gives exemptions on personal property taxation on loans under the veterans' business loan act and Texas excuses discharged men and those on furlough from six months of motor vehicle fees. Indiana has granted $25,000 exemption on estates of men who died in service.

Must Pay $400 for Using Cottage as Chicken Coop

Mr. and Mrs. John Yuska, who live half a mile north of Milburn, Lake county, must pay Mrs. Olivia P. Hartmann, 5711 N. Central av., $400 for taking possession of her summer cottage and turning it into a chicken coop, a jury in Lake county Circuit court decided yesterday. Mrs. Hartmann had sued the Yuskas for $5,200.

Paul G. Armstrong, Illinois director of selective service, has announced the assignment of Lt. William R. James, former Chicago advertising man, as administrative assistant at headquarters in Springfield. Lt. James served 26 months overseas.

CHICAGO LAWYER DIES IN SINKING OF ENEMY SHIP

MAJ. IRVING ROBERT MANDELSON, 30, son of Mrs. Bess Mandelson, 162 E. Ohio st., was among the American prisoners killed when a Japanese prison ship was sunk off Luzon Dec. 15, 1944, the war department yesterday informed Mrs. Mandelson. Maj. Mandelson, a Chicago attorney, was in command of an infantry battalion in the Philippines when war was declared and was taken prisoner with the fall of Corregidor.

CAPT. JOHN O. SPANGLER, 27, of the army air forces, was killed April 14 in China in an action in which he had been reported missing, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Antone H. Spangler of 9530 S. Claremont av., have been notified. He was a graduate of Morgan Park High school. He went overseas Aug. 2, 1944. He entered the army in 1942.

ENSIGN EDWARD ASHLEY GERHARD JR., 31, son of the rector of Christ church, Winnetka, was killed when a Japanese vessel on which he was a prisoner was sunk in the China sea, his parents have been notified. He was captured in the fall of Corregidor.

LT. JAMES R. CLELAND, who was reported missing in action in Europe Feb. 25, 1944, now has been declared dead, his father, De Witt Cleland, 6752 Crandon av., has been told. He was pilot of a B-24 serving with the 15th air force in Italy. He went overseas in December, 1943. He was a student at Northwestern university.

MAJ. EUGENE H. NIRLINGER, 35, former Chicagoan who was captured by the Japanese after the fall of Corregidor, died Dec. 15 when a Japanese ship was sunk, his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Jelonak, 501 Surf st., have learned.

SGT. JAMES J. HOGAN, 24, reported missing when his bomber encountered heavy flak over Yugoslavia July 26, 1944, is presumed to be dead, his mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Hogan, 1212 W. 51st st., was notified. Mrs. Hogan has received the air medal awarded him.

SGT. DONALD D. WICKLUND, 20, turret gunner of a Flying Fortress missing after a flight over Austria July 22, 1944, has been declared dead, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Egnar Wicklund, 143 Elm st., Batavia, were notified.

PVT. JOHN S. MIES, 26, of 9704 Charles st., was killed in action May 25, on Cebu in the Philippines. Services for him will be held at 10 a. m. Saturday in St. Barnabas church.

ANOTHER VICTIM OF SKYSCRAPER DISASTER DIES

New York, Aug. 1 (AP)—The death toll in the crash of a B-25 bomber into the Empire State building Saturday rose to 14 today with the death of Joseph C. Fountain, 47, a National Catholic Welfare council employe who received third degree burns trying to aid other workers in the office to safety.

Fountain survived 96 hours, during which he received 25 blood plasma injections.

Fountain's wife, Mary, who had kept a three day vigil at his bedside, was not with him when he died. She collapsed last night and was admitted to the hospital as a patient. She was not informed immediately of his death.

A message of condolence from Pope Pius XII. to the families of the victims was read by Archbishop Amleto Cicognani, apostolic delegate at Washington, D. C., at a solemn requiem high mass at St. Patrick's cathedral for welfare office victims.

1,028 SIGN UP FOR RAIL WORK IN SINGLE DAY

H. L. Carter, director of the bureau of employment and claims of the railroad retirement board, said yesterday that 1,028 applied for railroad work and were referred by the RRB to western railroads on the first day of the month long drive to recruit 65,000 railroad workers. The figure covers Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin, and 22 states west of the Mississippi river.

Carter said the figure was three times the number of workers referred on any day before the drive began.

There is an urgent need for firemen, breakmen, switchmen, telegraphers, boilermakers, and helpers to keep war goods and troops moving westward in the quantities the army demands and at the same time move essential civilian traffic.

TAKES GI's CHECKS, GETS A YEAR

Federal Judge Elwyn R. Shaw yesterday sentenced George H. Tyner, 30, Negro, of 4161 Vincennes av., to a year in federal prison for stealing a $13 postal money order which a soldier had sent home to his mother.

BOARD ACCEPTS WAGE BOOST ON ELECTRIC LINES

An emergency board appointed by President Truman has reported that a wage increase of 4 cents an hour for employes of two suburban electric lines would be "not violative" of the national stabilization program.

The board made its report at Washington, D. C., yesterday on the agreement of the Chicago, Aurora & Elgin and the Chicago, North Shore & Milwaukee lines to pay the increase to operating employes, members of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen and Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen.

The 4 cent increase was accepted by the unions as a compromise on their demand for 12¼ to 16½ cents more after the board was created to investigate the dispute between the lines and their employes who twice threatened to strike.

HIP FRACTURE KILLS WOMAN, 80

Mrs. Minnie McCormick, 80, of 4616 Dover st., who suffered a hip fracture when she fell in her home, died yesterday in County hospital.

Traded Victory Garden Truck for Beer, Wife Says

Charging that Rolland R. Lloyd, 50, of 328 Laporte av., North Lake Village, took the produce from their war garden and traded it for beer, Mrs. Jessie M. Lloyd, 49, sued him for divorce yesterday.

BIERMAN HEADS ALL-STAR COACHING STAFF

In the WAKE of the NEWS

BY ARCH WARD

LOYOLA University of Chicago and Bradley Tech of Peoria have entered the Central Collegiate conference, which annually sponsors the indoor and outdoor 3-C track meets. . . . Other members are Michigan State, Butler, Notre Dame, Marquette, Drake, Michigan Normal, Western Michigan, and Wayne. . . . Leo Durocher of the Brooklyn Dodgers never visits the Pink Poodle, press and radio recreation parlor in Wrigley field. . . . All the other National league managers drop in, occasionally at least, for a cheese sandwich and a cup cake. . . . When the National league eastern clubs returned to the Atlantic seaboard after their second invasion of the west, the fifth place Giants were two games over the .500 mark and the Cincinnati Reds, in sixth place, were only two games under the "good as the league" level. . . . Last year, at the finish of the pennant race, the Cubs took down fourth money, altho they were three games under .500. . . . Notre Dame alumni in New Orleans already are beating the drums for the first showing of an Irish football team in the Crescent City Nov. 24, when it battles Tulane. . . . Perhaps the most forehanded traveling secretary in the major leagues today is Robbie Lewis of the Cubs. . . . When Bob sends his rooming list to the several hotels well in advance of the arrival dates he reserves an electric fan, a rare contraption in most inns these days, for the Lewis suite. . . . Fans are practically essential to survival in St. Louis and Washington in July and August.

Bert Wilson and Wayne Osborne, the radio gents who have been doing a fine job airing Cub games, are happy for two outstanding reasons—the Cubs have a big lead and, after each game, Bert and Wayne take turns trimming a Chicago sports editor [not your conductor] who simply will not concede that he doesn't understand the finer points of gin rummy. . . . Bob Fenimore, Oklahoma A. and M. athlete, and several other southern stars in a camp at Delafield, Wis., have challenged Marquette university's summer basketball squad to a game and it probably will be arranged. . . . Bobby Blattner, former St. Louis Cardinal infielder, and Bobby Riggs, the tennis star, conduct a daily sports program over the armed forces' radio station in the Marianas. . . . It is highly popular with the GI's out there. . . . Referee Arthur Donovan, who has handled several of Billy Conn's bouts, predicts Bill will be a better fighter after he returns from the war than he was before. . . . "Increased weight will give him more punching power," says Art. . . . Kenneth Barr, a 16 year old High school student, owns and trains a one horse stable—Adorable Ann—at the Longacres, Wash., track. . . . Casey Stengel, managing the lowly Kansas City Blues for the New York Yankees, was in town the other day trying to get help from the pennant contending Cubs. . . . Lt. Nick Conteas, quarter back on Northwestern university's 1939 football team, is commander of a PT boat which participated in the Borneo landings.

Soldiers of Peace

Far from the cannons' dull roar,
Soldiers are fighting a battle
Valiantly, just as before.
There is no fanfare of glory
For him on whose war stricken eyes
The light of a world bathed in beauty
Never again shall arise.
Sightless they are, but unbeaten,
Facing ahead as those would,
Who rally youth's buoyant spirit
And ask but a chance to make good.
Blazing new paths of endeavor
On a strangely familiar old earth;
High have they paid to insure us
Things of an infinite worth.
Learning new skills with rare patience,
Finding in work sure release,
Winning the conflict with darkness—
These are the soldiers of peace.
—B. L. Bruce

Post-War Plans with the Butcher

Well, let's see; what will I have for dinner Sunday? My goodness, Joe, such a nice variety of meat today! . . . I hardly know what to choose; guess you'd better make it a beef roast. . . . About a four pound rolled rib. . . . And say, put a piece of pork loin with it. . . . Some one is sure to want cold pork for a snack Sunday night. . . . Better wrap up a porterhouse, too, for tonight and put a lump of suet with it. . . . A pound of butter, too, the best. . . . Better make it two pounds. . . . How much do I owe you, Joe? Is that all? Well, wrap up a pound of that homemade country sausage. . . . We get so tired of eating bacon EVERY morning.
—Maysie Kay

Jazbo's Journal

I read today how Leopold Stokowski, who at the age of 64 married the heiress Gloria Vanderbilt, wooed her by reading poetry to her all thru their courtship. Now, fellows, not that I wish to appear commercial, but I have a very tidy little volume of original poems which may be had at a very reasonable price; reasonable, I mean, when you consider it may win you an heiress. [Who says "artists" have no business sense?]

From a Hollywood chatter column: "Colleen Moore, while dancing the rhumba with Mervyn Le Roy, lost her hat and one shoe. 'We don't do it that way in Chicago,' gasped Colleen." Well, like I always say, when the Hollywood playboys play they play.

Dolores

A single star, an only dawn; and I
Have found the wings on which my heart can fly,
Since she is part of my eternity . . .
And now, as I grow wise, I plainly see
How love refreshes when the days go dry
And naught remains beneath the falling sky
Except her haunting name eternally . . .
She is my hope when frailty fells my heart;
And in her voice I find the fervid part
Of fight . . . Like creed that lifts forevermore
She is to me, for never once before
Have I known half such soul as glorifies
Itself in crystal splendor in her eyes.

Max Butcher, the Pittsburgh Pirates' right handed pitching behemoth, celebrated Cookie day in Wrigley field yesterday by according the Cubs their first day time shutout of the National league season. The score was 1 to 0 as the Cubs starved on a four hit diet.

Claude Passeau, who yielded only four hits in eight innings of pitching, suffered his fourth loss of the season—he's won 11. He had the misfortune of pitching the Pirates' second and third hits in the seventh inning, a single by Jim Russell and a double by Frank Colman producing the afternoon's only marker. Colman, by the way, also doubled off Ray Prim with two out in the ninth, but Bill Salkeld struck out to end this threat.

Cookie day attracted 22,224, of which 4,044 paid their way in with 5,200 boxes of cookies and cakes for Chicago's service men's centers.

Derringer vs. Roe Today

The Pirate victory brought the season standing between the clubs to a 7 to 7 stand-off, tho the Cubs now are 10½ games ahead of Frankie Frisch's chattels. The brief series will end this afternoon with Preacher Roe and Paul Derringer presiding. The Cubs, whose six game winning streak ended yesterday, plan to start a new one before departing for a five city road trip after today's affair.

Passeau, who perhaps recalls that the Cubs made 24 runs for him in Boston a month ago tomorrow, did not yield a hit, and only one pass in the first five innings yesterday. Only one ball got to the outfield in the span, an easy fly to Andy Pafko. Pete Coscarart scratched the first hit, in the sixth, a single off Stan Hack's glove. After the aforesaid scoring process in the seventh, Lee Handley singled to center with two out in the eighth and stole second. Then Johnny Barrett struck out.

Bill and Phil Fail to Hit

First of the Cubs' four hits off Butcher was a single by Pafko in the second inning. Then Harry Lowrey lined into a double play. Hack opened the fourth with a single and Don Johnson sacrificed. Hack got the lone Cub close-up view of third base when he went there on Bill Nicholson's fly to Barret. Phil Cavarretta ended the inning with a pop to Handley.

Paul Gillespie singled with one out in the eighth and Bill Schuster went to first to run for him. Len Merullo filed to Barrett and Heinz Becker, batting for Passeau, looked at two strikes, then tipped the third into Salkeld's glove.

In the ninth Johnson singled with one down. Nicholson struck out and Johnson stole second on the miss. Cavarretta ended the game with a fly to Russell.

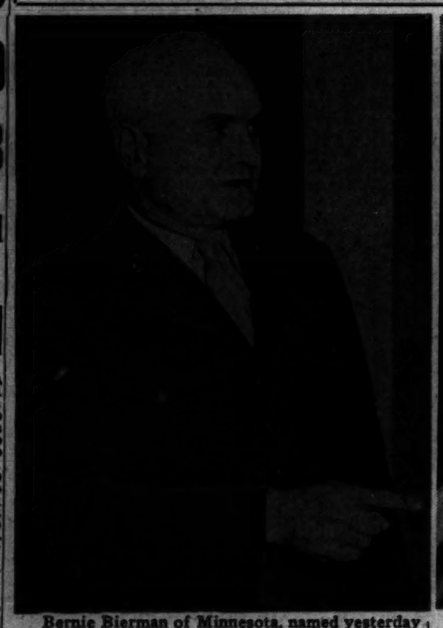
DRAFT INQUIRY NEWS TO ME, SAYS BOROWY

Pitcher Hank Borowy said last night he was unaware of an investigation of his 2-B classification by the New Jersey selective service headquarters.

"I don't know anything about it," said Borowy. "Whoever started the investigation hasn't notified me. I worked at a war plant until the government said it was all right for baseball players to follow their regular professions."

He said his correct age was 29 instead of 27 as listed in baseball records.

HIGH SPOTS IN GRIDIRON TACTICIAN'S CAREER



Bernie Bierman of Minnesota, named yesterday as head coach of the College All-Stars against the Green Bay Packers the night of Aug. 30 in Soldiers' field. He is shown as a marine lieutenant colonel shorty before leaving service last year.

Cleveland, O., Aug. 1—The embattled White Sox who spent the night in sixth place returned to the top of the second division this afternoon, the power for the ascent coming from a 2 to 1 success registered over the usually obliging Indians. And by way of making the ending of a four game losing streak a gala occasion Manager Jim Dykes had himself bounced from the party, his act, however not equaling a subsequent job in which a Cleveland coach, Burt Shotton, retired one of his own batters.

As might be indicated by the low scoring feature, the affair was mainly a duel between Steve Gromek, who was seeking his 13th victory, and Ed Lopat, the Sox lefty who attained his seventh. The Indian star yielded only five hits, but four of them were paired, the last pair producing the decisive run in the ninth. Le Roy Schalk launched this pleasing incident with a single, his second blow, dashed to third when John Dickshot singled, and counted on a squeeze bunt supplied by Floyd Baker.

Dykes Gets the Heave

The Dykes removal, his first of the season, took place in the fifth when the Sox were fretting about their 1 to 0 lead which eventually melted into a tie because of a homer by Pat Seerey. Frank Hayes tripled with one out in the fifth and Coach Shotton, before the runner approached third, had moved himself almost to the plate instead of remaining in the coaches' box. Dykes complained this was illegal, kept on talking after he had returned to the bench, and was chased from there by Umpire Hal Weafer.

To make it funnier, Felix Mackiewicz lined into Cass Michaels' hands for the second out while Weafer, who was working at third, was turned away from the diamond, his attention centered on Dykes. The Indians promptly raised the roof about the play, claiming time should have been called and Mackiewicz should be permitted to bat again. The umpires laughed at this plea. Lopat escaped from this jam on Al Cihocki's fly to Wally Moses, the next

N.U. Golf Stars Meet Today in Junior Finals

BY CHARLES BARTLETT

Jack Atten of Edgewater and Bob Abrahams of Brookwood, associates for more than a year on Northwestern university's golf team, will argue it out today on a 36 hole trip over the Hinsdale golf club's acreage for the 1945 Junior closed championship of the Chicago District Golf association.

The two Wildcat pupils of Ted Payseur, the man who built up the National Intercollegiate tournament into the finest amateur event in the game, had no easy going in the two 18 hole matches which ushered them into the title match. Atten, the Chick Evans protege who went to the recent final of the C. D. G. A. Junior Open tournament before yielding to the bright young Jimmy Love of Peoria, started an arduous day by eliminating the defending champion, Henry Heinly of the home club, 3 and 2, in the quarter finals. He was forced to travel the same 16 holes in the afternoon semi-finals before he could put out Dewey Fagerburg, the La Grange 16 year old who now attends the Asheville [N. C.] school.

Abrahams won his morning argument with young Bob Cleveland of Crown Point, Ind., by a 3 and 1 margin. In the afternoon Bob, former holder of the Illinois Interscholastic title in his prep days at La Grange High, started off with four fancy threes to win a 4 and 2 debate from 16 year old Earl Liff of Twin Orchard. Results:

Quarter-Final

Jack Atten, Edgewater, defeated Henry Heinly, Hinsdale, 3 and 2.
Dewey Fagerburg, Hinsdale, beat Jack Bassett, Tam o' Shanter, 3 and 1.
Bob Abrahams, Brookwood, beat Bob Cleveland, Crown Point, Ind., 3 and 1.
Earl Liff, Twin Orchard, beat Bill Owen, La Grange, 1 up.

Semi-Final

Atten beat Fagerburg, 3 and 2.
Abrahams beat Liff, 4 and 2.

MANGRUM HOLDS LEAD IN ARMY GOLF TOURNEY

PARIS, Aug. 1 (AP)—Tech. Sgt. Stanley Panek of Miami, Fla., cut nine strokes off par and set a course record of 66 today in the second day of the United States army's tournament to discover the best pro and amateur golfer in the European theater of operations.

Panek, playing in the pro field, finished the first 36 holes with 143, three strokes behind Corp. Lloyd Mangrum of Los Angeles, who added a 71 to his 69 of yesterday.

WAR DATE WINS $29,800 STAKE; WHIRLABOUT 2D

BY MAURICE SHEVLIN

War Date, Mrs. Elizabeth N. Graham's 3 year old daughter of War Admiral, yesterday added the $29,800 Arlington Matron handicap to her brilliant 1945 record which includes triumphs in the Princess Doreen and the Medesty handicaps. The speedy brown filly, piloted by the veteran Otto Grohs, never was far back but hit the stretch with a burst of speed which carried her by the stands four lengths in front of Louis B. Mayer's Whirlabout and six lengths ahead of the third place Durazna from Brownell Combs' barn.

War Date's victory, which rewarded her backers in the crowd of 16,000 with $4.80, $3.40, and $2.40, gave Mrs. Graham's Maine Chance farm string its sixth big purse of the meeting. Besides War Date's three firsts, War Jeep took the Skokie handicap and the Constitution purse, and Baugay captured the Arlington Lassie. The Matron netted Mrs. Graham $18,800.

Recce Moves into Lead

Whirlabout, ridden by Willie Bailey, paid the customers $5.60 and $3.80 and put $5,000 into the Hollywood film magnate's treasury. Durazna with Georgie Woolf up, returned $3.40 to show and earned $2,500 for the Kentucky turf man. Ruth Sidell's Burgoo Maid finished fourth in the field of nine.

Durazna set the early pace, but C. V. Whitney's Recce showed a liking for the muddy going and, after trailing for the first quarter of the mile, took over and was half a length to the good as the field went into the stretch turn.

At this point Grohs made his move on War Date and was only a head behind Durazna as they came out of the turn into the long home stretch. The field was well strung along as they straightened out, with War Date a head in front of Durazna and Recce third, a length in front of Burgoo Maid. Whirlabout was in sixth place but then began to move, first picking up Herbert M. Woolf's Silvestra, then Burgoo Maid, and as they drove by the grandstand Whirlabout was churning up the mud but didn't have a chance of reaching the winner. War Date's time was 1:39 2-5, fast for the condition of the track.

$217.40 Daily Double

The first dead heat of the meeting popped up in the fifth race when Hyman Friedberg's Bolo Miss, with Jess Higley up, and J. D. Weil's Peace Again, ridden by Tommy Bates, could not be separated by the judges. Bolo Miss paid $8.40 and Peace Again $6.20.

The daily double was worth $217.40 to those who coupled Devil's Frolic [$51.80] in the first race with Jacalitos [$6.00] in the second. The mutuel handle for the eight races was $1,088,087.

Bernie Bierman of Minnesota, one of football's all-time greats, will command the College All-Stars in their game against the Green Bay Packers at Soldiers' field the night of Aug. 30. Bierman, who led the 1936 All-Stars to a 7-7 tie with the Detroit Lions, is the first coach to be invited to serve a second time as head man of the squad.

Aiding Bierman in the preparation of the All-Stars will be Jeff Cravath of Southern California, Howie Odell of Yale, Ray Eliot of Illinois, and Jim Lookabaugh of Oklahoma A. & M. All five coaches will be at Northwestern university the morning of Aug. 12 when the players report for practice.

Chicago's 12th annual charity game, returned to Soldiers' field after two years at Dyche stadium in Evanston, will attract a crowd in excess of 90,000. Ticket sales have been limited to the metropolitan area to eliminate any burden on transportation. Net profits of the contest will be donated to war charities.

He's Tops in Nation

It is unnecessary to deal in generalities in establishing the coaching eminence of Bernie Bierman. Since the death of Knute Rockne he has been widely recognized as America's outstanding college gridiron leader.

From the time of his first coaching job at Butte, Mont., High school and thru his years of service at University of Montana, Mississippi A. & M., Tulane, Minnesota, and Iowa Pre-Flight, he has a composite record of 140 victories, 37 defeats, and 10 ties. In 10 years at Minnesota—1932 thru 1941—the Gophers won 63, lost 12, and tied 5, an achievement without equal in major collegiate records. The span brought Minnesota five undefeated seasons, 1933, '34, '35, '40, and '41, and created a string of 26 games without a loss. Bierman's '34, '35, '40, and '41 teams were rated national champions.

Bierman, who served in World War I. as a captain in the marine corps, returned to service soon after the attack on Pearl Harbor. He recently was honorably discharged from the marines with the rank of lieutenant colonel.

Likes Brawn Plus Brains

Asked what it takes for success as a gridiron coach, the 51 year old Bierman, with a twinkle in his penetrating blue eyes, replied: "There's nothing secret about blocking, tackling, and hard charging. Given a reasonable share of material that has speed, brains, and some brawn, plus a few breaks and you're bound to win once in a while."

After his graduation from Minnesota in 1916, Bierman took his first coaching assignment at Butte High school, where his team won all seven games on its schedule. His enlistment in the marine corps interrupted his coaching career until 1919, when he went to the University of Montana. In three seasons

'Bierman's 1st Reaction: A Fine Staff!

Minneapolis, Minn., Aug. 1 [Special]—Bernie Bierman's broad, taciturn face broke into a grin today when official announcement was made that he will coach the College All-Stars for the second time in his long, brilliant career. The Minnesota veteran heads a staff of five nationally known coaches who will prepare the Collegians for their battle against the Green Bay Packers in Chicago Aug. 30.

Bierman's first reaction was to express his pleasure over the group of assistants who will work with him.

"I'm grateful that Jim Lookabaugh of the Oklahoma Aggies, Jeff Cravath of Southern California, Howie Odell of Yale, and Ray Eliot of Illinois will be working with me," he said. "One couldn't ask for a better staff and I think we'll be able to assemble a fine team from all the material we will have."

Bernie's 1936 All-Stars Played Detroit Lions to Standstill

Bierman's Minnesota eleven will wind up summer drills Aug. 10, after which the coach will come to Evanston for his assignment with the All-Stars. Drills will start Aug. 12.

The Gophers' gridiron leader was head coach of the 1936 All-Stars who held the Detroit Lions to a 7 to 7 tie. In this contest Babe Le Voir, an All-Star from Bierman's own Minnesota team, ran 17 yards for a touchdown and Wally Fromhart of Notre Dame place kicked the extra point. The Lions made their seven points on Ernie Caddel's eight yard smash and Dutch Clark's drop kick.

In recent years the scoring tempo has been increased by both the All-Stars and the professionals. The winning teams in the last five games have made 45, 37, 21, 27, and 26 points.

"My experience with a group of players gathered from schools all over the country taught me a lot back in '36," said Bierman. "I think what I learned will stand me in good stead this time.

He Respects Those Packers and Promises Busy Evening

"Of course, conditions have changed. We now have a mixture of civilians and military service personnel. Those in uniform will not get as much practice as the others, but most of the are experienced heads. From what I know of the players, we'll have a strong squad. We'll need it, because every one knows the professionals always are out to win this game. The Packers' big advantage, and one every pro team has in this series, is their experience as teammates. But we'll give them a busy evening."

Th war hasn't changed the game one bit for the spectator, tho, says Bierman.

"It's still a sports spectacle which gives you a tingle all over," said Bernie. "I hope we get far enough in front of the Packers so I can enjoy some of its color!"

CARDS DEFEAT REDS, 15-3, ON 19-HIT ATTACK

Johnny Hopp Connects for 4-Run Homer

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 1 (AP)—The Cardinals, blasting four Cincinnati pitchers for 19 hits, including a four run homer by Johnny Hopp, tonight routed the Reds, 15 to 3, in their last game of a long home stand. The victory pushed the Cardinals past the idle Brooklyn Dodgers into second place by one percentage point.

Hopp's homer contributed four of the eight runs scored by the Cards in the second inning which also saw Marty Marion hit his first home run of the year. Score:

Sox Squeeze in 9th Beats Indians, 2 to 1

Guilty of Interference

The Shotton lapse that caused the retirement of an Indian batter came in the eighth after Gromek had led off with a bunt and was forced by Dutch Meyer. Mickey Rocco looped a lazy foul toward third and Baker stepped over behind Shotton, thinking a catch by him might be possible. As a matter of fact Baker couldn't have caught the thing, but Shotton did catch it, a stunt that brought just about all hands roaring out of the Sox dugout. The umpires quickly figured that Shotton was guilty of interference, a penalty that cost Rocco his time at bat. Whether Rocco would have hit safely if given the chance, isn't known, but had he hit it would have caused complications.

TOOL DELIVERY FOR CIVILIANS LAGGING—WPB

Vast Order Backlog Congests Books

Washington, D. C., Aug. 1 (AP)—Slowing delivery of most industrial equipment to factories tooling up for peace time production was reported by the war production board today. Months of unfilled orders congest the books of producers of general industrial equipment. In many cases the shortage of man power continues.

Almost all controls over manufacture of such equipment have been removed since V-E day, and WPB urged producers to boost production for civilian industries the most possible without harming military production.

Lists Equipment Outlook

ELECTRICAL MOTOR AND CONTROL EQUIPMENT—Deliveries little improved because of heavy and high priority order backlogs on manufacturers' books. Some upturn expected in last quarter of 1945 and first quarter of 1946.

REFRIGERATION AND AIR CONDITIONING—Military shipments continue heavy, especially to mid-Pacific advance bases. Some producers fear the backlog of orders will become unmanageable, creating hardship and delaying reconversion. WPB looks for improvement by the last of the year.

RECIPROCATING AIR AND GAS COMPRESSORS—Backlog last month was 72 million dollars. Non-priority orders are placed and some types of compressors promptly delivered. More man power could improve deliveries.

Delays Are Predicted

ELECTROPLATING AND ANODIZING EQUIPMENT—Small quantities available without priority but in general three to six month wait indicated.

FANS AND BLOWERS—Not much capacity available for non-priority business, but plenty should be freed by early September.

HIGH PRESSURE FANS AND BLOWERS—Industry burdened with military orders. Little non-priority business handled and no improvement expected until November or December.

STEAM ENGINES—Industry should be able to produce non-priority orders.

ELECRIC ARC WELDING MACHINES—Readily available.

Metalizing Available

METALIZING EQUIPMENT—Readily available; nonpriority orders approximately 45 day backlog.

PRESSURE VESSELS—Plenty of shop space for any type order.

HEAT EXCHANGERS—Industry behind scheduled requirements. Unrated orders will get poor delivery for several months.

FOOD PROCESSING MACHINERY—About a 6 month backlog of approved orders.

LUBRICATION EQUIPMENT—Meeting all essential needs, altho demand for special purpose equipment outruns supply. All requirements will be met in six months.

WOODWORKING MACHINERY—A 6 month backlog shown and demand will continue heavy at least 6 months longer.

INDUSTRIAL TRUCKS—No substantial supplies for civilians within six months.

CONVEYING MACHINERY—Four to 7 month backlog; improvement expected by end of 1945.

Fill Gear Orders

INDUSTRIAL GEARS—Backlogs high, but producers filling a large share of civilian orders.

FREIGHT AND INDUSTRIAL ELEVATORS—A substantial part of capacity can be turned to civilian output.

INDUSTRY PROFIT RISES 12 PCT. IN FIRST 6 MONTHS

New York, Aug. 1 (AP)—Net earnings of 320 industrial companies totaled about 688 million dollars in the first half of 1945, an increase of 12 per cent over the year ago total of 615 million, the National City Bank of New York reported today. Sales and net earnings of almost two of every three companies rose.

Largest increases in net income were in textiles and apparel, 22.3 per cent; petroleum products, 22.3 per cent, and food products, 18.4 per cent. Machinery industry earnings dropped 8.9 per dent.

Representing mainly the country's larger manufacturing enterprises, the companies covered had an aggregate net worth of 14 billion 331 million dollars at the beginning of 1945, making the half year net income equal to an annual rate of return of 9.6 per cent. A year earlier net worth was 13 billion 770 million and the return rate 8.9 per cent.

A study of quarterly figures of 270 companies showed net income in the second three months of 1945 was 12 per cent above a year ago.

Some of Food Pinch Blamed on Distribution

Faulty distribution is causing "some quite unnecessary shortages" of food in the United States, Secretary of Agriculture Anderson told the National Association of Retail Grocers yesterday. His message was contained in a "convention in print," replacing the association's annual meeting, which was mailed to members.

"However, government, working closely with the food industry, can —and I know will—do much to improve a difficult situation," he said. "We need to estimate food requirements for a year ahead and set production goals accordingly. We need to assure farmers by word and action that these goals represent firm commitments on the part of the United States government. And, finally, we need to improve food distribution."

Large Buying to Continue

He asserted that no basic solution to the problem of food shortages existed other than increased output or lessened demand.

Altho the war boom already is diminishing, the food retailer can expect continued large civilian food buying for some time in the unsettled period ahead, said Gordon C. Corbaley, president of the American Institute of Food Distribution.

Food distributors will be able to get larger stocks for selling than appeared likely early in June, as a result of Secretary Anderson's insistence that the United States retain more food for civilian consumers, Corbaley predicted, and should help stamp out black markets.

Post-war predictions of all kinds of fresh foods packaged by the growers for consumption at their best were made oy other trade executives. C. B. Moore, managing director of the Western Growers association, said Arizona and California growers intended to strip cauliflower of its leaves and peas of their hulls and seal them in transparent, airtight packages before shipping. Similar plans were being made for marketing fresh root vegetable such as carrots, parsnips, turnips, and beets.

Most Sea Food to Be Frozen

Ruel McDaniel of New York, eastern manager of the Southern Fisherman, predicted that most sea food will be sold frozen after the war so it may be obtained fresh far in the interior of the country. Smelt will not smell, and frog legs will be sold separated from the frog.

Mount Taylor of Washington, D. C., executive secretary of the National Association of Ice Industries, reported that recently completed laboratory tests had proved vegetables and berries packed in ice in the field and kept in snow ice in food store displays did not lose their vitamin content.

STOCK MARKET CLOSES UNEVEN IN SLOW TRADE

CHICAGO LIST HIGHER

Prices again were higher yesterday on the Chicago Stock exchange. Trading was light and turnover 21,000 shares. Among the most active stocks were: Radio corporation up ⅝, Middle West Utilities up ¼, Chicago corporation and Admiral corporation each up ½, and Aviation corporation down ⅛.

BONDS IRREGULAR

New York, Aug. 1 (AP)—Bonds tended lower early today but firmed in the final hour. Dealings sank to a low for 10 days at $3,680,000. As measured by the Associated Press averages, rails and industrials were unchanged, and declines of 0.1 each were posted by utilities, low-yields, and foreign bonds.

LONDON STOCKS DROP ON BANK OF ENGLAND NATIONALIZING PLAN

LONDON, Aug. 1 (AP)—A new break in the stock market occurred today after Prof. Harold J. Laski, chairman of the Labor party's national executive committee, broadcast to America that socialization of the Bank of England would be one of the first points of the labor program. Early dealings brought some resistance to the drop, but selling orders soon boomed again.

Home rails were marked down sharply. International shares such as Canadian Pacific, International Nickel, and Brazilian Traction were in demand partly as a hedge against the decline in home industrials.

Gilt edged securities were comparatively well supported, except for a new 12½ point slump in Bank of England stock to 360 on the Laski statement.

In other sections of the market, there was speculative buying of Japanese stocks, but both German and Italian bonds fell. Indian utility stocks, especially Calcutta Electric, attracted buyers. Rubbers, teas, and mines were quiet, but oil shares were easy.

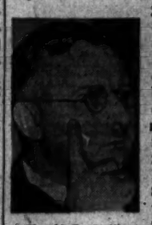
20 BILLION CUT ESTIMATED IN WAR SPENDING

Other Costs Above January Figure

BY ROBERT YOUNG
(Chicago Tribune Press Service)

Washington, D. C., Aug. 1 — War expenditures in the current fiscal year, ending June 30, 1946, are estimated at 70 billion dollars, a reduction of 20½ billions, or 23 per cent, from the record war spending in the 1945 fiscal year, Budget Director Smith estimated today in a revision of the January budget estimates. The cut reflects the change to a one front war.



Harold D. Smith

The total budget will be about 85 billions, compared with the all-time peak of 100 billions in the 1945 fiscal year, Smith said.

Expects Smaller Deficit

However, receipts of the federal government also will decrease as declining war production cuts corporation and individual incomes, he asserted. The excess of expenditures over receipts will be smaller in the current year, and borrowing requirements will be less.

The 70 billion dollar war spending figure is the same as that presented to congress the first of the year by the late President Roosevelt. At that time, Smith said, it was presumed the United States would be fighting only the Japanese in the 1946 fiscal year.

The revised estimate of nonwar expenditures for the current year, however, is now 14 billion 900 million dollars, an increase from the 13 billion 100 million estimated in January. This increase is primarily the result of recently adopted international finance legislation, such as the Bretton Woods monetary agreement and the Export-Import bank expansion.

Government receipts in the 1946 fiscal year are estimated at 39 billion dollars, compared with the record 46½ billion in the 1945 period.

Where Receipts Will Fall

The revised receipts for the current year also are 2 billion 200 million dollars less than the January estimate, largely because of adjustments in the corporation excess profits tax and changes in anticipated receipts from the sale of surplus goods.

Smith said the decline in receipts will be caused principally by a drop of 3 billion 100 million dollars in direct taxes on corporations and by a decrease of 3 billion 200 million dollars in individual income taxes.

Miscellaneous government receipts will be an estimated 1 billion 200 million dollars less than in the 1945 fiscal year. This will be largely the result of smaller excess profits tax recoveries because of war contract renegotiation.

The budget revision estimated that the excess of spending over receipts will drop from 53 billion 600 million dollars in the 1945 fiscal year to 45 billion 900 million in 1946. The budget for the current year is the nation's 13th consecutive deficit budget.

Borrowings Need Less

Borrowing requirements in the 1946 fiscal year will decline sharply from the record levels of 1944 and 1945, Smith said. The reduction will reflect both the smaller estimated annual deficit and the anticipated decrease of 10 billion dollars in the treasury cash balance, which was at the unprecedented figure of 24 billion 700 million on June 30.

By June 30, 1946, however, the public debt will have reached an estimated 295 billion 200 million dollars, or 2 billion 900 million more than was estimated in January. The present statutory debt limit is 300 billion dollars.

REPORTS EASING OF RESTRICTION ON SLAUGHTERER

Washington, D. C., Aug. 1 (AP)—The department of agriculture was reported tonight to have relaxed its quota system on so-called custom slaughterers in an attempt to ease the meat shortage.

Rep. Johnson [D., Tex.] said that all quotas are being lifted at once from custom slaughterers who take their live stock to nonfederally inspected packing plants which have been certified as sanitary by the secretary of agriculture. The quotas are determined by the number of animals killed by the same slaughterers in previous years.

Johnson said the relief resulting from the step will increase as more nonfederally inspected plants are certified. Meats from certified plants may move in interstate commerce or be sold to the army as in the case of federally inspected plants.

WPB Reports Further Cuts in Military Leather

Washington, D. C., Aug. 1 (AP)—Additional reductions in military requirements for leather were reported today by the WPB, permitting increased production of civilian shoes. WPB did not estimate the amount of the increase.

AFL Building Group Meets to Draft Post-War Programs

BY GEORGE HARTMANN

Programs to help the gigantic post-war construction projects to be undertaken by private industry and state and national governments will be drafted by the building and construction trades department of the American Federation of Labor. The department began sessions in the Stevens hotel yesterday.

Herbert Rivers, secretary-treasurer of the department, said it has a membership of 19 AFL international and national unions, whose nearly two million members are engaged in all forms of construction.

Twelve international AFL heads will meet Friday to decide what provision should be made for the payment of overtime to construction workers during reconversion.

Difficulty on Overtime Issue

Some difficulty already has been experienced, Rivers explained, under the building trades unions' stabilization agreement with the government. This provides time and a half for overtime on government projects and double time on overtime work for private contractors. The latter have complained that the extra rate has been a hardship for them.

The 12 presidents may decide that the overtime payments be uniform to stimulate construction by private contractors.

Before the opening Monday of the AFL executive board meeting in the Drake hotel, parleys will be held with national construction companies to set up single contracts for the 19 affiliated department unions, covering wages and other working conditions.

Union leaders say that if such contracts are arrived at, work conditions will be clearly defined to prevent jurisdictional squabbles, which have caused many delays on construction work.

Plans to Balk CIO

The department at its meeting also will consider ways of combating attempts of the Congress of Industrial Organizations to organize building trades workers in smaller communities, in which the CIO is trying to make inroads on the AFL construction locals.

Besides Rivers, the other officers of the department are Richard J. Grace, chairman, and eight vice presidents: L. P. Lindelof, Richard J. Gray, Robert Byron, Edward J. Brown, William E. Maloney, William J. McSorley, Daniel J. Tobin, and William L. Hutcheson.

Ask Domestic Air Routes for Sea Operators

Washington, D. C., Aug. 1 (AP)—Thirteen senators recommended to President Truman today that American overseas air operators be permitted to share in domestic transport business.

They said the overseas operators, who previously have been denied domestic routes, are entitled to them if domestic firms are allowed to enter transocean business as authorized recently. The whole question is a controversial one which air lines, government agencies, and congress have been debating for many months.

Pan American Wants U. S. Route

No company was specifically mentioned in the report. However, Pan American Airways is the only exclusive overseas operator which has an application pending for domestic service. It seeks a route from New York to the west coast.

The 13 senators prepared the report, which was shown to a reporter before being sent to the White House, as members of the senate commerce committee. There are 19 members. The 13 said they acted because the committee had not met recently in the absence of Chairman Bailey [D., N. C.].

Ocean Routes Granted Three

On July 5 the civil aeronautics board, with President Truman's endorsement, approved a policy of allowing the domestic firms to enter the overseas field. It granted seven year trans-Atlantic operation certificates to Pan American, Transcontinental and Western Air, and American Airlines. Previously Pan American has held exclusive right to such operations.

The 13 senators told the President they are "still divided" on whether the overseas field should be opened up or restricted to an "all-America flag line" as proposed by Sen. McCarran [D., Nev.].

ANDERSON HIKES SUGAR SUPPORT FUNDS FOR 1946

Washington, D. C., Aug. 1 (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Anderson today announced increased producer support payments on 1946 sugar beets and sugar cane to increase the sugar supply.

The program guarantees growers of sugar beets a national average return, including sugar act payments, of not less than $13.50 a ton of beets of the average quality of recent years, compared with $12.50 in 1945. It calls for a government payment of nearly $4 a ton on average beets compared with about $3 a ton in 1945.

Growers of cane for sugar in Louisiana, Florida, Puerto Rico, Virgin Islands, and Hawaii will receive $2.10 a ton of average sugar cane.

Motor Coach and L Lines Report July Fare Gains

Cash fares collected by the Chicago Motor Coach company in July totaled 6,453,375, an increase of 364,696 or 6 per cent over a year ago. The Chicago Rapid Transit company [L] reported 16,425,800 cash fares in July, compared with 15,655,596 a year ago, up 4.9 per cent.

People and Events

John H. Seippel, formerly merchandise manager of Montgomery Ward & Co. and before that general sales manager of the Trane company, has been made vice president and director of sales of Climax Industries. He will direct sales of McAlear Manufacturing company, General International, and part of Climax Engineering company, all divisions of General Finance corporation. In announcing the appointment yesterday, Owen L. Coon, General Finance chairman, disclosed that Climax was manufacturing a new farm implement which plows, discs, and harrows in one operation.

John H. Seippel

Lt. Col. Lanning Macfarland yesterday resumed his position as a vice president in the banking department of the Northern Trust company after nearly three years in the army. He joined the army as a civilian specialist in Balkan affairs and assumed charge of certain American intelligence operations with headquarters in Istanbul. Later he was transferred to Yugoslavia as liaison officer.

Earl H. Morse, head of the electrical generators and power equipment section of the machine price branch of the OPA, will discuss pricing of electrical and electronic equipment during reconversion at a luncheon of the Chicago Association of Commerce Tuesday in the Palmer House. At a luncheon the following Thursday, three WPB officials will participate in a forum on WPB procedures during transition.

The appointment of W. A. Hillman as export and import agent of the New York Central system with headquarters in the La Salle st. station was announced by W. C. Douglas, assistant general freight traffic manager.

James F. McNicholas, chief enforcement attorney for the regional war labor board for two years, announced his resignation to enter private law practice.

FAIRBANKS NET INCOME SLIDES IN SIX MONTHS

Fairbanks, Morse & Co. and subsidiaries yesterday reported net income was $1,788,295, or $2.98 a share, subject to renegotiation, in the first half of 1945, compared with $1,856,066, or $3.10 a share, a year earlier. Net sales dropped to $51,038,319 from $81,722,098.

The large drop in sales was attributed to a shrinkage in war orders not compensated for by the largest commercial business in the company's history.

Smith Quits Middle West; Lindsay New Chairman

Purcell L. Smith, Chicago, resigned as president of the Middle West corporation at a directors' meeting in New York yesterday, to become president of a new association of independent electric companies. He will continue as a director of Middle West. Martin Lindsay, Chicago, another director, was elected to the new position of chairman of the board. The presidency was left vacant temporarily.

URGE ANNUAL HOME BUILDING OF 1¼ MILLION

Ten Year Aid Plans Put to Congress

Washington, Aug. 1 (AP)—Congress today was asked to set a goal of 1,250,000 new American homes in each of the next 10 years by helping cities clear slums, aiding farmers to build houses, and extending existing federal housing programs.

Senators Wagner [D., N. Y.] and Ellender [D., La.] offered legislation which in the main incorporated recommendations of a report, filed simultaneously, by a post-war housing subcommittee headed by Sen. Taft [R., Ohio].

The new home goal would be four to five times the pre-war construction average of 273,000 annually in the 10 years thru 1939. Taft estimated it would mean expenditure of 5 to 6 billion dollars annually and provide, directly and indirectly, 3 to 4 million jobs.

Central Control Provided

1. Consolidation of all federal housing activities under the national housing administration. Scattered before the war, they now operate under one agency as a result of a Presidential order effective only until the war ends.

2. Federal aid to cities to wipe out "blighted" and slum areas in two ways. NHA could lend money to the cities to help acquire land, or if such assistance were held necessary it could provide federal contributions over a 45 year period so the city could lease or sell the property at a price which would attract private interests for redevelopment.

3. Expansion of federal insurance of mortgages to attract large investments by insurance companies and like institutions in rental housing. They would be guaranteed an annual return after depreciation and operating expenses of 2¾ per cent on 50 year investments made in anticipation of no more than 3¼ per cent return. A ceiling of 1 billion dollars would be placed on such insurance.

Remodeling Loans Included

4. Federal financial assistance for public housing sponsored by local communities and intended for those unable to afford decent housing without public assistance. Federal contributions could aggregate 5 million the first year and increase to 25 million annually.

5. Authority for NHA to make loans to local public agencies for remodeling, repair, and reconstruction.

6. A farm housing program operated under the secretary of agriculture which would permit owners "who cannot elsewhere receive necessary credit" loans at 3 per cent for up to 40 years. Loans also could be made for housing for seasonal agricultural workers or to public agencies for construction of rural rental housing.

7. Provision for technical government research on housing.

RYE CONTRACTS DECLINE ON NEW TRADING LIMITS

Rye turned lower yesterday on the Chicago Board of Trade after a week of advances. The slump came on profit taking and adjusting market positions to conform to new exchange regulations limiting the amount of rye futures that may be traded in one day and the maximum open interest permitted any individual, other than hedges. Prices were off 2¼ cents at one time, with the close 2 cents lower to ⅛ cent higher, the former on September.

Wheat moved in a narrow price range and rallied late to close unchanged to ¼ lower. Corn was unchanged to ⅜ lower in May contracts. Oats finished ¼ lower to ⅛ higher and barley was unchanged to ¼ cent lower.

Effective yesterday no exchange member or registered partnership may hold or control for his or its account a net position of more than 700,000 bushels of rye futures. The limit on daily purchases or sales was cut to 1 million bushels.

Big Electronic Field Offers Jobs for Vets

BY ANTHONY WIRRY

The field of electronics, including radio, television, FM or frequency modulation radio, radar, and electronic manufacturing processes, was expanded and developed on a large scale for war purposes and shows promise of further growth as peace time applications are found for known and yet undisclosed advancements, spokesmen for the industry report. This would provide jobs for thousands of war veterans, many of whom have specialized training in these fields, they said.

Joseph Gerl, president of Sonora Radio and Television corporation, estimated that "in the very near future" the radio industry will have a pay roll almost equal to the 5,800,000 directly or indirectly employed in the automobile industry.

Plan Increased Jobs

"The ratio of employes in the auto factories to the people concerned with the sales and maintenance of autos was about 1 to 10," he said. "The radio industry before the war employed somewhat less than 100,000 persons. The plans of manufacturers, based on the known demand for radios and television sets, indicate that during the first three years after the war we will take on another 350,000 employes, making a total of 450,000 directly concerned with the manufacture of radio, television, and electronic equipment.

"When we take into consideration that we probably will have as many as 3,000 new FM stations, 1,000 television stations, and considering the growth of radio service dealer shops, phonograph record shops, dealers, distributors, etc., we may reasonably expect, by the same ratio which held in the automobile business, that as many as 4½ million persons will be engaged in the manufacture, sales, servicing of radio-phonographs and television sets, and in the broadcasting and telecasting stations."

New Uses Developing

Already a family living room fixture, the radio appears to be entering industrial fields. The railroad industry market was described as probably one of the largest post-war outlets.

Development of FM, which operates at a higher frequency and provides clearer reception than the conventional radio, was under way when the war broke out. The war man power commission estimates television may be ready for full commercialization in several years. The walkie-talkie is expected to have many peace time uses.

Many of the industry's plans for future markets, however, lie in the broader field of electronics. Radar has peace time applications in transportation and communication, it was said. Electronic patents already have been approved for use in welding control, high frequency heating, dust collection, sterilamps, and sewing machines.

Nearly three-fourths of the industry is located in five states, including Illinois [principally Chicago], New Jersey, New York, Massachusetts, and Pennsylvania.

WLB WITHHOLDS DETAILS OF NEW WAGE PROPOSAL

Washington, D. C., Aug. 1 (AP)—War labor board public members, rejecting industry's request for open hearings on a new wage policy, today agreed to withhold details until labor and management members can prepare dissents.

Public members want to relax controls on voluntary wage increases which would not lead to higher prices. Their proposal is being drafted for presentation to Economic Stabilizer Davis as a preliminary to final decision by President Truman.

WAR FIRM ASKS U. S. SEIZURE TO END UNION ROW

Monsanto Unit Shut Since Thursday

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 1 (AP)—The Monsanto Chemical company asked the government today to take over operation of its Monsanto, Ill., plant, which has been closed since last Thursday as a result of a union jurisdictional dispute.

In a telegram to President Truman, Edgar M. Queeny, Monsanto board chairman, said "the production of vital war chemicals for the army and navy, some of which can be obtained no place else in America, has come to a halt at our Monsanto, Ill., plant. We respectfully request you to take over this plant in the name of the United States government in order to bring about the immediate resumption of work on materials which the armed services are calling on us to furnish."

1,200 Out of Work

A picket line was established at the plant, the company said, after "approximately 45 pipefitters walked out in a jurisdictional dispute with the iron workers. Approximately 1,200 workers were thrown out of employment."

The pipefitters set up the picket line and other workers refused to cross the line. The pipefitters claimed that the work of preparing materials for temporary fencing should be theirs. The company said the work has been done by iron workers in the past, adding that the pipefitters refused to deal with union officers and walked out. Union officials were unavailable for comment on the case.

Queeny said no demand has been made upon his company in the case. "Instead," he said, "it is purely a dispute within union ranks which only the union can settle and only action by the union can bring the men back to work."

Pledge Broken 15 Times

Altho the company has a no strike, no lockout contract with the Chemical Workers union, Queeny said, "there have been in the last 21 months 15 work stoppages at this plant, every one of which has been a breach of contract."

A spokesman for the Chemical Workers union, local 12, AFL, bargaining agent for all plant employes, said the unon was in agreement with the company's proposal of government operation. The union previously had called upon the Pipefitters' union to remove its picket line pending settlement of the dispute.

CROSLEY STRIKE ENDS, BUT IDLE TOTAL IS 40,000

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS]

The end of a work stoppage in Cincinnati trimmed 5,000 persons off the country's total of strike idle yesterday, but new disputes raised the figure close to 40,000 again.

AFL electrical workers returned to the production of radio and radar equipment after a four day strike at the Crosley corporation, Cincinnati, over a disagreement on grievance procedure. A strike of 650 Crosley AFL office workers over contract negotiations continued.

In Jamestown, N. Y., 600 employes of the Jamestown Worsted mills, producer of army uniform material, struck in conformance with a strike vote taken July 18. A company spokesman said production was halted.

BILLINGS

There are newspapers that contend that a small circulation and a large circulation are equal to each other.

But nobody can sell that kind of specious reasoning to an advertiser who has once felt the enormous pulling power of the Times-Herald.
